Colson gets jail term, $5,000 fine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles W. Colson, President Nixon's former special counsel, was sentenced to a minimum of one year in prison and fined $5,000 today for obstruction of justice in the Ellsberg break-in case.

Colson told U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell that on the repeated urgings of the President, he had attempted to defame Daniel Ellsberg and destroy his credibility before Ellsberg's trial for making public the secret Pentagon Papers on origins and conduct of the Vietnam war.

Colson's counsel and law partner, David I. Shapiro, called a presentence probation report recommending a jail sentence for Colson "the most pernicious, deliberate leaks" by government bodies and officials.

"You're barking up the wrong tree, Mr. Shapiro," Gesell replied to Shapiro. "The public expectation has nothing to do with what I'm about to do. You're beating a dead horse."

Gesell turned down Shapiro's impassioned plea to spare the 42-year-old Colson from going to prison. Colson will surrender July 8 at a federal prison yet to be designated.

He will serve at least one year and not more than three years under Gesell's sentence.

Before the sentencing, Colson also made a long plea to the court, including this statement: "As to the specific charges, the President on numerous occasions urged me to disseminate damaging information about Daniel Ellsberg, including information about Ellsberg's attorney and others with whom Ellsberg had been in close contact."

In pleading guilty June 3, Colson admitted "devising and implementng a scheme to defame and destroy the public image and credibility" of Ellsberg. He could have received up to five years' imprisonment.

Colson had said he decided to plead guilty as a result of his conversion to Christianity.

Outside the courtroom after his sentencing today, Colson, sometimes known as White House poltical hatchet man during his days in the administration, was still wearing a presidential tie clasp with Nixon's signature attached to it.

He told newsmen he felt people did not understand why he had pleaded guilty and said:

"I did it because in my own heart I felt perhaps I could help protect other defendants against their individual rights being abused when they are defendants in trials. And what's going on in this country now in terms of interfering with a defendant's right to a fair trial has got to be stopped.

"If my plea and my sentence will serve as a symbol that will stop it and stop people's individual rights being abused, I hope it will have served a worthy cause."

He added: "I have committed my life to Jesus Christ. I can work for the Lord in prison or out of prison. That's how I want to spend my life. And what happened today is the Lord's will and the court's will, and I, of course, accept that fully."

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, and other members of Colson's prayer group sat in the front row of the courtroom with heads bowed as Colson read his pre-sentence statement saying:

"I had one rule: to get done what the President wanted done now. I never really questioned whether it was right or wrong."

In exchange for Colson's guilty plea and a pledge of cooperation in future trials, Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski agreed to drop conspiracy charges against him in the 1971 break-in of the office of the Ellsberg's psychiatrist as well as other charges in the Watergate cover-up case.

Marked trail with rags

Crash survivor dazed but leads rescue party

DUBOIS, Wyo. (UPI) — An 18-year-old woman who survived an unreported airplane crash three days ago was found wandering along a river in western Wyoming Thursday.

The woman, Nancy Sheridan, told rescuers to return to the scene of the crash because a woman badly injured in the crash was still there, and still might be alive.

Miss Sheridan had marked her three-day trail through the rugged Wind River Mountains with rags from her clothing. The trail markings were used by a helicopter pilot and a ground crew who used them to find their way to the site of the crash.

Both survivors were hospitalized. Miss Sheridan was reported doing "exceptionally well" despite shock, cuts and bruises. Mrs. Lahlman was in fair condition despite several broken bones.

The two men killed in the crash were Mrs. Lahlman's husband, Francis Lahlman, 63, and their son, Ted Lahlman, 20, who was Miss Sheridan's boyfriend. Their flight had originated in Indianapolis, Ind.

The pilot of the rescue helicopter, Floyd Kierstad of Jackson, Wyo., praised Miss Sheridan's actions.

"It was a good thing she was able to mark the trail because the timber was so thick and high that it was tough to see anything from the air," Kjerstad said. "I was flying just about 200 feet over the wreckage and couldn't see it until the ground crew finally pointed it out. Even though she was in shock she used her head and was thinking survival all the time."

The light plane went down in the Wind River Range west of Dubois shortly after takeoff Tuesday. A flight plan had been filed on the flight from Indianapolis, but no plan was filed from Dubois and the crash was not known to officials until Thursday when Miss Sheridan was found.

The airplane had apparently stalled and nosedived, landing on its back. Kjerstad said Miss Sheridan first tried to use the plane's emergency signal beacon and radio, but the equipment was broken in the crash.

"The older lady was lying there near the wreckage as comfortable as she could be under the circumstances once we arrived," said Kjerstad, who had to land his helicopter in a canyon over a mile below the mangled wreckage and have the woman carried down.

Up 1.1% in May

Rising food prices hike living cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With food prices turning up again, the cost of living to Americans rose by 1.1 per cent in May, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said food prices turned up 0.7 per cent in May after a decline of 0.3 per cent in April. In addition, price increases were recorded in a wide range of other consumer goods and services, including used cars, apparel, gasoline and housekeeping services.

Fresh fruits and vegetables led the upswing in food prices as the Consumer Price Index rose to 145.6. This meant that prices were 10.7 per cent higher in May than May, 1973, and that it cost $14.56 to buy the same goods and services that could be obtained for $10 about seven years ago.

Prices for commodities other than food increased 1.6 per cent in May compared to a 1.3 per cent rise in April.

Prices at grocery stores usually turn down in May but they rose last month for most items except meats, poultry and eggs. Those continued to decline. Some producers in all three categories have said that they face financial disaster if prices do not turn upward soon.

Fresh vegetable prices zoomed upward in May by 19 per cent, much more than normal.

Meat, poultry and fish prices declined 3.5 per cent from April.

But used cars increased 10.1 per cent, and new car prices also went up, whereas they usually decline in May. Clothing prices also increased more than usual for May. Gasoline and motor oil continued to rise but at a lesser rate than earlier this year.

Doctor fees and charges for other medical services such as eye examinations, laboratory tests and hospital rooms showed large increases in May. More rapid increases than in recent months also were recorded for services such as dry cleaning, shoe repairs, laundries, and barber and beauty shop services.

JULIA DeVRIES

Upland beauty named state dairy princess

UPLAND — Julia DeVries of Upland was named California Dairy Princess Thursday night in competition at the Hollywood Palladium.

Miss DeVries, 21, a 5-foot 10 blonde, was selected for the title from a field of 12 contestants by a three-judge panel.

The new dairy princess is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Case DeVries of 1765 N. Euclid Ave. Her father is the owner of a dairy in the Chino Valley where the family lived for many years before moving to Upland.

Julia, a 1970 graduate of Upland High School and a May graduate of Central College in Iowa, where she majored in home economics, was thrilled at her selection as princess, according to her mother. In her new position she will represent the California Milk Advisory Board for the next year.

Along with her title, Julia was awarded a $2,000 scholarship, $500 in cash and a course at a charm school. She will begin her reign by touring the state of Washington and Expo '74 in July.

House action opens door to sale of HUD homes for $1 each; over 1,000 in Valley

WASHINGTON, D.C. — If legislation which Thursday passed the House is approved by the Senate, there soon will be some 250,000 government-owned houses available for $1 nationwide, more than 1,000 in the valley area.

The Housing and Urban Development Act (HR 15361) passed the House 351-25. It now is in a conference committee where attempts will be made to resolve differences over provisions with the Senate.

One amendment to the act concerned with homesteading contains a provision whereby a citizen, 18 or older, who has an established household, but who has not previously owned property, can obtain for $1 a house owned by the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

This person, male or female, would be required to enter into a contract with HUD, occupy the property and maintain it for five years. If after five years the property had been kept up, the occupant would get the title to the property, if he or she agreed to maintain it.

In Pomona there are more than 800 HUD-owned houses. In Pomona, Chino, Claremont, La Verne, Montclair, Ontario, San Dimas, Upland and Walnut there are approximately 1,350.

Nationwide, HUD owns some 250,000 properties and taxpayers are paying about $2,950 to maintain each house annually. The cost is greater in the Pomona area. HUD officials say it costs $3,716 to maintain a house a year in Los Angeles County.

If the bill passes the Senate and is signed into law, HUD officials would draw up fairly standard regulations for a national program.

Another amendment to HR 15361 calls for the appropriation of $1.5 billion for the construction of 7,500 housing units for the elderly. This would reestablish a program halted in 1969 which provided low-interest direct loans for homes for the elderly.

The amendment contains provisions to delete clauses in legislation which withhold government housing from the elderly who receive increases in Social Security. Increases in Social Security would no longer be a factor in eligibility for low-cost housing.

Still another amendment to the bill stipulates that provisions of the legislation will apply equally to rural and urban housing.

Searchers find body of missing youth

MINIDOKA, Idaho (UPI) — The search is over for 11-year-old Jeff Hodgson of Pocatello.

The body of the youth, who has been missing in a southeastern Idaho desert for a week and a half, was found Thursday about 15 miles north of Minidoka.

Minidoka County sheriff's officers said Hodgson's body was located five miles from where he and a companion, Rocky Nielson of Pocatello, had separated June 10.

The two boys had been on a survival training course when they became separated from the main party.

Nixon tax returns spark controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N. J., emerged from a closed session of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment hearings and said today tax returns President Nixon signed for 1969 through 1972 were "a bunch of lies."

Rangel said the President should be subpoenaed to appear before the committee —or at least be sent written questions —to say whether he knew the tax returns were inaccurate.

"It is clear he signed a bunch of lies," Rangel told reporters. "If this committee does not question this taxpayer ... then we will not have done our work."

But Republican members of the impeachment inquiry insisted anew their examination of Nixon's returns produced no evidence of tax fraud. "There was absolutely no fraud," said Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio. "The whole thing is a tempest in a teapot," said Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif.

The committee took a second look today at the President's tax problems after being told that the Internal Revenue Service quietly imposed a penalty of about $13,000 on him for negligent preparation of his returns.

Fear children may be next

Killer animal sends chill through Virginia city

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — A "whining, screeching animal," possibly a bobcat, has killed more than 20 dogs, cats and small rodents in a two-week span. City officials are afraid a child may be the next victim.

Betty Felton, Arlington County's game warden, said Thursday the attacks have all occurred at night in the same vicinity, near Four Mile Run, a tributary of the Potomac River. She said, to date, the animal has killed "two dogs, five cats and 16 rabbits.

"We really don't know if it is a bobcat, or what it is," Mrs. Felton said. "It seems like it would be a bobcat, but bobcats aren't supposed to exist around here. We really have to find it, because it might get to little children."

Mrs. Felton said the animal emits a high-pitched whine or cackle when it assaults its prey, but never eats the slain victim.

"The thing never eats the other animals, just dismembers them," she said.

Residents of the area have spotted the creature, describing it as "about as big as a large dog, with a stubby, hairy tail.

"The neighbors hear the thing stomping through the bushes. Several of them say that whining and screeching makes the hair stand up on their neck," Mrs. Felton said.

She said the police canine unit had combed the wooded area believed to be the animal's lair, but there has been no sign of "the darn thing."

"We know its in there," said Mrs. Felton, "It ripped through one trap we had set up, and now we have a trap measuring five feet by five feet."

Mrs. Felton said she has checked with local zoos in the area, and they have reported no escaped bobcats or other animals that fit the description. She said tests on one of the cats the animal had dismembered revealed that the attacker was not rabid.

NEEDING HELP

Colleen Johnson of Upland casts a worried look at her disabled car as she uses one of the new emergency call boxes on the San Bernardino Freeway in seeking help of the California Highway Patrol. Twenty-eight of these call boxes were recently installed on both sides of the freeway within a two-mile area between Grand Avenue in West Covina and the Kellogg Hill interchange. Forty-four more emergency phones are being installed between the interchange and the San Bernardino County line. They should be in service next year. Disabled motorists using the phones have a direct line to the highway patrol's communication center in Los Angeles. Area officers are then assigned to give assistance.

Pacific State to build air-conditioning plant

POMONA — The first step to air condition buildings at Pacific State Hospital may begin within the next 45 days.

But getting the cool air piped into each of the structures may be delayed until additional funds are provided.

State officials this week opened bids to construct a chiller plant building and install central water cooling equipment.

The Kenneth Fraser Co of Pasadena submitted the apparent low bid of $624,600. This was well below the state estimate of $821,000.

Normally work starts within 45 days from the award date, said officials. The project will involve building a 4,600-square-foot structure, cooling tower and chiller pumps.

Meanwhile, state Sen George Moscone has asked the legislature's budget conference committee to augment funds for the air conditioning of state hospitals for the mentally retarded, including Pacific State Hospital.

"There are temperatures as high as 107 degrees in some wards where mentally retarded youngsters are patients," he said. "This situation will continue this summer and perhaps another two summers unless remedial action is taken at once—in this budget."

Gov. Regan had previously included $4.4 million in this year's budget for the air-condioning project at Pacific State Hospital. This incuded $3.9 million for installing air conditioning throughout the facility and an additional $500,000 to upgrade the electrical wiring system.

Moscone, however, asked the conference committee to add $6.1 million to the current appropriation of $14 million for projects at various state hospitals.

Of this added amount, $816,000 would go to Pacific State Hospital which would compensate for increased costs and for improper estimates of what was necessary at the hospital, he added.

Other added amounts include $770,000 to Fairview State Hospital, $374,000 to Agnews State Hospital and $1.2 million to Sonoma State Hospital.

"We have found that the State Department of Finance has no money left for preliminary planning and the job was done in a haphazard manner," charged Moscone. "And now the finance department reports it has exhausted its funds of special money set aside for cost increases.

"The department has suggested postponing full funding until next year—an entirely unsatisfactory solution."

The conference committee took the matter under submission for a later decision on whether to include the augmentation in the budget.

A staff member at Sen. Ruben Ayala's office reported that initial construction for the fist phase should begin early next month.

The remainder of the work, however, will have to wait until funds are available.

Local hospital officials had previously reported the air conditioning project on the 110-acre hospital grounds would be done on a progressive basis.

This would include upgrading the electrical system, installing the central refrigeration plant then laying lines to the 40 buildings.

At present, eight of the hospital's 40 wards are air conditioned. All are expected to have air conditioning by the spring of 1976, said officials.

In beating case

Six young Pomona men remain in jail

POMONA — Six young Pomona men remained in jail today as police investigated the beating early Thursday of three youths and the possibility that the six may be suspects also in a series of recent house burglaries.

The six were arrested in an apartment at 2436 Angela St. after one had been identified as having been involved in the beating of Frederick G. Chandler, 19, James O. Heaton, 19, and Elmer A. Omahundro, 18, in Chandler's residence, a small house at the rear at 753 E. San Francisco Ave. Stereo components and cash were stolen.

The three were beaten with tire irons while being held at the point of a sawed-off shotgun by several young men who invaded the house after asking to buy marijuana. Chandler said they forced their way inside after he told them he does not deal in drugs.

After being treated for injuries at Pomona valley Community Hospital, one victim told police he recognized one of the attackers as a former student at Ganesha High School. Officers traced him to the Angela Street address where the arrests were made shortly before 8 a.m.

Inside the apartment, police, who had a search warrant signed by Pomona Municipal Court Judge Robert C. Gustaveson, reported finding many items of stereo equipment, cameras, jewelry, household appliances, tape decks and tapes, a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun, a .22-caliber semiautomatic carbine and a quantity of marijuana and suspected drugs.

Those arrested were Myron Coleman, 18, of 2213 Concord St.; Carnell Eugene Mayberry, 18, of 2430 Angela St.; Herbie Douglas, 18, of 2598 Stanford St., Kenneth Wayne Harris, 18, of 2205 W. Orange Grove Ave.; and two 17-year-old juveniles. They were booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder, robbery, assault with a deadly weapon, burglary, receiving stolen property and possession of dangerous drugs.

Butz: it's good time to stock up on meats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says now is a good time for consumers to stock up on meat.

Citing the current price slump in the livestock market, Butz urged consumers Thursday to help the nation's beef producers by "stocking their freezers now . . . because I think meat is a better buy than its going to be next fall."

"We are assuring consumers that meat is plentiful and that it will continue to be plentiful," Butz said. "The events of the last year have been upsetting and disconcerting for consumers, as well as for livestock producers.

RTD to consider expanding lines to valley area

LOS ANGELES — Representatives from valley communities were promised Thursday that the Southern California Rapid Transit Board would give every consideration to pleas that the system be extended to serve the valley area.

Byron Cook, vice president of the board and hearing officer at public hearings held Thursday afternoon and evening at the Los Angeles Convention Center, told representatives from the City of Pomona, the Pomona Chamber of Commerce and other valley cities, that "even if the plan didn't include this area at the present time, the RTD board had heard them and will consider their suggestions."

The second and final of the two scheduled hearings before the board was attended by more than 300 persons. The board took no action Thursday but was scheduled to bring the matter up again at a meeting this afternoon.

However, Cook, indicated that he would ask the board to delay any action on the plan to give all members the opportunity to consider suggestions of representations from the valleys.

Pomona officials are concerned that the present RTD plans does not include this area and Ontario International Airport. Plans call for the system to begin at El Monte.

Young cyclist injured in collision with truck

POMONA — A young bike rider was injured seriously Thursday when he ran broadside into a pickup truck at Mission Boulevard and the Corona Expressway.

Mark Allen Peplinski, 12, of 1912 Denison St., suffered head and shoulder injuries and was reported in serious condition this morning in the critical care unit of Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Fontana.

The driver of the pickup, Bradley W. Matthews, 21, Sierra Madre, said the boy was riding on the wrong side of the street, carrying groceries and had only one hand on the handlebars when Matthews first saw him. Matthews, who was towing a horse trailer, said he tried to slow and the boy slammed into the side of the vehicle.

Matthews was southbound in the expressway and Mark was westbound in Mission Boulevard when their vehicles collided late Thursday morning.

A La Verne motorist, Margarito Aguilar Lopez, 52, 2028 Arrow Highway, was arrested Thursday evening after his car overturned onto one side in White Avenue near Val Vista Avenue. Lopez, who wasn't hurt, was booked on a drunken driving charge.

Armed bandit holds up Holt Avenue liquor store

MONTCLAIR — An armed bandit escaped Thursday night after robbing a Holt Avenue liquor store of cash.

The bandit entered the Ace Liquor store at 4702 Holt Blvd. shortly after 11 p.m. and asked the attendant, John Murray, for a pack of cigarettes. As Murray rang up the sale on the cash register, the man produced a chrome-plated handgun and demanded that Murray take the cash drawer out.

Murray was forced to empty cash from the register into a paper bag. The bandit then took Murray's wallet and told him to lie on the floor.

Murray told police that the man wore a dark blue watch cap, a brown tanker jacket, blue Levis and dark glasses.

Circle K market robbed; 9 held

ONTARIO — Police here have charged three men and six youths with burglary following the theft of several six packs of beer from the Circle K Market on Euclid Avenue Thursday night.

Manuel Gutierrez, Gerald Rodriguez and Henry Espinoza, each 18, were booked along with six juveniles following the theft of beer from the market at about 9 p.m. Police officers reportedly found the suspects drinking beer in a parking lot following the theft.

Coroner reports woman strangled on own blood

SAN BERNARDINO — The coroner's office has disclosed that Cynthia Ann Campbell, 26, whose partially clad body was found in Etiwanda June 12, died by strangling on her own blood.

James Z. Gaither, 56, of San Bernardino, has been arrested on suspicion of murder in connection with the woman's death.

The coroner's report stated that the victim was knocked unconscious by a blow to the head and that she strangled on blood which was in her mouth as the consequence of another blow.

A boyfriend of the victim told police that he and Miss Campbell had been living in Gaither's home in Twentynine Palms for several weeks.

THE WALL CAME TUMBLING DOWN

Power equipment operator George Andazola of the Claremont Unified School District uses a backhoe to rip out the old 8- to 14-foot-wide rubble wall that separates Cahuilla Park from the Claremont High School parking lot. City Parks and Recreation Director Fred Hawkins watches the demolition from his side of the wall. The debris is being trucked to the Con Rock quarry. A $16,309 contract has been awarded to Larry Jacoby, general contractor, to build a concrete block wall, topped with a 3-foot rail, to separate campus and park. An 18-inch-wide curb will protect the wall.

Good reason to doubt quality of education

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Brigham Young. University's 4,000 graduates may have some reason to doubt the quality of their education.

Some of the diplomas mailed to the graduates had the "R" missing from the word university in the school's name.

BYU officials said they didn't know how many of the misspelled diplomas were sent out but all graduates will eventually get a diploma with no mistakes in it.

Most deliberately set

13 grass fires hit Pomona

POMONA — Firemen were kept busy Thursday putting out a series of 13 grass fires, most of which were deliberately set in vacant lots and backyards throughout the city.

The largest of the fires, this one believed to be accidentally started by a discarded cigarette, was at 1062 Hillcrest Drive.

Ray Delving told firemen he and two other men were clearing the vacant lot of grass and had left the area about 4 p.m. The fire was discovered a short time later. The fire burned about half an acre.

Three small boys age 7, 8 and 9 were questioned about a small grass fire at 1517 S. Garey Ave. The fire burned a small area in a vacant lot.

At 3:38 p.m., firemen put out a small fire at 1098 Vassar St. Willie Washington, the occupant, told firemen several teen-age girls were seen in the backyard of his property where the fire started.

At 3:40 p.m., a tree at 1605 W. Holt Ave., was set on fire.

The cause of a fire in the yard at 659 Medina Ave., at 3:57 p.m. is under investigation. The fire burned only a small area.

Children playing with matches are believed to have set a fire in an open field at 4:58 p.m. at the 1900 block of San Simeon Avenue. This also burned only a small area. Children playing with matches were also blamed for starting a small grass fire in a field behind a vacant lot at 2205 S. Powers St., a short time later. Three youngsters were questioned about the incident.

Neighbors living near a vacant field at 784 S. Currier St. put out a grass fire there at 9:22 p.m. When firemen arrived at the scene, another fire was reported at 1700 N. San Antonio Ave. A grassy area near the alley was burning. This is also believed to have been set by children.

A fire at 1172 S. Main St. in a vacant field burned a small area at 10:57 p.m. and at 11:06 p.m. another small grass fire burned in a vacant lot at 742 W. Grand Ave. At 11:10 p.m. another grass fire was reported in a vacant lot in the 300 block of W. 12th Street. This fire is also listed as a possible case of arson.

Firemen also put out a small grass fire in a vacant lot at 1435 S. Rebecca St. at 1:42 a.m., also believed to have been deliberately set.

Stores try to spur consumption

Beef prices going down across the nation

United Press International

Supermarkets across the country have launched an all-out campaign to offer once-scarce meats at bargain prices in an effort to clear out a glut of beef which has kept livestock prices below farmers' production costs.

"In our ads this week, we're going to offer special freezer bundles and urge our customers to load up on beef while the prices are low," said Ames Watson, president and chief executive officer of National Tea Co.

"We'll also have other specials. There is also a glut in the turkey market and prices have been falling, so we'll feature a lot of turkey too."

National Tea operates stores in Denver, Minneapolis, Minn., Milwaukee, Wis., Indianapolis, Ind., St. Louis, New Orleans and Chicago.

Los Angeles newspaper advertisements showed lower beef prices this week. Spokesmen for a number of Los Angeles food store chains said market conditions have allowed price cuts of 5-10 cents per pound on economy grades of meat such as ground beef, chuck and stew meat but conditions were flexible.

Bill Newby, a spokesman for Jewel Food Stores in Chicago, said the chain has been cutting back beef prices for the past two months in an effort to step up beef sales.

"Meat consumption has gone up in the last few weeks," Newby said. "However, even though consumption has gone up apparently it is not enough to reduce the inventories of livestock."

He said prices had gone down by as much as 34 cents per pound on some cuts of beef compared to Feb. 13 prices. For example, he said, chuck blade steak, which sold for $1.09 per pound Feb. 13, is now priced at 75 cents a pound.

But he noted that pork, poultry and cheese prices also dropped sharply since early February and "are in good competition with beef."

Newby said center cut pork chops were down to 88 cents per pound compared to $1.69 per pound in February.

A spokesman for a New York City food chain said the store was not concerned with the livestock industry but was "out to help the New York City consumer."

"We have continuously been reflecting a reduced price of beef," said a spokesman for New York's Sloan Supermarkets. He said the chain planned sales on roast beef ($1.29), beef liver (59 cents), chopped chuck (99 cents), ground round ($1.39) and flank steaks (1.$79).

Neil Jackson, meat manager for the Colonial Store in Atlanta said the store has been pushing ground meat, with five pounds of hamburger selling for 79 cents a pound compared to $1.19 per pound late last year. He also said the store had its first steak sale in more than a year last week and plans another one next week with savings of up to 70 cents per pound over present prices.

Grocers in the Oklahoma City area noted that prices were down by 20 to 30 cents a pound on some cuts of beef and meat prices were down 20 to 30 cents a pound at 60 Fiser-Fazio supermarkets in northeastern Ohio.

Meat prices also were down in Des Moines, Iowa; Louisville, Ky., Lincoln, Neb., and Marion, Ill.

"I noticed prices were down about 20 cents a pound on ground beef mix so I bought more than usual," said Emma Jilek, a Cleveland housewife.

But some shoppers weren't opening their pocketbooks to buy up the cut-rate beef.

A Columbus, Ohio, supermarket manager said he knew of no oversupply of beef from his supplier but noted that customers were buying cautiously and no more than they needed.

"Just because the price of beef may drop doesn't mean you can sell it," he said.

Attorneys argue Jaworski seeks improper evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's attorneys argued to the Supreme Court today that Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski was developing impeachment evidence against Nixon. They said that responsibility rested solely with the House of Representatives.

The argument was put forth in a 149-page brief seeking to overturn a lower federal court decision requiring Nixon to produce 64 additional presidential tapes and documents sought by Jaworski for trial of former Nixon associates on Watergate coverup charges.

Both Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, and Jaworski filed briefs to meet today's deadline before the Supreme Court hears oral arguments July 8 on whether Nixon can withhold the materials.

St. Clair said that since the special prosecutor's office was turning over to Congress any information bearing on its impeachment inquiry, upholding Jaworski's subpoena would produce evidence for the House Judiciary Committee that Congress could not obtain by its own procedures.

"There ras been a fusion of two entirely different proceedings; one, the criminal proceedings involving various individual defendants and the other the impeachment proceeding involving the President," St. Clair said. "The first lies in the courts; the second lies in the Congress."

The brief said Jaworski's office had strengthened the fusion by "utilizing the unsubstantiated, unprecendented and clearly unconstitutional device of naming the President as an unindicted co-conspirator in the criminal cases."

The basic argument in the White House brief was that the Supreme Court lacked jurisdiction in the case and did "not have the power to substitute its judgment for that of the President" on the matter of disclosing confidential presidential communications.

In his brief, Jaworski said that giving Nixon "the absolute privilege" of determining what material should be released "would lead to intolerable abuse."

"The President cannot be a proper judge of whether the greater public interest lies in disclosing evidence subpoenaed for a trial, when that evidence may have a material bearing on whether he is impeached," Jawroski said.

Plea bargain reported in milk case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jake Jacobsen, a Texas lawyer who once represented milk cooperative interests, is negotiating with Watergate prosecutors for a reduced criminal charge in exchange for testimony, according to his lawyer.

Charles McNelis, a lawyer who represents Jacobsen, said the two sides had not agreed on an acceptable charge, but he acknowledged "there's movement along those lines, yes."

The Senate Watergate committee staff said last month it was investigating allegations that former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally received $15,000 in two payments in milk co-op funds for his assistance in obtaining the controversial 1971 increase in the price support for raw milk. The increase netted milk producers an estimated $400 million in additional income.

Connally has denied receiving any money from Jacobsen, but it is known their lawyers have conferred.

Ford strikers back to work

CHICAGO (UPI) — Striking United Auto Workers went back to work on the midnight shift today at a suburban Ford Motor Co. plant after voting 4 to 1 to accept a new contract. Nearly 30,000 idled workers at 12 other plants were to be called back to work next week.

Company and union spokesmen said the estimated 5,000 workers who struck the plant June 11 began returning to work after midnight Thursday. Balloting on the settlement reached Wednesday took place Thursday night.

Media wins Legal battle

HONOLULU (UPI) — Several news organizations won a major legal victory Thursday night when a preliminary injunction was issued against a new state law severely restricting access to police information.

State Circuit Court Judge Norito Kawakami signed the preliminary injunction during an unusual night session at which attorneys for the news organizations argued that Act 45, passed recently by the state legislature, was unconstitutional.

The act severely restricted the release of police information, and virtually ended news stories about arrests.

Judge Kawakami ruled that the law was "being unconstitutionally applied in such a manner as to violate plaintiff's rights to freedom of speech and press under the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution and the state constitution."

His ruling said the news organizations had "been unreasonably restricted in their ability to gather and disseminate newsworthy information to the public" since the law went into effect.

Assistant Police Chief Eugene Fletcher, who was in court when the judge signed the order, told reporters that officers immediately would be instructed to release all information to the news media that was available prior to passage of Act 45.

Act 45, signed into law on May 24 by acting Gov. George Ariyoshi, prohibited the release of arrest information to anyone other than law enforcement agencies.

Hobby gets probation

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby is hoping his 30-day probated jail sentence for drunk driving will not have political repercussions. But Gov. Dolph Briscoe is positive it will.

Asked if Hobby's political opponents would use the incident to influence voters, Briscoe said, "you bet your life they will."

Hobby was arrested at 2:48 a.m. Thursday as he and a woman companion returned from a picnic. The officer who stopped Hobby said he followed the lieutenant governor's weaving vehicle for several blocks.

He pleaded no contest to a charge of driving while intoxicated. The judge sentenced him to 30 days in jail, but suspended the sentence for a nine-month probation period.

Calley returned to army custody, stays in stockade

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — Former Army Lt. William Calley, ordered back into military custody Thursday by a federal judge, was issued nondescript fatigues and spent the night in the post stockade, marking only the fourth night he has been behind bars since his My Lai murder conviction in 1971.

U.S. Assistant Attorney Charles Erion said the former platoon leader would be treated "just like any other prisoner ... (and) put in a jail cell."

But Kenneth Henson, one of Calley's attorneys, said his client had, in effect, been put in solitary confinement.

"There's no one else in his cellblock," Henson said.

John Gause, army public information officer, said the 30-year-old Miami native would be allowed recreational periods and provided access to books and a television set.

Calley carried his briefcase solemnly into the stockade to prepare for another hearing Monday before U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott on the appeal of his conviction of murdering 22 civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet in 1968.

If Calley must be confined, his attorneys would rather see him sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

"As far as we're concerned, the quicker they (military authorities) take him and process him at Ft. Leavenworth, the better off he will be," Henson said. "We've been pleading for several years — longer than I've been on the case —for the military to give him a meaningful task to occupy his time, and they still haven't done it."

Calley surrendered two minutes before the 3 p.m. deadline and was ushered into the stockade 10 minutes later.

The masonry facility, ringed by a 10-foot high fence topped with barbed wire, was Calley's residence for three nights just after his 1971 court martial conviction. After a public outcry, President Nixon ordered Calley be held in his quarters under house arrest until the appeals process ended.

"I think he took it amazingly well," said Henson. "There was no bitterness nor was he overjoyed."

Calley had been freed under a $1,000 personal recognizance bond since January until a three-judge panel of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans revoked the bond and ordered Calley returned to prison.

The judge, although he never named him, chided Gen. Thomas Tarpley, the Ft. Benning commandant, for referring to Calley as a "nonperson." Elliott ordered that Calley be "treated as a person ... as distinguished from a nonperson."

Enders confirmed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thomas O. Enders was confirmed Thursday as an assistant secretary of state.

Enders, 43, has served in several overseas diplomatic posts. He is a native of Hartford, Conn.

BACK IN JAIL

Post confinement officer, Major Gordon Willy, right, shows former Army Lt. William L. Calley, Jr., into the post stockade at Ft. Benning, Ga., on Thursday. Calley's bail of four months was recently revoked and appeals by his attorneys failed to keep him free while other appeals are heard.

Search for kidnapped Oregon couple still on

COEUR d'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — While killer Carl Bowles recovers from a bullet wound in the abdomen, the search intensifies for the Eugene, Ore., couple he admits abducting.

A helicopter this week joined the search for Earl Hunter, 63, and his wife, Viola, 61, or their 1971-model car.

Bowles, who insisted he left the Hunters unharmed in Yakima, Wash., after eluding a police dragnet in Eugene Friday, also told Oregon State Penitentiary Superintendent Hoyt Cupp that no one would ever find their car.

The search also includes a check of service stations, restaurants and other businesses open at night along routes leading from Eugene to Washington, including a check of receipts at those establishments and questioning of individuals at rest stops and elsewhere.

Capt. Eugene Dougherty, head of the Oregon State Police Criminal Investigation Division, said stops have been place don the Hunters' credit cards.

Dougherty said it might be possible to get from Eugene to Washington with a full tank of gasoline but it is doubtful the Hunters' gas tank was full when Bowles commandeered their car Friday after escaping dozens of officers tracking him in south Eugene.

Bowles, 33, was arrested near here Sunday after being shot while he was standing knee deep in the Spokane River.

Bowles escaped custody of the Oregon State Penitentiary May 17 while on a four-hour unsupervised social pass approved by Cupp. He was serving a life sence for murder in the slaying of a Lane County, Ore., deputy sheriff in 1965. He also was sentenced to a life term for kidnaping then California Dinance Director Hale Champion and his family during the same three-state crime spree.

Don Davis, executive assistant to Gov. Tom McCall, said Thursday in Salem, "Our concern and first priority must be to locate the Hunters." He asked public help.

McCall also said, when asked if Cupp would be fired if the Hunters are found dead or injured, he expected in that case to receive the warden's resignation, because he had offered it. He said he would have a terrible night of soul searching over whether to accept the resignation.

McCall said Thursday in Spokane, Wash., that the escape of Bowles could mean the return of the death penalty and the complete scrapping of the state's present progressive system.

"These are the possible consequences of Bowles' escape," McCall said. "Whatever happens, it will not be good."

SHOW MUST GO ON

Nine-year-old John Michael Connelly Jr., of Lake Havasu City, Ariz., fell out of his father's station wagon on the day he was scheduled to make his debut as a violinist with the Smoketree Elementary School orchestra. Black-eyed and bruised but undaunted, he attacked a Mozart sonata with style.

Election losers get pension bonanza

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three California legislators who failed in their bids for statewide office —including Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti —will be in line for a pension bonanza on retirement from state government.

Moretti, Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, and Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, will receive early pension benefits totalling just over $400,000 because of legislation passed by lawmakers in 1965.

The $403,017 bonus only includes retirement benefits until the three reach 60 years of age. The legislation was designed to protect legislators voted out of office because of reapportionment.

Normally, the legislative pension plan allows lawmakers to begin drawing their annual pensions when they reach 60 or after 15 years of service.

Moretti, who was defeated June 4 for the Democratic nomination for governor, will earn $182,000 in retirement benefits by the time he is 60 — at a rate of $8,292 a year. The 38-year-old legislator served 10 years in the Assembly.

All three of the public officials gave up their reelection chances in the legislature to run for the statewide offices.

Karabian failed in his bid for his party's nomination for secretary of state and Walsh in his contest for lieutenant governor.

All three of the men will receive the early peensions as long as they are not elected to another state office. The amount of the pension is based on the last salary level paid to the legislators and his years of service.

Walsh will receive $73,498 by the time he is 60 as will Karabian get benefits totalling $146,995.

Emery Moore, director of benefit payments for the state public employes pension system, said the pensions are computed through a complex formula.

He said the original law which gave legislator early pensions was passed in 1965 and amended in 1969 stating that anyone elected after December 31 of that year would no longer be eligible for the early retirement provision. Moore said because of the amendment the law will eventually phase itself out.

Farmers are mechanical

Investogators checked out the military service records of 50 Kansas farmers who appear to be running successful operations. Maybe you know how all military men are given tests during basic training. Those tests showed the farmers only had one characteristic in common. And it wasn't an affecton for the soil, physical strength or even a high I.Q. Was mechanical aptitude.

A RENOWNED photograhper of gorgeous girls says he proposes to every model he photographs. Trick is to get them to look into the camera lense most romantically just the way they might look into the eyes of their gentlemen friends, says he. So as he squeezes off his shots, he whispers, "You're beautiful. Will you marry me?" He thinkg this does much suddenly to soften their faces.

Widowers

Q. "If all the widowers in this country lived in one place, how big a city would they make?"

A. It would be the sixth largest nationwide. With a population of 1,834,000.

IF YOU are a teenage girl who never has had a baby, you have one chance in 200 of giving birth to twins. If you're an expectant mother in your late 30s with several children already, your chances of twinning go up to one in 50.

Pearls

Was the Japaneses, as you might expect, who taught the Northern Australians how to induce oysters to grow pearls. Now those Australian experts are turning out marble-sized pearls in half the time it takes the Japanese to do likewise. Whatever their secret is, they're not publishing.

YOU CAN housebreak an armadillo, you know. This comes up because a client asks. And asks, also, how frequently a pet armadillo should be fed. Once a day at 9 p.m. Dog food will do. But the little beast probably will like milk, eggs, berries, nuts and raw meat better.

IN THE PROVINCE of New Brunswick, the St. John River pours into the Bay of Fundy over a waterfall 200 yards wide. And four times daily, the Bay of Fundy pours back into the St. John River over that same waterfall. High tides do it, of course, Quite a sight, I'm told, this reversible waterfall.

The doctor comments

Hearing problems call for specialist

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am very anxious to know something about hearing difficulties. Is it best to go to an ear specialist or just go and get a hearing aid? My hearing is such that public meetings are a total loss now. I can hear r o o m conversation among friends, but can't hear when someone whispers to me.

DEAR READER—I don't think anyone should just go get a hearing aid. There are several causes for deafness. Some cannot be benefited by a hearing aid at all. Others can be benefited by surgery. To tell what is needed, you will need a competent hearing test, and I would recommend seeing a hearing specialist. See your ear, nose and throat doctor, and do what is right for your prblem.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I hope you can help me with my problem. I take Coumadin daily after having a blood clot in each leg. I heave rheumatic heart disease. When my doctor put me on Coumadin he told me there were certain medications and food I should not take when on Coumadin. He took me off anything with aspirin in it and told me not to eat cabbage.

I was supposed to tolerate antihistamines but became v i o l e n t l y ill with severe cramps and nausea when I took two of these products for sinus problems. I ate red cabbage with no repercussions but got an upset stomach and vomited when I ate eggplant. I mentioned this to my doctor and he could not explain why I did not tolerate my antihistamine or my reaction to the eggplant.

Could you outline a more helpful schedule for me? I guess my doctor is just too busy to give me the help I need.

DEAR READER—Your doctor gave you good advice. The reason for avoiding aspirin is that it increases the anti-clotting action of the blood and since you are taking a regular balanced dose of Coumadin, aspirin would upset this and cause problems in relationship to controlling your blood clotting and bleeding mechanism. And, by the way, the same thing is true for certain medicines that are used as substitutes for aspirin and can be obtained without a prescription. So, be careful about even picking up medicines that you would use in place of aspirin. I have in mind Tylenol and similar medications.

There is no particular reason why taking Coumadin should make it impossible for you to use antihistamines. You've had an unusual reaction for which there's no probable immediate explanation. It could be that you would have reacted this way to the antihistamines even if you were not taking Coumadin. Many people have sensitivities to various forms of medicines. It may be the antihistamine you took was also combined with other ingredients as well. In any case, anyone who has a bad reaction to a medicine should certainly avoid that medicine in the future.

You can say almost the same thing about eggplant. There is no good reason why a person on Coumadin should not be able to tolerate eggplant. I can only conclude that you have an idiosyncrasy, that is, something that is unusual or special in your case. Often we find out what people's particular idiosyncrasies are by experience, and there's no way to predict ahead of time all the foods and medicines that an individual will not tolerate readily.

Homemakers sue state over aid

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Homemaker's Association has filed a lawsuit accusing the Reagan administration of engaging in the systematic destruction of programs for aged and handicapped persons.

Legal Aid Society attorney James F. Smith and CHA field director David Shapiro alleged in the suit Wednesday multiple violations of the law, including the federal minimum wage law.

The suit, which also names Sacramento County, alleges 13 violations of a state law as well as other federal laws.

It says these illegal acts have caused massive grant and wage cuts for both disabled recipients and the workers who care for them.

A CHA spokesman said the suit is one of the most comprehensive indictments of law violation and mis-management ever filed in California, affecting more than 100,000 recipiente and workers in the in-home program.

The suit focuses on an April 1 handbook of regulations, which Smith contends is being used by 190 high-paid county social workers to severely restrict payments to recipients and lowpaid attendant care workers.

Can't be coerced into revealing sources

Judge rules in favor of reporter

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court judge ruled today that there is "no substantial likelihood" that further jailing of newsman William Farr on contempt charges will make him disclose the sources of a story he wrote in 1970.

In his ruling, Judge William H. Levit also upheld Farr's right to keep his sources confidential, holding a reporter "has an ethical responsibility to his profession and to his source to honor his promise, even in the face of a valid court order to the contrary."

The ruling, however, did not free Farr from being jailed again.

Levit said that "any further incarceration of Farr will not be coercive, but rather punitive in nature."

He recommended that if Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older, who sentenced Farr to an open-end jail sentence for contempt, wants to pursue the case, he should set a specific time for the newsman to serve.

Older sentenced Farr to the open-end contempt sentence when the newsman refused to identify two attorneys who provided him with information during the Charles Manson murder trial while the attorneys' were under a court gag order. At the time Farr wrote the story, he was a reporter for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner.

Farr spent 46 days in jail but was released early last year pending federal appeals of his case. A decision is still pending.

Chimps in captivity

Chimpanzees in captivity seldom lives more than 15 years.

Boar goes hog wild, bites neighbor farmer; he sues

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Paul Marshall and John C. Ranne lived in Dallas and owned adjoining hog farms in Van Zandt County. They were good friends and neighbors until the day the hog went bad.

Ranne's hog had shown signs of being an ornery animal before that fateful day. Marshall had been out in front of his house at least a dozen times when the hog would lower his head, snort a couple of times and charge wildly sending Marshall scrambling for safety in the nearest possible place — his outhouse.

On Jan. 21, 1970, Marshall could take it no longer. He left Ranne the following note:

"John, your boar has gone bad. He is trying to chase me off the farm. He stalks us just like a cat stalks a mouse every time he catches us out of the house. We are going to have to get him out before he hurts someone."

Thinking easy at 2nd trick

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South wasted no time with the play of what he considered an elementary hand. That is he wasted no time at the start.

He ruffed the second spade and started after trumps. If trumps had broken 3-3 everything would have been fine, but when East showed out on the third lead South saw that his contract was in jeopardy. He thought a while; drew the last trump and tried a club finesse. It lost and East was able to lead a spade to give his partner three spade tricks and set South two.

"I guess I should have settled for down one," remarked South. "Every card is always wrong for me."

Every card was wrong. Trumps broke 4-2. East held the king of clubs and a third spade, but South should have made the hand. If he had stopped to think at trick two instead of ruffing the second spade, he should have discarded a club.

South would ruff the third spade and play the hand exactly the same way, but there would be a decided difference at the end. When East took his king of clubs he would not have a spade to lead to his partner and South would bring home the bacon.

Look at the facts

As schools and colleges close for the summer, and as graduating classes start the great trek on the breadwinning path of life, the perennial question of where the brightest opportunities lie arises. Perceptive young people this year should take a fresh look at one of the country's oldest industries—the railroads. The reason may be found in a well-written pamphlet entitled, "The Human Side of Railroading."

This brief booklet points out that railroads have always been the backbone of the American transportation system, but adds that more young persons are choosing to focus their talents on the industry now" . . . because the trends of the times point to a new and even greater eminence for railroads. Why railroads? Let's take a look at the facts. Conservation of energy is one of the top issues in today's America. Railroads can move about four times as much freight per gallon of fuel as large trucks and 125 times as much as cargo aircraft. A similar relationship exists between trucks and railroads with regard to pollutants released into the air—another item of current concern. Railroad emissions, on a per ton-mile basis, are about one fourth that of trucks."

This is but the beginning of the story. In the next decade, even moderate economic growth will mean nearly a 50 per cent increase in freight movement. The rails will likely be a growing factor in freight transportation. They enjoy the unique ability to increase their traffic load many times without the necessity for using more land—and land, like energy, is becoming a scarce commodity. As the rail pamphlet notes, "If you can eat it, wear it, build with it or burn it for fuel, there's a train somewhere in its past. It either rode the rails itself or was put together with something that did."

The railroad industry is a rare combination of the old and the new. It holds the romance of the past and the hopes of the future in the field of transportation. Behind it lies a century of experience in providing a vital service. Before it lies another century of growth as one of the great private enterprise of all time.

A balance of power

In a thoughtful article entitled "The Veto: Key To Effective Government," which appears in the June issue of The Reader's Digest, Melvin R. Laird, former Secretary of Defense and chief domestic adviser to President Nixon from June, 1973 to February, 1974, discusses the importance of the presidential power to veto legislation passed by the Congress. Mr. Laird speaks from his wealth of experience, both in the Executive Branch and as a Republican Congressman from Wisconsin for nine terms.

In Mr. Laird's view, the veto, . . . "the sole constitutional power a President has to prevent hasty or ill-considered laws." It is a positive tool of presidential leadership conducive to more reasonable and workable legislation. It can save tax money and curb the passage of unwise legislation which might otherwise become the law of the land during a rush of majority enthusiasm, untempered by judicious consideration. Congress always has the final legislative word, since it can pass a bill over a presidential veto by two thirds vote in both Houses of Congress. Some see the Watergate backlash as an opportunity to elect a "veto-proof" Congress in the November elections. Any such development which would, for a time ,cripple the President's leadership ability and disrupt the balance of power between the Executive and Legislative Branches would not be in the interest of good government.

Many of the institutions of government are under severe attack. As Mr. Laird observes, it is imperative at such a time that the American people " . . . remember the solid record of accomplishment that our form of government—including the veto power—has achieved." It is not a time to jump on some ill-conceived bandwagon aimed at undermining the constitutionally-granted and fundamental powers of the presidency.

Moon Walk Day

For centuries the moon hung tantalizingly just beyond man's grasp, challenging his imagination and ingenuity. Then, on July 20, 1969, two U. S. astronauts did the impossible—they landed the lunar module, "Eagle," upon the surface of the moon, and a new age dawned. Since that time, July 20 has come to be known as Moon Walk Day. The memorable moon exploration by Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin, Jr. lasted 21 hours, 36 minutes and 16 seconds, while the moon walk, initiated by Armstrong, took 2 hours, 15 minutes. Pilot Michael Collins orbited the moon in the command module, "Columbia."

Beyond the historical significance of the moon venture lies an even greater potential for technological advances surpassing even the wildest imaginings of Jules Verne. In the midst of unlocking the mysteries of the universe, man has found it possible to apply the knowledge and skills of the U.S. space program to solving problems here on Earth. Our opportunities to further the condition of mankind are as limitless as the starry heavens that surround us.

A tale of two old politicians

WASHINGTON — Chicago's embattled Mayor Richard Daley, his bossdom shaken, his power slipping, his health failing, summoned enough political strength last week for a "Last Hurrah."

From his cigar-polluted lair in city hall, he reached all the way to Washington and killed the land-use bill which would have brought order to the chaotic, wasteful development of the nation's dwindling land resources.

Daley sabotaged the bill for reasons that, quite naturally, riled the last of the big-city bosses. The bill left him no power to hand out lucrative land development contracts to his favorite contractors. Instead, most land decisions would have devolved upon the governor.

In Illinois, the governor happens to be an ambitious, anti-machine Democrat, Daniel Walker, who has dared to defy Daley.

Any legislation that would allow Walker to call the shots on land development was more than Daley could abide. So the old political war lord cracked the whip on Chicago's Democratic congressmen, all liberals, who normally would have voted with their fellow liberals for national standards to assure orderly land development.

Instead, they took their orders from Daley whose political machine turns out the voters for them on election day. The four Chicago votes against the land-use bill provided the margin which defeated the measure, 211-204.

We have spoken to the congressmen from Chicago who solemnly deny that Daley influenced their votes. As Rep. Morgan Murphy, D-Ill., explained it, the Chicago delegation felt their city was "so far ahead" of the rest of the nation in land-use planning that the bill would have had a harmful effect.

But sources close to the delegation say that Daley sent them their voting instructions. One messenger, apparently, was his own land development expert, Lou Hill, who pointedly reminded some members of the delegation of the contractors' political clout.

The Chicago mayor joined forces with President Nixon to defeat land-use standards. Both men are fighting for political survival, with aides under indictment and prosecutors pressing them at every turn.

The President withdrew his earlier support for the land-use bill under pressure from conservatives whose votes he is counting upon to save himself from impeachment. The conservatives fear the bill might trespass upon the rights of private property owners.

ERVIN'S GHOST WRITER: Senator Ervin, D-N.C., the hero of Watergate, has permitted a business lobbyist to help draft his views against the proposed Consumer Protection Agency.

Richard Leighton, a lobbyist for the Grocery Manufacturers of America, wrote part of the minority report on the legislation. In Ervin's name, Leighton warned that the bill would "create a Caesar within the federal bureaucracy."

The lobbyist embarrassingly misspelled Ervin's name which was listed as "Erwin" in the signature at the bottom of the minority report.

The proposed consumer agency would represent consumers inside the federal policy councils—at rate hearings, for example, before the Federal Power Commission or drug hearings before the Food and Drug Administration.

The legislation, sponsored by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., has already passed the House, but faces a filibuster in the Senate. Two of the Senate's most long-winded orators, the avuncular Ervin and Sen. James Allen, D-Ala., are expected to try to talk the bill to death.

The bill came out of the Senate Government Operations Committee, whose chief counsel, Bob Smith, admitted that lobbyist Leighton wrote part of the minority report. Speaking for Ervin, Smith claimed that the senator opposed the legislation not because he is anti-consumer but because he is against government intervention.

Smith suggested that we ask consumer crusader Ralph Nader whether he wrote part of the majority report in favor of the Consumer Protection Agency. Speaking for Nader, Joan Claybrook said she had reviewed the majority report before it went to press but that the Nader people wrote no part of it.

NUCLEAR THREAT: A grim, secret intelligence analysis warns that India's nuclear explosion and the American-Egyptian nuclear agreement will lead to uncontrolled nuclear arms development.

The report claims that several small nations have already taken the first, secret steps toward developing nuclear arms. The analysis predicts that Egypt, Iran, Israel, Japan, Rumania, Sweden and West Germany will wind up eventually with their own nuclear arsenals.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Reporters learn to live with leaks

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I forget what I was doing — bathing my wrists with rose water, mostly likely —when the stampede started.

Someone dashed into the House Press Gallery and shouted "The Judiciary Committee is leaking out of control!"

And all of us newsmen bolted for the doors in wild alarm.

Later, after things calmed down a bit, we realized we had overreacted. The situation didn't really call for hysteria.

Panic maybe, but not hysteria.

The mad flight was touched off by a White House aide who denounced leaks of confidential information from the impeachment inquiry as a sign the committee was "out of control."

An uncontrolled committee is not the same thing as the leaks themselves being out of control. Uncontrolled committees are, in fact, rather commonplace.

But, in the circumstances, our fright was understandable.

There is no doubt that the impeachment inquiry is one of the most porous investigations of all times. Some days the leaks are more like gushers.

Any reporter who ventures near the Judiciary Committee's headquarters on the first floor of the Rayburn office building runs the risk of having one or more confidential documents pressed upon him.

It has gotten to the point where we seldom venture into a first floor corridor alone. When we have business in that area, we generally use the buddy system.

Reporters regularly assigned to the impeachment inquiry can be philosophical about it. Leaks are something you learn to live with.

But when you are trying to cover another story, it can be sheer hell.

Like the other day I went to the Rayburn building for a news conference about a congressman's proposal to proclaim the week of July 7-13 as National Eat-More-Possum Week.

As I was passing the Judiciary Committee, two members grabbed my arms, pulled me into a vacant room and tried to leak a confidential staff memorandum relating to one of the Watergate tapes.

I finally convinced them that I was the mayor of Sump City, Iowa, in town to testify at a hearing on federal waterwing safety standards. But by the time I shook them loose, it was too late.

It turned out that the sponsor of National Eat-More-Possum Week had received $2.63 in campaign contributions from the powerful possum lobby. And I missed it.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . . . letters

Independent voter

I had an interesting experience on election day June 4 which I thought you might like to hear about.

My wife and I went to vote. A lady who preceded us at the polling place had registered as Independent. She couldn't even get a ballot. They wouldn't give her a non-partisan ballot. She wasn't even allowed to vote on the propositions.

I wasn't able to understand how the Democrats and Republicans had gotten such a stranglehold on the voting machinery. Is it that we are short on education? Or is it that the people who instruct the folks who run the polling places come up a little short? Or is it possible that a non-partisan just plain can't vote in a primary election?

Is there someone in the crowd who can ease my mind on this matter? I keep seeing that poor registered voter leaving the voting place being unable to vote at all! !—Walt Jackson, Pomona. mona.

Who's using who?

The "leakage" of confidential public documents leads to some very interesting questions.

Do Jack Anderson, The Washington Post, et al who appear to have such ready access to confidential information, pay for it? If not, can the purpose be purely political? If so, who's axe is being ground?

In spite of repeated assurances that national security is not at issue, we wonder. I understand Ellsberg delivered the purloined Pentagon Papers to the Russian Embassy before he did to the Washington Post.

Obviously, there is a conspiracy. Maybe an investigation of the Watergate type, i.e., no holds barred, would be in order. Involvement, real or imagined, could be so widespread that between the two investigations we might end up with no government.—Ray O. Swanson, Pomona.

Gossip for today

What's new in the Halls of Ivy? I'm glad you asked. It is always gratifying to learn that people still have a healthy respect for the accomplishments of our institutions of higher learning. And you will undoubtedly be delighted to learn that UCLA has announced that women will be allowed to play alongside men on any athletic team they can qualify for. Next thing you know our universities and colleges will be offering athletic scholarships for women. — You'd think that great educational advancements would be ample for one week but one should never underestimate the lengths to which our dedicated educators will go to make possible an enlightened world This was also the week a Nottingham University genetics lecturer announced that "snails have a fascinating sex life."

The real causes of church decline

The largest single dispute going on in the churches of North America for three or four years has been over social involvement. Mainline Christian churches stood early and strong with the Civil Rights movement and later became strong advocates of minority education, employment and housing. This irritated conservative believers no end, who urged religious leaders to get back to the Gospel and the Bible.

Liberal and mainline denominations pitched in with the Peace-Protest movement, lectured Congress and presidents on the immorality of Vietnam and observed that Black Power wasn't all bad. Conservatives and fundamentalists raged at this scenario and demanded that Christians stay inside the Church and outside of politics.

A couple of years ago a Presbyterian agency worried about Angela Davis getting a fair trial, sent a check for $10,000 and the whole ceiling fell in and social involvement cooled for a while. In fact, money and resources froze all over the place. Conservative churchmen gloated at the complaints and concern over cash-flow expressed by liberal, mainline churches.

At last the true world, or at least the true church, was sadder and wiser. The whole decade of Civil Rights, Peace Movements, Black Power, Angela somebody had backfired. The result: lower church attendance, much lower plate collections, and much higher gains for conservative, "Bible" churches.

That is a quick summary of contemporary religion in North America and David A. Smith, management consultant and economics specialist says it is untrue! That's right, and he makes a forceful minority report in Fund Raising Management (January 1974) to contradict the most popular religious cliche of our time (that conservative churches are growing and mainliners are caving in).

Smith did a long and careful study of some 10 Protestant bodies, carefully checking annual budgets, church attendance, per capita giving, inflation, discretionary income, cost of living index—all sorts of input to reach this conclusion:

1) Churches are "in the midst of a long-term economic crises that predates their involvement in civil rights."

2) The real cause of the churches' financial crises is "the economic environment with which the churches are ill-equipped to cope".

3) Parish churches are far from prospering. Churches were receiving "a diminishing share in the national income for more than 10 years. At no time did giving go up rapidly enough to meet rising costs".

David A. Smith has put this together in a report, "The Economic Life of the Churches" and ought to be read by every churchman who has blamed Angela Davis, the Berrigan Brothers, Jane Fonda and James Foreman for the unnerving slide in church attendance and plate collections.

And on the money angle, Smith publishes real live charts that indicate that "liberal" and "mainline" church members regularly contribute more cash to church causes than do their "conservative" brethren. (Mainline members gave $70 in 1960; Conservatives averaged $64. In 1969, mainliners were at $89, Conservatives at $79.)

Church attendance hit an all-time high in 1958, and then started a steady decline—at least four years BEFORE the Civil Rights protests and certainly six or eight years before the flexing of the Peace movement.

All this does not solve the economic crunch that has hit the churches in Canada and the United States. But it does take away some of the name-calling and much of the scolding that is so unseemly for the followers of Christ.

Death rate high for babies born of alcoholic mothers

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Babies born to alcoholic mothers may die of "fetal alcohol syndrome," says a University of Washington doctor.

Dr. Kenneth Jones, speaking at a birth defects conference sponsored by the UCLA school of medicine and the March of Dimes, said Wednesday this syndrome affects about 43 per cent of the babies of women who are severe alcoholics.

Besides death, characteristics of the syndrome are smallness at birth despite a full-term pregnancy, slow weight gain and disproportionately small heads for the baby's size.

Jones said women who are alcoholics should be advised of the sysdrome so that they can decide whether to get an abortion or cut down drinking. ing9

Jones said the syndrome was noticed while a team of doctors conducted a preliminary check of eight children born to alcoholic mothers at a county hospital in Seattle.

He said of the eight children first investigated, four showed severe effects of the syndrome.

"Their average length was 65 per cent that of the average, and their weight, at the end of a year of special medical and nutritional care, was only 35 per cent of normal," Jones said.

The findings led to a further study of babies of alcoholic mothers based on statistics provided by the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke.

He said after studying 55,000 women and their babies, doctors were able to positively identify 23 alcoholic mothers, mostly by the observations of attending physicians.

Jones said the investigating team was aware there were more alcoholic mothers among the 55,000, but there was no way to identify them.

Of the 23 mothers identified, 10 had a "serious" outcome of their pregnancies, he said.

"That is," he said, "four of the babies died before they were a week old, and of the 19 who survived, six had the typical physical marks of the fetal alcohol syndrome."

Driver booked in fatal crash

WEST COVINA (UPI) — The driver of a small sports car was booked on suspicion of felony drunk driving and manslaughter Wednesday after the auto slammed into a guard rail, killing one of his passengers and seriously injuring himself and another passenger.

Eric Hickman, 21, of La Puente was dead on arrival at Intercommunity Hospital in Covina.

The driver, Jack O. Nesbitt, 21, of Covina, was listed in fair condition at County-USC Medical Center with internal injuries. The other passenger, David G. McDonnell, also of La Puente, was also listed in fair condi'ion with possible broken ribs at County-USC.

2nd of two mass murder suspects found guilty

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI) — One of two men accused of killing 17 persons in a California-Arizona crime spree was convicted this week on nine counts of first-degree murder.

San Joaquin County Superior Court Judge Chris Papas rendered the verdict against Willie L. Steelman, 29, Lodi, Calif., after the defendant waived his right to trial by jury. Papas said the evidence was circumstantial but it was overwhelming.

Steelman's accomplice, Douglas Gretzler, 23, New York, previously pleaded guilty to nine murder counts.

Steelman and Gretzler were accused of killing two others in California and six others in Arizona.

The nine counts here were for the Nov. 6, 1973, slaying of four members of the Walter Parkin family and five neighbors in the Parkins' Victor home to coverup a grocery robbery.

Papas will sentence the two men July 8, and then they will be extradited to Arizona.

When Papas' decision was announced, a relative of one victims leaped to his feet and shouted at Steelman:

"Hey, punk, how tough do you feel now."

Poem about ghetto wins boy award

CHICAGO (UPI) — "Describe the ghetto as best you can" is the first line of Donald Franklin's award-winning poem. Even though he doesn't live in the ghetto, his insight is uncanny.

Donald, a 13-year-old seventh grader, was one of five seventh and eighth graders chosen as poet laureates by Illinois Poet Laureate Gwendolyn Brooks.

Miss Brooks said the poems were mostly about love and nature, but a number of black children, like Donald, wrote their poems with a harsher edge.

The poem, entitled "In the ghetto," goes this way:

Describe the ghetto as best you can,

The dirty streets, the drunken man,

The lifeless puppy found on the curb,

The crying baby that's never heard.

Broken windows, poverty-stricken homes,

Platform shoes, natural combs.

In the ghetto some encounter drugs,

And some are beaten by merciless thugs.

So terrible these things seem to be,

But still the ghetto is home to me.

Donald said he got the idea for the poem from movies, television and several of his friends "who live in the ghetto and tell me the kind of things that go on there."

His mother, Mrs. Donald Franklin, described him as a loner and a bookworm, who usually composes poems about weather, nature or spring.

"I wanted to do something different for this contest," he said. "It took me about two days to write this one. See, when I write a poem, it takes time. I write a couple of lines and sit back and think a little and then write a couple more lines."

In his last stanza Donald spoke about the ghetto —"So terrible these things seem to be, but still the ghetto is home to me.'

"I knew I wanted to top it off with something from the heart," he said. "After I wrote all those bad things about the ghetto, I thought I would put in something good."

Whale died of asphyxiation

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Mamuk, the 6,000-pound killer whale who performed at a marine world, died last week of asphyxiation, according to an autopsy report.

"We have not determined how the asphyxiation was caused, but we have been able to rule out some factors," Dr. Kenneth Gray of Texas A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine said recently. "It was not caused by drowning, vandalism, inadequacies in food or water quality or other extrensic factors causing unconsciousness."

Mamuk, between 13 and 16 years old, died Friday.

Reliance on acupuncture as disease cure a danger

CHICAGO (UPI) — Promiscuous use of acupuncture as a disease cure poses an important and potentially dangerous health problem, the director of the federal government's acupuncture study committee says.

In the current edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association, committee head Dr. John J. Bonica warned that unwarranted use of acupuncture in efforts to cure a variety of ailments is potentially dangerous.

Needles can break off in patients, vital internal organs can be punctured, spinal damage could occur and —most seriously —reliance on acupuncture therapy could delay initiation of proper medical treatment until it is too late for such treatment to succeed, he warned.

"Many unscrupulous persons are exploiting the public's interest by the way they operate their acupuncture 'centers' or 'institutes'. In addition to the fact that such facilities are usually run more like 'mills', where several hundred patients are treated daily and are charged what I consider exorbitant fees, they mislead the public and lure patients with their Madison Avenue techniques of advertising their 'miracle cures,' claims that often are based on short-term results in one or at most a few patients," Bonica said.

He said that, in order to establish acupuncture's efficacy during its temporary legalization, the technique should be considered experimental and should be used in laboratory studies, controlled clinical trials and clinical surveys.

There is sufficient evidence, he said, that acupuncture may find a place in accepted American medicine. But, he added, "I know of no incontrovertible scientific evidence that it is any more than placebo therapy or that it has high theraputic efficacy in the many disease states for which it is being used."

He said that, through his reviews of acupuncture on a three-week trip to China, communication with other American doctors and reviews of articles, the claims of high efficiency of acupuncture in China are not based upon well-controlled clinical trials.

"In fact," he wrote, "in many health stations (in China) and even some hospitals, no records are kept of either the patient's history or his response to therapy."

Bullet-proof vests due for L.A. police

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council Tuesday appropriated $350,000 to buy bullet-proof vests for the city's 7,000 policemen after such a vest saved the life of an officer who bought it on his own.

Motorcycle policeman Frank F. Goulard routinely wore the protective vest on duty, although he had to spend $50 of his own money on it and it was an unusual practice.

He halted a car for a routine traffic offense last month, and as he approached the auto, the driver fired a pistol into his chest at close range.

The impact knocked Goulart down and bruised his chest, but the vest halted the bullet and he was not seriously injured.

A similiar incident occurred last week in San Francisco.

The Police Protective League said that following two such vivid examples, many officers were spending their own money to buy the vests before the City Council decided to make them standard issue.

River closed to rafts over recent deaths

RIGGINS, Idaho (UPI) — The U. S. Forest Service has closed the swirling "River of No Return" to all raft-riders because it has claimed four lives in recent days.

A spokesman for the Sawtooth National Recration Area said recently that the main fork of the Salmon River got its ominous nickname because "it is treacherous at best." He added that the current flood stage has made it "an entirely different river."

A couple who were part of a 43-member raft party drowned Monday 60 miles east of here. The rest of the party were airlifted to Salmon, Idaho.

Two members of a 25-person rafting party drowned Friday near Challis, Idaho.

Salmon River Manager Jim Wiley said logs and debris in the rampaging water were increasing the hazards.

And, he said, Forest Service officials just last week warned river runners "they were crazy to go down."

Airmen in Thailand net 45,000 pennies

BANGKOK (UPI) — American airmen on a U.S. Air Force Base in Central Thailand have collected 45,000 pennies in a drive to recirculate the scarce coins, U.S. Military Authorities said recently.

The drive was held at Takhil Roual Thai Air Force Base, 100 miles north of Bangkok. U.S. currency is used on the six air bases maintained by the United States in Thailand.

Musical America needs ear plugs

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

I was dismayed but not really surprised to learn recently that 44 per cent of American homes contain a person or persons who play (plays) a musical instrument. I should have been an ear doctor.

From a million suburban homes at all hours of the day and night float the faltering squeals of little Sally playing "Humoresque" on the violin, or the piercing blasts of young Bill's trumpet in "March Militaire" or the thunder of a rock group (amplified) loosening the plaster with "Let the Sun Shine In." The music of the spheres.

The American Music Conference recently conducted a survey of 850 homes to find out who played what in musical America. The canvass of clarinets, the pool of percussion, the survey of strings was not great in scope, but it resulted in some unsettling statistics.

Over 50 per cent of the homes boasted (or confessed) a piano player, from runny-nosed Lucy plunking out "The Happy Farmer" to the graduate student in musicology who fancies himself the new Dave Brubeck and is saving up for a Moog Sunthesizer. In between are Mother, who used to play at the church, fingering out "Jesus Wants Me for a Sunbeam," and Father who knows two chords and, after a few drinks, sits down at the keyboard to hammer out "Cool Water" and "The Wabash Cannonball."

To the surprise of practically no one, the AMC survey revealed that 92 per cent of the houses sheltered a guitar player — and most of them need shelter. My astonishment was that the figure was so low. Guitars are inexpensive, easy to play and estheically satifying. Everyone plays guitars, from Grandma, who was born before bluegrass, to pimply little Freeddy who thinks the guitar was invented by Elvis Presley.

If you have in your home a novice on the piano or guitar, you may be tempted — nay, driven — to climb the walls from time to time, but pity the poor parents in homes where violins (7 per cent) and band instruments (10 per cent) hold sway.

A violin played by a master (Rubinstein, Segovia, et. al.) is bad enough, but in the hands of little Catharine, the shining yellow instrument becomes a device of torture that would have interested Torquemada. The correct notes sounds like fingernails scraping a blackboard) the sour notes can pierce an eardrum.

Add to the trauma of a pig-tailed daughter dedicated to two hours of daily practice the exuberance of young Willy on his new trumpet (or drums, horn, bassoon, trombone or saxophone). This is decible disaster, an exercise in lease-breaking. Willy sails into "The March of the Priests" from "Aida" like the Seventh Army entering Paris.

Musical instruments played in 44 per cent of our homes? Are there no zoning laws? Pianos, violins, drums, flutes — whatever happened to Little League?

Insect chews oak leaves

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — An insect pest, which appears in cycles, is chewing up the leaves of the California black oak trees in the Running Springs and Lake Gregory areas of the San Bernardino Mountains.

Deputy State Forester John Hastings reported Wednesday that the pest, known as the leaf roller, is a nuisance but does not usually destroy trees. trees.

The last time the leaf roller made its appearance was in 1951 and 1952, Hastings said.

Tragic finish to honeymoon: mass suicide

TAKASAKI, Japan (UPI) — Yoshito Furuta, 36, wanted his new bride and his two children by his late first wife to see their own country. They set out in the car to visit the most famous scenic spots of Japan, taking snapshots along the way. Then they headed home to Nagano Prefecture, 150 miles north of Tokyo.

Sunday the bodies of all four were found in their sedan. Police said they were victims of mass suicide by carbon monoxide fed into the car by a hose attached to the exhause pipe.

Police believe they killed themselves because of the opposition of the 22-year-old bride's parents to the marriage.

Ask Dr. Brothers

View of busing

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm a successful black businessman and the father of four. I'm trying to bring my children up with respect for themselves but also with respect for all their brothers and sisters, black and white. I don't want my children to be racists and to think all whites are evil and stupid.

My children, my wife and I are now in the midst of a busing battle with our predominantly white community. Tempers on both sides are running high and I find it difficult to keep my cool. I'm amazed at the stereotyped thinking of many seemingly intelligent whites. They don't seem to be aware that there are good, strong black families and that we care as much about our children as whites do about theirs. What most parents, black or white, want is the best education for their children. To me, busing guarantees a better education because it means that eventually all schools will be upgraded, have better teachers, better books and equipment. I'm trying to teach my children to share but it's hard when our community is so set against sharing.— V.J.

Dear V.J.: As I'm sure you know, there are many arguments pro and con but children have been traveling in little red or yellow school buses for many years so, clearly, the bus is not the problem.

The concept of busing children to maintain racial balance is rather new and any new idea is jarring and controversial. Basically, busing shakes people's sense of territory. Claiming personal territory is one way of expressing prejudice. For years, blacks were assigned separate restrooms, restaurants, bus space, and schools. Now, middle-income people are organizing around another special issue. We must learn to share space and this is one of the problems that is bound to dominate our future. We are going to have to stop putting people in boxes whether these boxes are spacial or intellectual, boxes that produce the stereotyped thinking you mention.

Opponents of busing often base their arguments more on emotion than on fact. There is much evidence that desegregated education improves life opportunities for both black and white children. We learn through diversity — too much sameness tends to deaden men's minds and is apt to lead to more stereotyped thinking.

There is little doubt that the great misunderstandings that exist between black and white come from too much separation. We cannot hope to understand people if we never see them, if we never get to know them. Sociologist Robert Hill stresses that it is time to destroy the many misconceptions that exist in people's minds. Hill found strength, stability and many positive characteristics in black family life. He complains that often sociologists study only the most negative examples of black family life.

Many middle-class white children today are, through communal living, trying to find the sense of the large, extended family known to most blacks. There is a general yearning for human contacts that approximate the richness of extended family life still familiar in some strong black families.

Blacks and whites have a great deal to share and to learn from each other if each is willing to open himself to new ideas. Prejudice springs from ignorance and familiarity breeds not contempt, but understanding.

ORDINANCE NO. 2696

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF POMONA, CALIFORNIA, AMENDING ORDINANCE NUMBER 1673 OF THE CITY OF POMONA, ALO KNOWN AS THE CODE OF THE CITY OF POMONA, BY ADDING THERETO SECTION 20-26.2 TO CHAPTER 20 TO PROVIDE FOR UNDERGROUNDING UTILITY LINES AS A CONDITION WHICH MAY BE IMPOSED IN CONNECTION WITH BUILDING PERMITS.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF POMONA, CALIFORNIA AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I. That Ordinance No. 1673 of the City of Pomona, California is hereby amended by adding thereto Section 20-26.2 to provide as follows:

(A) DEFINITIONS. For the purposes of this part, the following words and phrases shall have the meaning ascribed to them as hereinafter set forth, except where the context hereof clearly requires a contrary meaning:

(1) Undergrounding shall mean the location or relocation of utilities so that all of the utility facilities are located under the surface of the ground, except for appurtenances and associated equipment, including but not limited to, surface mounted transformers, pedestal mounted terminal boxes and meter cabinets and concealed ducts. All such undergrounding work, where required, shall be constructed and maintained in accordance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations, including but not limited to, rules, regulations and tariffs, applicable to the affected utility, adopted or approved by the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California;

(2) Utility or utility facilities shall mean wire, conduit and similar devices designed and/or utilized for supplying and/or distributing electrical energy and/or services, telephone, telegraph or cable television service to a consumer.

(B) UNDERGROUNDING OF UTILITIES. WHEN REQUIRED. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Code, the undergrounding of utility facilities shall be required in all of the following circumstances, except as hereinafter expressly provided:

(1) All utilities to serve any property upon which it is proposed to construct or reconstruct any building or structure, or combination thereof, for which a building permit is required, where the estimated cost of such construction is $3,000 or more; and

(2) Relocations. All structures to be relocated into or within the City of Pomona upon any parcel of land shall be required to install underground utilities where the usable floor area of such building or structure to be relocated is a total of 850 square feet or more.

(3) Responsibility for Compliance. The owner and person who occupies any property to which this section applies, shall be responsible for compliance therewith, including but not limited to, obtaining the installation of required facilities by the appropriate utility company or companies.

(C) EXEMPTION. The City Engineer shall grant an exemption from the provisions hereof:

(1) If he finds that the temporary nature of the development makes such installations unreasonable; or

(2) If he finds all of the following facts present.

(a) That all adjacent properties are served by overhead utility facilities; and

(b) That the compliance with the provisions of this section constitute an undue financial hardship which renders the proposed development economically unfeasible; and

(c) That the owner of the property involved agrees, in writing, to join and participate without protest in an undergrounding utility district should one be initiated pursuant to applicable law. Such agreement shall be recorded and shall bind all assignees and successors in interest to the then owner of said property.

(3) If he finds that the development comprises a single R-1 lot surrounded by improved developed property, all of which have aboveground utilities.

(D) APPEALS. Appeal may be made from the decision of the granting authority through procedures provided by Section 20-27 of this chapter.

SECTION II. The Clerk shall certify to the passage and adoption of this ordinance and shall cause it to be published as required by law, and it shall be in full force and effect 30 days from the time of its final approval.

BIG REUNION SUNDAY

Dodger pitcher Ralph Branca (L) and Bobby Thomson of the Giants will recreate that famous 1951 home run Sunday during the annual Oldtimers Game at Dodger Stadium.

Dodgers eager for Giants

By BILL LANGLEY
P- Sports Editor

LOS ANGLES — The Dodgers and Giants get together for one of their usually wild weekends in a three-game series at Dodger Stadium beginning tonight.

However, this weekend is a little special with former Dodger and Giant stars getting together Sunday afternoon at the annual Oldtimers Day gettogether.

The Dodgers will be happy to get back to Western oppositioon after a 2-4 road trip against the East. Los Angeles' lead has been cut to five games over the surprising second-place Atlanta Braves, who will be in town next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and six above the Cincinnati Reds.

This season is proving to be a big contrast from 1973 for the Dodgers.

Last year, the Dodgers blew apart the East in compiling a 48-24 record but the 47-42 mark against the West cost the pennant. This season, L.A. is a healthy 24-9 over its Western rivals but only 20-14 versus the East.

San Francisco comes to town in fifth place 12 games off the pace. It's obvious manager Charlie Fox's club must start to jell to remain much longer in the pennant race.

The Giants are one of the few clubs to hold a series edge over the Dodgers this season. San Francisco has enjoyed four wins in the previous seven meetings.

As expected, the Dodgers are planning for big crowds this weekend with more than 40,000 estimated both tonight (7:30 p.m.) and Saturday (7 p.m.). Sunday's Oldtimers Day attraction should attract a full house.

The Dodgers have announced tickets at all price levels are still available for tonight and Saturday. General admission tickets priced at $1.50 may still be purchased for Sunday's game on a reversed seat basis.

Andy Messersmith (7-2), who has allowed only one earned run in his last 36 innings, will take the mound tonight against the Giants' Tom Bradley (6-7). Saturday's probables are Don Sutton (6-6) vs. Jim Barr (4-3), who has hurled two consecutive shutouts. On Sunday, it is scheduled to be Tommy John (10-2) vs. Ron Bryant (2-8).

Obviously, the big attraction this weekend is Sunday's Oldtimers game. This year's theme features former Dodger and Giant stars.

Ex-Dodgers scheduled to play include Don Drysdale, Lou Johnson, Joe Medwick, Wally Moon, Andy Pafko, Pee Wee Reese, Pete Reiser, Phil Regan, Johnny Podres, John Roseboro, Roy Campanella, Joe Black, Sandy Amoros, Don Newcombe, Maury Wills, Ralph Branca and Ron Perranoski.

Willie Mays will head the Giants' delegation. Others are Johnny Mize, Dusty Rhodes, Hank Sauer, Eddie Stanky, Bill Rigney, Bobby Thompson, Monte Irvin, Sal Maglie, Casey Stengel, Wes Westrum, Len Gabrielson, Tom Haller, Sid Gordon and Herman Franks.

The Oldtimers festivities will begin at 1 p.m. with the regular Dodger-Giant game moved back to 2 p.m.

Baseball classic at Chino tonight

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — Only two days ago Jim Rawls of Chino was fit to be tied.

Two of his top players had supposedly signed pro baseball contracts leaving his South squad definite underdogs for tonight's Pomona Valley All-Star Baseball Game.

The 8 p.m. starting time at Chino High was, for the fourth year, to highlight the top 16 high school senior baseball players of the North opposing the top 16 of the South.

● Lineups, C-2

Two South stars did sign with major league teams and two others were reportedly to have inked contracts — three are pitchers — thus leaving the South's pitching plans a little weak.

Rawls must have put in a couple of words with the MAN upstairs because both Bob Salas and Dean Olson of Nogales suddenly, without warning to Rawls (the South coach), showed up to practice Wednesday night.

The result is that the pre-game underdogs are suddenly rated at least even because of their flame-throwing duo. Salas (9-1) is a righthanded fireballer while Olson (9-3) fires bullets from the port side.

Rawls said that Olson decided to hold off signing his pro contract so he could participate in tonight's game. In fact, he'll sign Saturday morning.

Salas because of legal reasons won't sign until the 28th of the month, thus making him eligible to play with the South.

Emotionally Rawls could begin to feel like a yo-yo. First he was down because of the expected signings. Then he was up when they showed up to practice. Then shortstop Scott Richartz signed with the Chicago White Sox.

The Chino coach added Cowboy Mark Milton and Rowland's Dave Bourque and tried to get the Raiders' Lew Johnson to fill the supposed vacated positions.

Then Rowland's Al Emeterio elected not to play while Bourque suffered two broken bones in his foot Thursday night in an American Legion game.

So now Rawls must come up with a third baseman.

Each team has practiced at the game site the past two days and both Rawls and North coach Herb Christian are elated with the workout sessions.

"We've really got a great bunch of guys," said Rawls. "I'm really impressed with those Nogales kids. Salas and Olson are super and that Mario Rojas (catcher) just goes and goes.

"Our outfield is our weak spot. Not defensively but at the plate. (Pat) Proulx is looking real good at shortstop and (Mike) Pittman has made a great shift to second base. We have Rod Weigand, Mark Canavan and Olson to play first. Rojas, (George) Bjorkman, and (Tracy) Cowger are three really good receivers."

"I've been impressed with the hitting. Everybody has just been wrenching the ball. Pittman hit three out of the park and Bourque blasted one the other day," concluded Rawls.

"I'm quite pleased with the practices," said Christian. "And they've had great attitudes. It's kind of strange in that they know of each other, but being basically from two different leagues (San Antonio and Hacienda) it's a nice experience having them playing together."

"Wednesday we went through the usual practices with hitting and defensive situations. But Thursday we practiced hitting and fielding in game-type situations. They've cooperated well, coming with the attitude of getting together as a team."

Both coaches agree that pitching will be the deciding factor.

"This game has to feature the best pitching staffs for both teams of any of the previous all star games." said Rawls.

And both strategists feel the game will be low scoring.

AAU finals begin today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The 86th annual National AAU track and field championships, featuring nine-flat sprinter Ivory Crockett and half-mile sensation Rick Wohlhuter, begins today on a track that could produce a cluster of world records.

The two-day, 19-event competition is scheduled on UCLA's lightning-fast Tartan surface.

Unlike last year's AAU meet at Bakersfield, Calif., the athletes will be competing in meters and not yards.

Crockett, an IBM marketing representative from Peoria, Ill., set his 9.0 100-yard dash world record at Knoxville, Tenn., May 11.

The 24-year-old former Southern Illinois University student will be matched at 100-meters against lanky Steve Williams, winner of both sprints at last year's AAU meet.

At 100-meters, the slow-starting San Diego State athlete may have the edge because the distance is longer. Also entered is NCAA 100 champion Reggie Jones, a freshman from Tennessee.

At 200-meters, the meet has drawn Jamaica's Don Quarrie, who is a co-holder of the world record at that distance.

Wohlhunter was the No. 1 half-miler in the world in 1973 and set a world 880-yard run record of 1:44.6, breaking Jim Ryun's old mark of 1:44.9 set in 1966.

This month the 24-year-old Chicago insurance adjuster bettered his 880 record with a 1:44.1 clocking at Eugene, Ore., and won the U.S. Track and Field Federation mile in 3:55.1.

In addition to Crockett, Quarrie and Wohlhuter, the meet has attracted world high jump record holder Dwight Stones and world shot put record holder Al Feuerbach. Stones (7-6 5/8) and Feuerbach (71-7) set their marks last year.

Notable absentees include North Carolina's Tony Waldrop, who was the nation's mile sensation earlier this year; Olympic long jump champion Randy Williams and the state of Oregon's brilliant long distance duo of Steve Prefontaine and Paul Geis.

Waldrop, who ran a disappointing third in the NCAA mile, wired meet director Glenn Davis that he had hurt himself in training.

Williams was disgusted after finishing second to UCLA freshman Jerry Herndon in the NCAA long jump and said he was hanging up his spikes for the year. He has been hampered by injuries this year.

And Prefontaine, last year's AAU three-mile winner, and Geis, who won the NCAA three-mile for the University of Oregon this year, are in Europe.

New Zealand has a quartet of athletes on hand, including somersault long jumper John Delamere, who attends Washington State. Other New Zealanders are John Walker, silver medalist in the British Commonwealth 1,500-meters; Rod Dixon, bronze medalist in the Olympic 1,500-meters, and Dick Quax, the world's No. 2-ranking 5,000-meter runner last year.

Dixon is entered at 1,500, Walker at 800 and Quax at 5,000.

The top two American finishers in each event will qualify for the U.S. team scheduled to face Russia at Durham, N. C., July 5-6, but the Pacific Coast Club athletes, headed by Stones and Feuerbach, plan to boycott the July competition because the AAU has placed restrictions on their summer European travel permits.

The permits prohibit the PCC athletes from competing in Europe June 30-July 7. But, according to Coast Club coach Tom Jennings, his group will leave for Europe Saturday night and compete at Stockholm July 1-2.

The AAU competition gets under way today at 3 p.m. PDT and Saturday at 1 p.m. Six finals will be held today: the high jump, long jump, discus, high hurdles, 100 and 5,000.

NBA expands into Canada

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association today voted to expand to Toronto for the 1975-76 season, but did not award the franchise to a specific group.

The move into Canada, which increases the league to 19 teams, backs up Commissioner Walter Kennedy's contention that the NBA "is going international and someday may have franchises in Europe."

Heavy purses for Hollypark stakes races

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The $50,000-added Wilshire Handicap at Hollywood Park Saturday has a field of 11 top fillies and mares for the mile and one-eighth grass test, but the weekend's highlight is Sunday's $150,000 Hollywood Gold Cup.

Entries will be taken today for the 35th running of the invitational Gold Cup, a mile and one-quarter event that will pay $90,000 to the winner.

Two of racing's big guns— Quack and Ancient Title—are expected to go against each other Sunday.

Trainer Charlie Whittingham has two entries in the Wilshire —Aaron Jones' La Zanzara and Mrs. Howard B. Keck's Tallahot. Each will carry high weight of 121 pounds.

Laffit Pincay, who rode his 103rd winner of the meeting Thursday, will be aboard Tallahot, while Howard Grant is scheduled to be ride La Zanzara.

Billy Martin's right moves defeat Angels

Grieve's blast came in the bottom of the eighth Thursday night, clearing loaded bases and leading the Texas Rangers to a 7-4 victory over the California Angels.

"Would you believe the success Billy's been having with moves he's been making lately," asked Grieve, a defensive leftfielder and spot starter. "Last night he passed me up to let (Mike) Hargrove face a lefthanded pitcher and Hargrove ties the game with a single. Tonight he brings me in in exactly the same kind of situation and I get the winning hit.

"I think our manager is hot, but that is what it takes to win pennants. Even if those are just hunches Billy has, they are paying off."

Pennant fever is slowly rising in Texas where the Rangers are just one game behind American League West leader Oakland. At two games above .500, the Rangers are hitting consistently but the pitching, particularly where it concerns starter Ferguson Jenkins, has been erratic of late.

Thursday night it was young David Clyde, disturbed in recent games by bad breaks, who went 6 1-3 innings and put down the Angels who kept threatening to break open the game. Reliever Steve Foucault came on in the seventh to snuff a rally and take the win, his third against two losses.

The Angels took a 2-0 lead against Clyde after three innings but Texas had tied it at 2-2 by the sixth. California went to 3-2 in the seventh and Texas tied it again.

In the eighth, California again went out in front with a run, but Texas opened its half of that inning with singles by Jeff Burroughs and former Angel Jim Spencer.

Len Randle failed to bunt as Burroughs charged for home on the squeeze play but umpire Bill Deegan ruled third baseman Paul Schall missed the tag and Burroughs made it back to third.

Dick Selma, a 30-year-old righthander who has been with five clubs in a 10-year major league career, was removed from the California Angels' roster pending assignment Thursday.

At the same time, the Angels announced they have recalled another righthander, Eduardo Figueroa, 25, from their Salt Lake City farm club.

Little Leagues get 'hot potato'

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

All is not peaches and pigtails with the recent National Little League decision to allow girls to do diamond battle with the boys in Little Leagues across the country.

According to Dick McCormick of Diamond Bar, the District 20 Little League administrator, the national L.L. organization has tossed a "hot potato" into the laps of the local leagues.

McCormick, whose district covers the valley area, has no qualms about letting the girls play. He is afraid, however, of some undesirable side-effects the whole movement might bring about.

He is quick to point out that the ruling can have little effect in the local area this season. Little League team rosters are "frozen" at this point and a squad could not legally add a girl even if it wanted to. But McCormick does foresee a flock of the fairer sex signing up to play L.L. ball next season. And that, as Shakespeare said, is the rub.

"The girls are happy about the decision, no questioning that," he explains. "But several things remained unsolved by the national Little League ruling.

"First off, local leagues have just about reached the saturation point as it is with the boys playing. Now you are going to throw in a sizable number of girls who want to play, and many kids as a result will not be able to play at all because there will simply be no room in the program to accommodate them."

Since, in theory, allowing the girls admittance to the world of Little League would approximately double the number of 9-12 year-olds eligible for the program, McCormick's concern over over-crowding seems justified.

"While a few girls will make the teams, the vast majority will not fair so well." McCormick realistically points out. "I hope that the girls' softball programs, sponsored by Little League, will not suffer because of this ruling. Unfortunately, it removes a lot of the pressure on the leagues to adopt a girls' softball program."

Added to the dilemma of where everybody (both boy and girl) will play, an even more serious headache seems inherent in the recent national L.L. ruling.

"Under the new ruling," explains McCormick, "any legal dificulties which might arise will have to be handled by the local leagues, and not by the national L.L. organization. Say, for instance, an irate mother sues the league for discrimination because her daughter did not make a team during tryouts. The legal burden rests on the individual league to either fight the suit or. . . ."

The inference from McCormick's remark seems obvious. The entry of the girls into the Little League ranks might become chaotic if a few overzealous parents decide to attempt to prove in court what their daughters could not prove on the diamond.

"It is my personal opinion that the national Little League headquarters adopted this new stance due to the tremendous legal costs which it was incurring," McCormick states. "Now the national headquarters has said to the local leagues 'the problem is yours', and in effect has dropped a hot potato in our laps."

McCormick is hoping for the best with the girls' entry next season, but as he says, the best thing to do for all concerned is to adopt a "wait and see" attitude.

Two German teams clash in World Cup

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — The world soccer cup turned personal today.

Divided Germany, as politely as a host can, turned its attention from the other 14 competing nations to the potentially bitter contest which brings Communist East Germany and non-communist West face-to-face in an international football match for the first time Saturday.

Police said security would be tough. Thousands of detectives and uniformed officers were ordered on duty for the match at the 60,000-capacity Volkspark Stadium, raised on ruins of World War II.

Special patrols stood by for political demonstrations and the possibility activists would choose the opportunity to cause the first violent disruption of the soccer contest.

The anarchist urban guerrilla Baader-Meinhof group has threatened rocket attacks on the Hamburg stadium and police were making special checks of surrounding areas.

Officials gave permission to 3,000 East German fans to travel to Hamburg for the game. The rest of the crowd were likely to be West German fans rooting for a team which is favorite to win the Cup, but which has not found favor with home fans for its performances to date.

Three crises have hit the West Germans in the last two days:

—Captain Franz Beckenbauer was called on the carpet for spitting and gesturing at spectators booing his side's 3-0 victory over Australia. He agreed it was wrong, but said he was provoked.

— The team complained security measures were excessive and "driving us crazy."

—There were also complaints that trainer Helmut Schoen's two sessions daily training routine was too strict.

West Germany is already through to the second final round and the main battle is for second place between East Germany and Chile.

East Germany played its cards close to its chest today. Team physician Hans Zipfel said three first-choice players, Bernd Bransch, Juergen Sparwasser and Eberhard Vogel, were injured and unlikely to play. But there was no official word on the line-up and unlikely to be until shortly before kick-off.

The Chileans were pinning their hopes on a massive victory against Australia.

Preparations continued Thursday for the other crucial Saturday matches —Scotland vs. Yugoslavia and Brazil vs. Zaire.

World Bowl site switched

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The World Football Association said Wednesday plans were switched for the league's first championship game and scheduled the contest for Jacksonville, Fla., Friday night, Nov. 29.

The "World Bowl" was scheduled originally for Hawaii, but the WFL said that construction delays on Honolulu's new Halawa Stadium precludes the field's being ready this year.

The WFL kicks off its regular season, Wednesday, July 10.

Gems rally from seven-run deficit to beat Rowland, 9-8

By MARK GRIP
P-B Correspondent

POMONA — Better late than never.

Pomona Post 30 overcame a seven run deficit for a 9-8 come-from-behind extra-inning victory over Rowland Heights Legion Thursday night at Ralph Welch Park.

Pomona, trailing 8-1, started their late rally in the seventh inning scoring three runs on five hits and a walk.

Dean Sickles and Gerard Piccioni singled to put runners at first and second where they advanced on a wild pitch. After a fly out, Dave Pedroza, batting for relief pitcher Vince Garcia, walked to load the bases. Mike Keegan singled to left to drive in a run, leaving the bases full. John Freeman, hitting for Dave Lahar, singled to center to drive in two more runs.

Sickles singled to open the eighth, and after a fly out, Larry Pekarcik singled. Mike Keegan walked to load the bases and Lahar's infield hit brought home a run.

Needing three runs to stay in the game, the Gems' Tracy Cowger opened the ninth inning with a triple to left. Roger Slayton grounded to third, then Sickles collected his third hit of the game to drive home Cowger. After a fly out, Pekarcik lined a home run to left to tie the score at 8-8.

To open the tenth, Keegan reached first on an error and went to second on Lahar's single to left. Will Lewallen sacrificed and runners up a base and Tracy Cowger was walked intentionally to fill the bases. Roger Slayton (1-0), the winning pitcher, helped his own cause by knocking in the winning run (Bill Karr who ran for Keegan) with a single to left.

Rowland looked as though they had the game put away early, scoring four in the second and twice in both the fourth and fifth innings.

Kirk Kennedy picked up an RBI in the second on a walk, and Don Pearce blasted home three with a double to center.

Ray Etchebarren and Pearce each picked up a ribbie on a triple and single, respectively, in the fourth.

The two fifth inning runs came as a result of Vyron Smith's triple and a Lewallen error.

The other Gem run came in the first on Mike Wooten's fielders choice in the first inning.

Rowland used four different pitchers in trying to thwart the Gem hitting attack. Smith, the losing pitcher, was used twice by Rowland coach Jack Hodges. Smith relieved starting pitcher Dave Bourque in the fourth inning and again in the tenth.

Walnut remained unbeaten in San Gabriel Valley Throbred League play Thurday by defeating host Charter Oak No. 2.

The Reds jumped out to a 5-0 lead and then had to hold off a Charter Oak rally to finally win, 7-3, and pick up its seventh straight league victory.

The win gives Walnut a 12-1-1 record for the season.

Red pitcher Jim Vallandingham went the distance, allowing only two hits, in picking up his sixth win of the season without a loss.

The two hits were in the fourth (a single) and the seventh (a bases loaded double).

Ken Czarnecki, who drove in a pair of runs with a single in the fifth inning, finished the day going four-for-four at the plate.

Owners nix option clause abolition

NEW YORK (UPI) — Try as they might, the National Basketball Association Board of Governors couldn't pick Commissioner Walter Kennedy's successor Thursday—but they did reject an abolition of the controversial option clause.

Kennedy, who has already resigned but will serve either until June 1, 1975 or until his successor is found, said that most of Thursday's meeting "was taken up with the discussion of a proposal negotiated between the NBA and the Players Association. The proposal would have eliminated the option clause, to be replaced by a form of right of first refusal for a team giving up a player at the time he finishes his contract."

But the owners rejected the proposal flatly.

"They didn't even have to take a vote," Kennedy said. The vote brought an abrupt halt to attempts to bring about a merger of the NBA and the American Basketball Association.

The NBA's top executive said that no compensation for a team losing a player was included in the proposed elimination of the reserve clause. The right of first refusal would give a team, whose player is playing out his option and negotiating with another team, the right to match a new and higher offer within 15 days before the player could jump teams.

"Because of this," Kennedy said, "no discussion of a possible accommodation with the ABA came up—by a merger, through legislation or through a court of law.

"The Players Association must also be satisfied because they are an interested party."

The Players Association has an injunction against the merger of the two leagues, filed in 1970, which was upheld by Justice Robert Carter of the Southern District of New York Federal Court.

Larry Fleischer, attorney for the Players Association, called the action "absurd, astonishing —this is not a proposal, this is a settlement.

"But I wasn't really shocked," Fleischer said. "After yesterday, I began to be really wary. I didn't believe anything the owners would produce from this meeting would be meaningful in any way. Nothing that was discussed leads me to believe the owners want the players to have any kind of freedom."

Fleischer said it was now up to the owners to determine if a merger with the ABA can be achieved.

After meeting more than nine hours Wednesday, the owners temporarily tabled further discussion of a successor for Kennedy and took up their television schedule and a report from legal counsel on the development of several lawsuits in which the league was involved.

Kennedy said that the Board of Governors did pick Milwaukee as the site for the 1977 All-Star Game and gave Atlanta the 1978 game. Previously, Phoenix was awarded the 1975 game and Philadelphia chosen for the 1976 classic.

Behm scores two victories

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Don Behm, an East Lansing, Mich., buzzsaw who was voted the outstanding wrestler in last year's tournament as a 125-pounder, stepped up to the 136.5 bracket Thursday night and collected two wins in the opening session of the National AAU Senior Freestyle Wrestling championships.

Behm, a 26-year-old athlete with quick, cat-like moves, pinned Robert Martinez of Lancaster, Calif., in 3:25 in his first round match and decisioned Howard Willey, Goleta, Calif., 15-0 to advance into Friday's third round.

Sports news in brief

THE LOS ANGELES AZTECS played Universidad of Mexico City to a 0-0 tie Thursday night in the driving rain at Mexico City. The Aztecs host the New York Cosmos at 3 p.m. Sunday at East Los Angeles College.

FRANK MAHOVLICH, a star winger for 20 years in the National Hockey Association, says it was the secure future offered him by the Toronto Toros which brought him to the World Hockey Association. The fourth highest scorer in NHL history will receive $1 million over the contract term with the Toros. The 36-year-old star played last year for the Montreal Canadiens.

THE AMERICAN BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION Thursday purchased the Memphis Tams franchise from Charlie Finley. The ABA will try today to decide the makeup of the league for next season with the possibility of Los Angeles obtaining an expansion club or a present team.

QUARTERBACK FRAN TARKENTON has decided to remain with the Minnesota Vikings in spite of "very generous" offers from the World Football League.

NEW YORK KNICKS' Willis Reed, the dominant force in the Knicks' 1969-70 National Basketball Association championship drive, decided Thursday he'd rather retire than face the surgeon's knife.

VETERAN CENTER WALT BELLAMY says he is quitting pro basketball because of the attitude of the New Orleans Jazz, his new team, plus a dispute with his former employer, the Atlanta Hawks.

Hunter a 'money' pitcher

By United Press International

Putting your money on Jim Hunter for a "big" game is like investing it in blue-chip stock.

Hunter is fast gaining a reputation as a "money" pitcher—the kind who performs best under pressure in an important game—and the 28-year-old righthander feels most comfortable in such a situation.

The Oakland A's ace pitched an important game against the red-hot Kansas City Royals Thursday night and came through with a five-hit shutout in leading his club to a 4-0 victory that preserved their lead in the American League West.

"I enjoy pitching in a game which calls for some bearing down. You like to throw in an important game and over a long season there just aren't that many of them," said Hunter.

Of course, winning a big game is nothing new to Hunter. Last season he pitched a shutout against Baltimore in the decisive fifth game of the AL playoffs, then won the crucial sixth game of the World Series against the New York Mets. And the year before, he won two games in the World Series, including the decisive seventh game when he worked in relief after starting the second and fifth games.

The A's, who had been in a slump of late and had seen their lead in the West Division dwindle to one-half game over Kansas City, increased their lead to one and a half games after Thursday night's victory. Kansas City had entered the game with six victories in their last eight outings, while Oakland had lost eight of its last 11.

"You can't ask for a better guy to be out there on the mound when you need a big win in the opener of an important series," said A's Manager Alvin Dark.

"He's the best money pitcher in the league," added Oakland third baseman Sal Bando.

Hunter, who picked up his first victory in nearly a week, struck out four and walked none in boosting his record to 98. Only one runner got as far as third base.

Dick Green provided a two-run homer and Bert Campaneris, back in the lineup after missing seven games because of a hand injury, collected three hits as the A's pinned the loss on Al Fitzmorris, now 6-3.

In the only other scheduled AL games, Minnesota beat Chicago 3-2, Milwaukee blanked Baltimore 6-0 and Texas defeated California 7-4.

New York beat Philadelphia 2-1 and Chicago shutout Pittsburgh 3-0 in the only National League action.

Twins 3, White Sox 2

Tony Oliva's three-run homer in the eighth inning lifted the Twins to victory over the White Sox and prevented Wilbur Wood from winning his 12th game. Wood, who had allowed only four hits over the first seven innings, was touched for two singles in the eighth before Oliva unloaded his fourth homer of the year. Bill Sharp homered for the White Sox.

Brewers 6, Orioles 0

John Briggs' grand-slam homer in the first inning and combined six-hit pitching of Ed Sprague and Tom Murphy enabled the Brewers to defeat the Orioles. The victory, which came less than 24 hours after the Brewers were no-hitted by Kansas City's Steve Busby, was only Milwaukee's second in its last 10 games.

Mets 2, Phillies 1

Rusty Staub doubled home two runs in the fifth inning and Jerry Koosman survived numerous jams to pitch the Mets to victory over the Phillies. Koosman allowed 11 hits but pitched out of a bases-loaded situation in the third and a two-on jam in fourth, fifth and ninth innings to win his seventh game.

Cubs 3, Pirates 0

Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams hit homers to support Rick Reuschel's first shutout of the season as the Cubs snapped the Pirates' six-game winning streak. Reuschel, who scattered 12 hits, allowed at least one hit in every inning, but was pulled out of jams twice by double plays and also struck out seven.

Floyd overcomes laziness, leads

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Did success spoil Ray Floyd?

"Yes," said the first round leader of the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Floyd, who shot a five-under-par 65 in Thursday's first round, with a record-setting 29 on the front side, is having his best season since 1969 when he won three tournaments, including the PGA championship.

During that year he also won the Jacksonville Open and this same American Golf Classic, setting a Firestone course record in the process with a 12-under-par 268 for 72 holes.

"I think it made me lazy," Floyd said of his earlier successes. "I got to thinking I was so good I didn't have to practice."

But now he works on his game and credits that, along with his marriage last December, with turning his game around.

"It was the best round I've played in quite a time," said Floyd, who carried a one-shot lead over Brian Allin and a two-stroke edge over Jerry McGee into today's second round.

Floyd blistered the 7,180-yard Firestone course with five birdies in his first six holes, including putts of 25, 35 and 70 feet.

"I just can't remember having a better putting round," he said.

He said he also had several putts on the back side which could have dropped, but didn't. He got his only bogey in his 29-36 round on the 17th hole when he bunkered his second shot.

Allin, a Vietnam veteran and graduate of Brigham Young University, said he played "good" but "not super."

"I played a lot of safety shots," said Allin. "On this golf course, you have to try to make par."

Allin made the turn in one under 34, getting a lone birdie on the 230-yard fifth hole with a 25-foot putt. He birdied the 11th when he hit a nine iron to within 18 inches and finished with birdies on the 16th and 18th with 10 and seven foot putts.

McGee, from New Lexington, failed to qualify for the tournament but got a sponsor's exemption.

Jim Ferriell came in with a two-under 68 to hold fourth place all alone and there were six players, including host pro Bobby Nichols at one under 69. The others included Jim Simons, Gay Brewer, Ed Sneed, Larry Ziegler and Forrest Fezler.

Top draft pick signs with S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants have signed top draft pick Terry Lee, an 18-year-old second baseman from San Luis Obispo High School, who will report to the Great Falls, Mont., team in the Pioneer League.

Lee hit .323 in 21 games this spring. His brother, Mike, signed with the Giants last March and is with Decatur of the Midwest League.

The Extraordinary Choice From Peugeot

Diesel Gasoline

It's now in America. The Peugeot 504 Diesel, from one of the world's oldest and largest manufacturers of Diesel passenger cars. Clearly this is a car whose time has come.

This is the automobile for you if you drive often and over long distances. The 504 Diesel is for you if you're concerned with getting maximum economy and efficiency in fuel usage. Or, if you're seriously concerned about the future effects of the energy shortage.

While actual mileage varies depending on road conditions, car maintenance and individual driving habits, in a typical mixture of urban, suburban and highway driving, the 504 Diesel should average around 30 M.P.G. —providing a range of well over 400 miles per tank full. Think about it!

And it has a deserved reputation for remarkable engine life. Fuel economy and durability, certainly nothing new to Peugeot, are enhanced in the Diesel because of its unique characteristics.

With no carburetor, no spark plugs, no distributor and no points or condenser, about half the normal tune-up costs are eliminated.

The Peugeot Diesel has a fuel injection system which is virtually maintenance free. Important too, the Diesel engine is so inherently clean, ecologically, it requires no emissions control devices.

With all this the Peugeot Diesel Sedan and Station Wagon offer the same comfort and handling qualities as the gasoline-powered Peugeot. As well as the same standard features. If you really drive a car long and hard, the 504 Diesel should be your car.

With all the conflicting claims from economy cars, we're tempted to call the 504 the True Economy Car. Because the 504's economy isn't just based on miles per gallon, but, on Peugeot's engine which enables the 504 to deliver maximum engine efficiency consistent with maximum engine life.

That's true economy and Peugeot has it without sacrificing performance (acceleration is 0-50 M.P.H. in 12.1 seconds as reported in a Popular Science road test—November 1973).

The mid-size 504 also gives you the inside roominess of many larger cars and provides a surprising amount of clean, usable luggage space. (Along with a separate easy-access tire compartment.) And it gives you 4-door convenience along with a special child safety lock.

The Peugeot 504 Sedan also delivers these uncommon features as standard: Michelin steel-belted radial tires, sports-car handling ease from 4-wheel independent suspension, rack and pinion steering, 4-wheel power-assisted disc brakes, fully reclining seats, and a steel-sliding roof.

We invite you to make this the year to start appreciating the Peugeot Sedan and Station Wagon. Outside. And in.

The choice is yours

Both models available in Station Wagon.

See your local dealer listed in the Yellow Pages.

EASY DOES IT — Adolf Weil of West Germany leads Ake Jonsson of Sweden and current world champion Roger DeCoster of Belgium in a European Grand Prix race. All three will compete in the Hang Ten U.S. Motorcross Grand Prix at Carlsbad.

Americans will see a few new faces in Hang Ten event

CARLSBAD — Adolf Weil, Willi Bauer and Gerrit Wolsink may not be household names to American motorcycle racing fans. But to thousands of motocross zealots across the European continent, these three dashing men are super-stars.

This trio, along with battling Heikki Mikkola of Finland and Roger DeCoster of Belgium — who were recently at each others throats again in Czechoslovakia, are standout entries in the Hang Ten U.S. Motocross Grand Prix, the eighth round in the 500cc motocross world championship which takes place at Carlsbad on July 14.

Theyare part of an invasion of motocross racing talent from fourteen nations scheduled to begin arriving at the San Diego area track following the British Grand Prix on July 7.

In order to remain in world championship contention, these men must be prepared to go all-out at this most demanding of America motocross tracks. Weil, Bauer and Wolsink have no reasons for relaxing the pace now. They are presently seeded third, fourth and fifth in the 500cc point standings behind Mikkola and DeCoster.

Only 22 points separate them, and West Germany's Weil, after a heroic ride in the recent Czech championship round, actually closed to within six points of three times world champion DeCoster who is currently lying second.

Adolf Weil, at 34 is an old hand at motocross but is still able to give the youngsters a hard time at this toughest form of motorcycle racing. A perenial German champion in both the 250cc and 500cc engine classes, Weil has been the Maico team's first string riden for a decade. Willi Bauer, another West Germany, and a Maico teamate of Weil's, will arrive at Carlsbad July 14 with the best possible credentials for victory.

He won last year's first ever world championship round there quite convincingly and will no doubt be after a double this year. At 24, Bauer is ten years younger than his teamate Weil, but he has been runnerup to him in German championships for many years.

Wolsink, of Holland, is a dentist during the non-racing season and this year he is a teamate to DeCoster riding a factory Suzuki. So far he has done an outstanding job of providing support for his hard riding teammate and at the same time he has gathered an impressive amount of world championship points for himself.

However, at the rate point-leader Mikkola and runner-up DeCoster are going it is possible that nobody will overtake them. Incredibly, after five world championship rounds in two months in Austria, France, Italy, Denmark and Czechoslovakia rht two have won every single race between them! They continued their all-out fight in Czechoslovakia on June 9 when Mikkola rode his Husqvarna to a victory in the opening 45-minute heat over DeCoster.

Rain poured down at the start of the second heat, but Mikkola again jumped into the lead. Trying too hard, the furious-riding Finn spilled on a corner, and DeCoster swept past to win as he pleased.

Following the race, DeCoster trailed Mikkola by 46 points but is closing the gap quite consistently. And if the results are indicative, these two could practically be on level footing by the Hang Ten United States Motocross Grand Prix. The same situation existed last year between DeCoster and Bauer and this helps to make the United States Grand Prix one of the most important and exciting events on the championship trail.

American Brad Lackey moved into the top ten in the championship with 24 points following the Czech round. Meanwhile youthful Tony DiStefano from Pennsylvania astounded everyone by blazing to a 12th place finish in his first European start. DiStefano, who is only 17 years old, will also compete in the Hang Ten United States Grand Prix.

Walnut's Eropkin wins three straight in 125cc

IRWINDALE — Last Friday night's CMC Motocross class winners here at Irwindale Raceway returned this week and successfully defended their triumphs before a crowd of nearly 2,000 fans.

Dave Eropkin of Walnut brought his total to three in a row in the 125cc Pros, this week polishing off Don Bongiorno of La Puente and Mike Bell of Lakewood. If he can win this class this coming Friday, he'll tie the Irwindale record of four straight.

The same is true for South Pasadena's Jim West, although on a larger scale. He hasn't failed to win at least one class here in the last seven meetings, including tonight's sweep of the 500cc Pros, and that effort has tied the Irwindale mark established at the end of last season by then factory Honda ace Dave Pessy. A victory this coming week has even more significance: he's currently tied on the all-time CMC win list with Jeff Wright at 41 firsts apiece. His next success would break that tie.

After a rough stuggle, Jeff Vidic of Glendale was able to do something few riders could this season: beat Fontana's Rex Staten in the 250cc Pros. Staten tried to move in for the kill on the final lap of the final race but couldn't complete the drive and came up empty-handed. It was Vidic's second win in a row in the class and his seventh of the year at Irwindale, more than any other 250cc Pro. West came up with a third in this class on a machine down on power.

CMC-style Motocross occurs every Friday night at Irwindale Raceway with a complete Junior and Intermediate field to fill out the racing program. Racing begins at 7:30 with adult admission only $3, youths 12-16 only $2 and kids over 7 only $1. Those younger get in free.

Drivers fare well in L.B.

LONG BEACH — Nine local drivers won their categories at the recent BMW Auto Club Association Slalom held at Veterans Memorial Stadium here.

Approximately 350 participants competed in 14 different classes in the slalom.

Bill and Barbara Foster each won firsts in their Sprites in times of 65.76 and 67.03, respectively.

Other top performers from the area in the stock class included Jim Whalen (63.63), Terri Bennett (73.81), Mark Walker (65.32), and Lecu-Boles (70.66).

Top area drivers in the modified stock class included Paul Alkeny (57.19), Rick McDermid (60.55) and Paul Volmer (50.26).

Ebeling wins at SGV track

IRWINDALE — Ontario claimer stock car driver, Gary Ebeling, scored his second main event victory of the 1974 season at San Gabriel Valley Speedway in Irwindale last weekend.

Herman Karn claimed second in the 25 lap race with former winner, Ken Smith, third ahead of Les Cooper.

Winning the 20 lap "B" feature was John Frechette who downed Buck Collins and Dave Wormley for the victory.

Herman Karn and Richard Maza won the trophy dashes.

Harry Fourdyce claimed victory in the figure eight grand finale chased to the final flag by Jose Tanasi and Bob Mastroleo.

Southland motor racing

CORONA — The United States Racing Club Midgets, one of the top developers in young racing talent in the nation, will be returning to Corona Raceway tonight, beginning at 8 p.m. competing on the big half-mile dirt oval.

USRC has developed some of Southern California finest open cockpit drivers, such as Bobby Olivero, Danny McKnight, Tony Simon, and Chris Cumberworth. In Addition, many USAC drivers have also come from USRC like Jimmy Caruthers, Danny Caruthers, and 1974 Indianapolis Rookie of the Year, Duane "Pancho" Carter.

CORONA — The Third Annual Riverside County Juvenile Hall Auxiliary Benefit T.T. Steeplechase motorcycle program will held this Saturday night, as riders from all over the West Coast and even Texas will be competing beginning at 5:30 p.m. with the Mini Cycles.

GARDENA — It may be Bob Sanders of Whittier, another rookie, who finally catches up with rookie expert Rob Morrison of Granada Hills in the American Motorcycle Association $55,000 summer championship series at Ascot tonight.

Morrison, the protege of his rider-landlord, Terry Dorsch, added the trophy dash to his second straight main-event victory last Friday, but Sanders also demonstrated that he is beginning to unravel Ascot's mysteries, too.

GARDENA — The first in a series of three events in the annual "Destruction Derby Nationals" will follow the weekly Figure 8 and oval stock car races at Ascot next Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Featuring drivers from both inside and outside California, the demolition extravaganza will have its own point fund in addition to weekly cash awards.

The finale on July 4 will be part of a "Four Star" program including the Figure 8's "Firecracker Open," a gigantic fireworks display, and an air show, with Lindy Lindenberg in the starring role.

IRWINDALE — A new name has emerged among the stars of NSACAR sportsman racing in competition at San Gabriel Valley Speedway in Irwindale on Friday nights.

Driving out of Yucaipa John Weible, at the wheel of his 1964 Chevelle, moved into third place in points toward the track championship on June 1.

At that time four-time champion, Ivan Baldwin again held the lead with 314 points followed by Jack Roberts with 222 while Weible was only six points back of Roberts with 216.

IRWINDALE — Ken Smith of El Monte seems to have found the winning combination in claimer stock car racing at San Gabriel Valley Speedway and will be back trying for another main event victory this Saturday night.

Smith had scored four trophy dash wins in the first 11 races of 1974, but victory in the longer main events continued to elude him.

SAN BERNARDINO — Alan Brown of San Bernardino has suddenly become a threat to the superstars of NASCAR sportsman stock car racing at his hometown Orange Show Speedway.

The young driver will wheel his 1964 Chevelle into competiton this Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. against leading competitors, Ivan Baldwin and Jack Roberts.

The official NASCAR point standings on June 1 showed Baldwin leading in points toward the championship with 362 followed by Roberts with 320.

NCAA tennis finals a wide-open affair

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — With Stanford's Alex Mayer gone, the NCAA tennis title figured to be a wide-open affair this year and that's exactly the way it's turned out.

Top-seeded Brian Teacher of UCLA was beaten Thursday as was second-seeded Victor Amaya of Michigan, No. 3 seeded John Andrews of the University of Southern California and No. 4-seeded George Hardie of Southern Methodist.

Two seeded players — Stanford's John Whitlinger (No. 5) and USC's Sashi Menon (No. 7) —and two unseeded ones — Chico Hagey of Stanford and Steve Wedderburn of Oklahoma City, that's who

The semifinals will be held at UCS's David X. Marks Tennis Stadium at 10 a.m. (PDT) today with Whitlinger and Menon pitted in a best-of-five set match that could decide the team championship.

The finals are Saturday at 1 p.m.

After Thursday's fourth day of competition, the defending champion Cardinals, despite Mayer's decision not to be here, had moved ahead of the Trojans into first place in the team totals.

Stanford had 24 points to 23 for USC and had advanced two singles players as well as the fifth-seeded doubles team of Jim Delaney and Whitlinger.

The Trojans, the only team left with a chance of dethroning Stanford, had Menon left in the singles, plus the top-seeded doubles duo of Andrews and Menon remaining.

The Stanford and USC doubles teams are at opposite ends of the doubles bracket. Two doubles rounds are scheduled today following the WhitlingerMenon and Hagey-Wedderburn matches.

Teacher, a 6-4 sophomore from San Diego, was knocked off by Terry Moor of Northeast Louisiana 2-6, 6-2, 7-6 in Thursday morning's fifth round.

Whitlinger disposed of Hardie 6-4, 6-3 in the quarterfinals, while Hagey upset Amaya 7-6, 7-6 in another quarterfinal match.

Andrews bowed to Freddie de Jesus of Michigan 4-6, 7-6, 7-5 in the fifth round.

In the team scoring after four days, Michigan and Miami (Fla.) were tied for third place with 18 points apiece followed by UCLA and SMU with 17 each. North Carolina with 13, Houston with 12 and Trinity (Tex.), California and Arizona with 11 each.

Orioles sign Trojan star

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — All-America third baseman Rich Dauer of NCAA champion University of Southern California became a member of the Baltimore Orioles Thursday, signing a contract for a "substantial bonus."

Dave Ritterpusch, director of scouting for the Orioles, announced that the 21-year-old Colton, Calif., product will report to Baltimore's Southern League farm club at Asheville, N.C., Monday.

"This is the biggest thrill of my life," said Dauer, who set three NCAA single season records this year. "It's a great organization.

"Baltimore always seems to be fighting for the pennant and they seem to be rebuilding now, too."

Dauer, a 6-foot, 180-pounder, helped USC win its fifth straight NCAA title last week at Omaha, Neb., and was the No. 1 choice of the Orioles in the regular phase of the June free agent draft.

Although Baltimore drafted 24th, Dauer was eighth on the Orioles' draft list, according to Ritterpusch.

Keep hedges in trim shape

Take pride in your hedge. A clipped row of green is a marvelous contribution to the landscape.

On the matter of clipping, the important thing with a formally clipped hedge is to clip it to a pyramidal shape so that the base is wider than the top. This permits the lower reaches of the hedge to absorb the maximum amount of sunlight and stay healthy and dense, rather than thinly foliaged and rangy. You can either round the top or shear it flat. It really doesn't make much difference.

If you seek the strictly formal look of traditional gardens, you have to insure that the top is evenly trimmed and level from one end of the hedge to the other. It's a simple matter to do this if you stretch a string tightly between two stakes at the height you want your hedge. Then clip to that height all the way. This is most important with low to medium hedges since slight variations show more.

According to the California Association of Nurserymen, the other matters of importance to happy hedges are water and food. Few gardeners seem to realize that most hedges like plenty of water and at least two annual feedings. This is no problem where the hedge is next to lawn or flower beds, but many hedges that border a drive or mark a boundry see no water from one rain to the next. A long soaker hose stretched out at the roots insures thorough soaking. As for food, use a complete fertilizer in spring and early summer.

Hedge materials vary widely with the Privet family leading the way.

SOD, THE INSTANT LAWN

A lawn is essential for a good appearance of the grounds. When you have a good lawn it shows off the rest of the garden at its very best.

Every turf or lawn expert will say that the best time to start a new lawn, especially from seed, is in the fall. But here we are in the spring and you need a lawn—immediately. There is one simple solution. Put down sod. When given proper care, sod can be put down at any time, spring or fall.

Bill Meachem

Sod, as we all know, consists of the actual grass plants in a sheet or roll, like carpet. The green is seen immediately. But if you look at sod closely you will see that it has only a fraction of the roots that a normal grass plant will have. Most of the roots were left in the field where the sod was removed. This is an important thing to remember.

There is also a feeling that sod can be put down on any soil—even that which looks and feels like concrete—and it will grow and flourish. Not so. If you are going to pay the high price one does for sod, give it some good soil to grow in. Prepare the soil just as you would if you were going to plant seed. Add plenty of peat moss and mix this into the upper few inches. Rent a tiller for a day and you will save a lot of digging.

Add some fertilizer. Use one of those made especially for lawns, one with a high nitrogen content. I like to rake the fertilizer into the upper inch when I am raking to smooth out the soil after tilling.

As for the sod: order it in advance. Ask for delivery—from the sod farm directly, if possible—on a day when you can lay it down immediately, which means you should have your soil prepared. Don't let your sod stand around for any length of time; it will start to decompose just like compost if given the opportunity. This is why we advise ordering the sod "from the farm" rather than taking a chance on some that may have been standing in the store for a week or so.

When putting down the sod, make sure that what roots are left make good contact with the soil. Any gap between soil and sod could result in the sod's drying out.

Roll the sod with a lawn roller after it has been laid. This is done to further insure contact between roots and soil. Of course, you should have raked the area pretty thoroughly so that it is nice and smooth. Sod goes on much easier over smooth soil.

Now comes the important part: Be sure to water the sod immediately, and keep it moist for most of the summer. Water it every day if necessary. The reason: Those roots that were removed must be replaced, and the only way they will grow well is by their having ample water. You also need more water than normal because the reduced number of roots have to work harder to get it.

Send for my FREE garden planner that tells how you can achieve a continuous vegetable harvest and flower selection all summer long. Write to me at the address below.

Not all sod is 100 per cent free of weed. There may be a few popping up here and there. The most practical way to eliminate them is with one of the spot weed killers. The aerosol Raid Weed Killer works fine and has the added convenience of leaving a foam on the plant so you know which ones you have sprayed.

Your new sod will also need fertilizing during the growing season. Put on an application during the warm weather—making sure to water it in—and still another in the fall. Once the sod becomes established it will grow as fast as other grasses. For the first year, at least, set the mower so that it will cut at a height of 1½ inches, no shorter.

Dear Bill:

What I would like to do is plant some bush fruits and have them double as landscape shrubs. Do you have any suggestions?

Ruth Willey
Compton, Calif.

Dear Ruth:

Yes, a good choice would be the blueberry. This is a handsome plant that is also useful as a hedge. In spring it will have pinkish-white flowers, in summer heavy crops of berries and in the fall the foliage turns reddish, making it ornamental as well as fruitful.

All about vegetables

Be sure soil's right

The best advice a gardener ever had was "Don't try to live with an unfavorable soil." Nothing dampens the enthusiasm for a garden more quickly than hard to manage soil.

What is favorable soil? Seed packets say "Plant in well drained, sandy loam." That is soil in which water moves quickly, never completely shutting off movement of air through the soil. When water replaces air in clay soil the roots suffocate.

A very sandy, light soil is well drained but frequent watering washes out nutrients.

The only quick way to change either clay or sandy soil to a substitute for a rich loam is with the addition of organic matter. Not just a little, but lots of it! The quanitity must be large enough to physically change the structure of the soil. About one-third of the final mix should be organic. This can be any one or a combination of compost, manure, sawdust or ground bark.

Spread a 2" thick layer of organic matter over the soil and in addition spread the recommended amount of a commercial fertilizer (4-5 pounds of 5-10-10 per 100 square ft.) and till both layers into the soil thoroughly.

In using raw sawdust, add one-half pound of actual nitrogen for 10 cubic feet of sawdust, i.e., using 18 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer for 100 square feet covered with a 2" layer of sawdust.

Peat moss alone needs to have ground limestone added at the rate of 5 pounds per 100 square feet.

If you would like more details on rate of application, there is a chapter on this subject in the book "All About Vegetables", published by Chevron Chemical Company, Ortho Division and sold locally.

For the small space, rooftop, pot-box-tub gardener, garden supply stores have soil substitutes which have many advantages over the out door vegetable plot and are almost foolproof as a growing medium.

Gardening up in Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — In Dallas gardening is up 200 per cent over what it was last year and people who never before planted anything except flowers now are going in for vegetables. High prices, satisfaction and physical fitness all figure as reasons.

People even are raising vegetables in the flower beds. Texans, as gardeners everywhere, wonder how much they can expect from their plots, or from tomato plants kept in pots and cans.

"How much they can save on grocery bills, I wouldn't even hazard a guess," says County Agricultural Agent Steve Wheless.

They're doing something better than guessing at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Dallas County. They're conducting tests, hoping to come up with good answers to the questions about crop yield.

Listen to Benny Simpson, farm manager and horticulturist with the experiment station:

"In one of the center's gardens, a typical 50 foot by 40 foot size, we've planted potatoes, beets, radishes, turnips, broccoli, cabbage, onions, lettuce and spinach.

"We are trying to see how big a family this little garden will take care of. Intensive vegetable production means keeping the ground occupied with vegetables year 'round."

Simpson is conducting another experiment. He has obtained "old timey" vegetable seeds, that is seeds saved from season to season, sometimes for generations, from 50 persons from Mississippi to California.

He is growing them to determine whether they taste better than modern, upgraded varieties.

Some old folks think old timey vegetables taste better than hybrid varieties. Simpson thinks this may be because people don't taste things as well when they are older as when they are young. The taste buds aren't as lively.

Seed sales boom in '73

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —In Sacramento where the skies are clear and unpolluted all the livelong day, the garden movement isn't just to keep the food bill down.

"They're energy gardens," according to Steven Keiter, dealer division manager for western states at the Burpee Seed Co., in Riverside.

Scott readying new products

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — I have 480 shares of Scott Paper (NYSE) bought between 1929 and 1932. Over the years, these shares have doubled and tripled but in the last few years the dividend was cut in half. As thousands of dollars have been lost in the last years, I would like your advice on whether to hold or sell.—O.N.

A — Although from your original purchase of 40 shares (3 splits increased the number of shares 12-fold) you still have a substantial gain, your investment has dropped a discouraging 62.5 per cent in the last decade. A combination of a year-to-year drop in the P-E and no real earnings progress has gradually eroded the value of the stock since 1965.

The reduction in the dividend rate in 1971 followed a sharp decline in earnings. In the last two years, earnings have recovered but only a small increment in the dividend rate has been forthcoming. The present 14 cents quarterly payment may be liberalized before the year is out, since it represents only a 34 per cent payout rate versus a 59 per cent average rate for the past five years.

Capital spending for this year may run in excess of $100 million, up 25 per cent over the 1973 level. This, as well as research spending — equal to 51 cents per share last year — is bullish over the long term. In fact, several new products now in the development and test marketing stages should begin contributing to profits next year. Higher earnings are indicated for the current year and shares are well worth retaining for recovery.

Q — We have two children entering college soon. We hold Putnam Growth and Putnam Investors Funds. We have been advised to switch Growth into Investors and to buy Putnam Income with over $10,000 savings.—S.S.

A — While Investors has had a somewhat better performance record, the yield from income dividends is slightly lower. The somewhat broader exposure afforded by holding both funds seems advisable. With two children to educate, I would strongly urge you to leave your $10,000 intact.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Last week as a whole was an obvious letdown after the record surge of the previous one but the pullback thus far has been well within normal technical bounds," says E.F. Hutton & Co. Reduced volume combined with lower prices shows that traders who bought stocks in the hope interest rates would ease are not in a rash to sell, the firm notes. "If volume continues to remain light, we would expect to see a firmer trend begin to develop within a session or two with better quality growth issues again leading the way," it adds.

"By now it should be apparent that the snap-back in economic activity expected by many forecasters following the end of the energy crunch has not appeared," according to Manufacturers Hanover Trust. The bank says a recovery in the second-half of the year seems unlikely. "Consumer spending remains sluggish in real terms, unemployment is climbing, factory output has not changed much in the past few months, and homebuilding is threatened with a renewed decline," it adds.

"Although the market is in excellent technical shape, the unprecedented spread between money rates and Treasury yields has made the government securities market reversals," says The Chase Manhattan Bank. It notes that this spread rarely exceeded 250 basis points from 1969 to 1973, but today the range has widened to 350 basis points. "Thus, the very same forces that created this yield differential — the relative shortage of supply and investors' enhanced preference for highest quality— also have saddled this market with added volatility," the bank says.

Corporate profits after taxes climbed 12 per cent in the first quarter of 1974 to a new high while the stock market floundered, says Continental Bank of Chicago. "In part, this may have reflected the fact that the major share of the profit gains was concentrated in a very few industries," the bank continues, "although the large majority of industries certainly showed a better performance than in the year-ago period." But the bank says the most important factor is the feeling corporate profits were based on rampant inflation.

Townsend-Greenspan & Co says it expects the seasonally adjusted Consumers Price Index for March to register about half the 1.3 per cent rise recorded for February. "Only a negligible increase is expected in food prices and oil price gains, while still large, should be less than in February," it continues. Pricetags on apparel, consumer durables and services should be higher in March, the firm predicts. It estimates a 0.7 per cent seasonally adjusted hike in the index for both March and April.

"From almost any viewpoint, except that of the 'super bear', the stock market's basic technical position seems to have progressively gained strength during the past five months," according to Abraham & Co. Any further setback below the 1974 market low will be only brief and marginal, the firm says. "The likelihood of a sustained advance into the Dow 900's has become dedidedly greater than the risk of a sustained decline into the 700's," it adds.

"It is relatively easy to frighten yourself out of stocks by worrying about a big market break, and apparently a lot of people have been doing just that," says the Predictor, a West Hartford, Conn., letter. But investors are distracted by demons that will not emerge to depress the market, according to the letter. It urges investors to "take advantage of any remaining downtime to add to positions in favored securities."

Within the near future, "the stock market will realize with a rush that most common stocks now represent truly outstanding and lasting investment values," according to the Wright Bankers Service. "We are, however, presently continuing to withhold new commitments until growing financial pressures force a reversal of adamantly restrictive Federal Reserve Board monetary policy."

Cronkite talks with Solzhenitsyn

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A number of American newsmen may have done a double take when Walter Cronkite suddenly disappeared in the midst of President Nixon's Middle East tour.

The CBS anchorman was not rushing back home for a Watergate exclusive or prostrate from the desert heat, but secretly interviewing exiled Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn in Switzerland.

"We had finally convinced him to sit down for an interview'" Cronkite said in a telephone interview from Rome. "We had been trying to do it since February and his schedule finally permitted it.

"I would have liked to have seen the faces of the other newsmen when I didn't show up on the tour."

Cronkite said CBS underwent a series of delicate negotiations to convince Solzhenitsyn to be interviewed. "There was a certain uneasiness in his mind about being interviewed," Cronkite said. "He was still shocked by what he felt was the aggressive and rude tactics of the press that covered him after his exile."

Solzhenitsyn was surrounded by a mammoth press corps after being stripped of his citizenship last February and exiled to the West for his anti-Soviet writings.

Since his exile he has decided to live in Switzerland and continue his writings, especially the "Gulag Archipelago," which details the horrors of Stalinism.

"When he lived in the Soviet Union, there was almost no press around him," Cronkite said. "But then when he emerged in the West, it was a great cultural shock for him to be pursued by the press.

A spokesman for CBS News in New York said the initial contacts for the interview began when Solzhenitsyn emerged from exile in Frankfort.

He said the first attempt to reach the author was made through friends of the writer there. Later Solzhenitsyn was provided with copies of CBS News interviews, including a broadcast in which three Russian intellectuals discussed the repression of dissent in their homeland.

Once he was convinced of the motives of CBS, the spokesman said, Solzhenitsyn agreed to the interview, and Cronkite arrived in Zurich Sunday, June 16.

The program will be aired Monday at 10 p.m. EDT.

Belly dancer wants to show Sadat her art

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Habeba the belly dancer wants to perform her exotic gyrations in the White House when President Sadat of Egypt visits the United States.

"As a professional belly dancer, I feel that it would be a fine gesture for this country to demonstrate to President Sadat and all the peoples of the Middle East the United States' approval of this ancient art form by entertaining the President of Egypt with an American belly dancer," she wrote Nixon recently.

Habeba, who says she has taught 2,500 women and men to belly dance in her "Middle Eastern Belly Dance Studios," has performed with the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony.

Black films show new maturity

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "Claudine" is a black picture that is not a black exploitation picture. It stars James Earl Jones and Diahann Carroll and Miss Carroll thinks "Claudine" is a sign of the new maturity of black pictures. What's more, she says we have President Nixon to thank for the change.

"The era of black exploitation films is ending," she says. "And President Nixon has had a lot to do with that. He's brought everybody together. He's ripping everybody off, no matter what race. So the blacks don't feel they have to get Whitey any more — he's already been gotten and so has Greeny and Purpley and everybody."

Political considerations aside, "Claudine" should be a winner and should put some new zing in Diahann's career. There has been talk of turning it into a TV series, but she says she doubts she'll do it — "TV is too time-consuming."

The picture is another bit of happiness for Diahann, who is suddenly a happy person.

"It's a lovely world," she says. "For a long time, I was a success in my professional life and I was a success in raising my daughter but my personal life was pretty much ups and downs. But lately I've been giving more thought to my personal life, too, and it's working out."

She's come a long way and somehow she got on the subject of one of her early disappointments — when she was 15 and got a job selling hats at Macy's in New York.

She was underage and couldn't get working papers. She lied about her age but her bosses kept saying she had to produce working papers and she kept stalling them.

"They were good to me," she says, "because I was a very good saleslady — I could really sell hats."

One of the buyers took an interest in her and began edging her toward a career as a buyer. That would have been a coup, because the buying field has always been closed to blacks, and it had only been recently been opened up to Jews.

Eventually, Diahann could stall no longer and had to produce some documentation of her age. She was called into the office that night and told that she was being "terminated."

"Oh, that's good," Diahann said. "I thought maybe you'd fire me."

Then they explained to her that "terminated" was just a fancy way of saying "fired." She had thought it meant that they were moving her to another department.

There have been a lot of years since then, a lot of songs sung and roles acted and money earned and triumphs and disasters.

There were all those years on Broadway and then her ground-breaking series, Julia. And now, in "Claudine," she shows what a really first-rate actress she is. She plays a woman with six kids who finds a new love but it isn't an easy one. She's almost plain — as plain as she can be — in the film. That, in itself, takes some acting.

PORTRAIT OF COURAGE — Jill Kinmont, left, former Olympic skier who became a paraplegic after a skiing accident will have the story of her life filmed. Playing Miss Kinmont in the movie, will be Marilyn Hassett, shown with her. The movie will be entitled "The Other Side of the Mountain." Miss Kinmont is now a teacher.

'The Other Side of the Mountain'

Story of crippled skier to be made into movie

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Courage is a girl named Jill Kinmont, the Olympic skier who became a paraplegic after a skiing accident and whose life story is being filmed in "The Other Side of the Mountain."

Operating an electrically controlled wheelchair, Jill maneuvered a ramp (especially built for her) at the Hawthorne School in Beverly Hills and came to a stop in her office. She has been a teacher in remedial reading at the grammer school for seven years.

"I'm what they call a partial quadraplegic," Jill said cheerfully enough. "But I get around beautifully."

Jill Kinmont smiles a great deal. At 37 her face is youthfully beautiful, displaying no inkling of the physical pain and psychological torture she unmistakably has suffered in the 19 years since she broke her neck on the slopes in Alta, Utah.

With the help of braces Jill feeds herself with her left hand and writes with her right.

"This movie has had an emotional impact on me," she said. "It's strange to see someone else playing your own life. But I thought it would be more traumatic for me than it has been.

"I was on the set the day they did the accident up in Mammoth (Calif.). It was so incredibly done —in three or four separate stages —that it seemed unrelated to me.

"The way it was filmed isn't the way it really happened. It was all over in a matter of a split second, compared with the two days it took to film it with stunt girls and stunt men.

"For me the emotional impact was being up in the mountains and the snow. I had a tremendous urge to ski."

For a moment Jill's eyes held a faraway gleam. There is an esthetic quality to skiing, she said, that surpasses sport. At age 18, when the accident took place, skiing was practically Jill's whole life.

Jill, too, had to accustom herself to seeing actress Marilyn Hassett playing Jill Kinmont. It wasn't an easy adjustment.

"In scenes where she is working with children —as I do here —I was really pulling for Marilyn. The director pulled a lot of emotion out of her."

Jill and Marilyn have not become fast friends —purposely. Marilyn doesn't want to copy or imitate Jill. To avoid it, she relies on information given her by Jill's brother, Jerry, to give accuracy to her portrayal.

"I love it here at the school," Jill said. "There isn't time to look back or to indulge in regrets.

"You move on, even when you don't feel like it. I had a great deal of love and care when I was a child. I was secure. That has helped me tremendously in the time since the accident.

"When certain things are expected of you, you meet the challenge. My closest girl friend had polio two years before my accident. She was in a wheelchair and was an example of real courage.

"Not being able to use my hands and fingers bothers me most of all. But the first thing that flashed into my mind when I realized my condition was to deal with the situation —not remorse."

Jill Kinmont flashed her ever-ready grin and the wheelchair was forgotten.

Count Basie to play at Plaza Gardens

ANAHEIM — Jazz great Count Basie and his orchestra with soul artist The Main Ingredient will provide entertainment at Disneyland Sunday through June 29.

An array of daytime and evening pageantry, highlighted by the Main Street Electrical Parade and a new Fantasy in the Sky fireworks display, will also complement the more than 50 major attractions.

Heralded by man as "one of the great American jazz bandleaders," Basie and his orchestra will perform for guests at Main Street's Plaza Gardens from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Main Ingredient will bring "soul sounds" to Tomorrowland Stage each evening during the week. Featuring their current hit, "I Just Don't Want To Be Lonely," and favorites "Everybody Plays the Fool" and "You've Got To Take It," the group will perform at 10 p.m. and midnight.

Evening hours feature color by the Main Street Electrical Parade at 9 and 11:30 p.m.

John Prine

Singer-songwriter combines imagination, wit and guitar

By GARY P. THOMAS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Take one 27-year-old expostman, stir in plenty of fertile imagination with a tinge of wit, add one weatherbeaten guitar and you have John Prine, singer-songwriter.

Prine, 27, with three albums under his musical belt, has established himself as one of the most talented "folkies" to come on the scene since a scruffy, scrawny kid named Bob Dylan unleashed himself on an unsuspecting musical world 13 years ago.

Prine has often been compared to Dylan. The scratchy, raunchy voice with a twang does evoke memories of a younger Dylan. But there the comparison ends.

Dylan remains distant and aloof, coming out of his seclusion only for a rare appearance. He does not talk to the press or public and only recently went on his first tour in years.

Prine, on the other hand, keeps up a fairly regular touring schedule. He exudes a warmth and humor that Dylan lacks, and is a friendly, affable man who is more than willing to sit down over a beer and talk.

Pre Is Fun

John Prine is, to put it simply, fun. His songs "Illegal Smile" and "Paradise" have delighted audiences since he started playing clubs and coffeehouses around his hometown of Chicago.

"I started playing 12 years ago," Prine said. "My parents got me a guitar from Sears and I learned seven chords in six months. I thought I was a musical genius."

Prine lived his early years in a town that no longer exists, Paradise, Ky., about which he wrote the song "Paradise" which was recorded on his first album.

"We left Paradise when I was young and moved to Chicago," Prine said. "We always meant to go back but we never did. The Peabody Coal Company bought up all the land, tore down the town and strip-mined it away. The place looks like the moon now."

Prine did a stint in the Army, serving in Germany. After he got out in 1967, Prine got a job in Chicago as a postman but quit after he got "tired of dogs chasing me."

Best train song

It was then he met Steve Goodman, the author of the hit song "City of New Orleans," a song Prine calls the "best damn train song ever written."

"I met Steve when I was playing around Chicago, getting $20 a night gigs," Prine recalled. "I heard 'City of New Orleans' on the radio and thought the guy who was singing it had to be a tall, skinny guy with a beard. I finally met him and he was a clean-shaven, short, stout guy. But he was still singing the best damn train song I ever heard."

Prine's songs about unforgettable characters such as "Sam Stone", the Vietnam veteran drug addict who returns home with a "purple heart and a monkey on his back", gained him a large and enthusiastic following. But it was his buddy Steve Goodman who nudged him up to stardom.

Goodman was playing in Chicago as the second act to Kris Kristofferson, another songwriter who was already a success. Goodman urged Kristofferson to come hear his friend, who was playing at another club. He agreed, and the two went over after their last show to hear Prine.

The hour was late and crowd was already gone but Prine got up on the stage and ran through a couple of songs for his select after-hours audience.

Like Dylan

"We were floored," Kristofferson wrote in the liner notes for Prine's first album. "It was what it must have felt like hearing Dylan for the first time in the (Greenwich) Village back then."

Kristofferson got Prine a contract with Atlantic Records and Prine's musical stock rose quickly after that. His first album was entitled "John Prine," followed by "Diamonds in the Rough" and a third, "Sweet Revenge," was just recently released.

He now plays sellout auditoriums of thousands where he used to play clubs that could barely hold 100. He doesn't like playing clubs much anymore, and his recent appearance at a small, intimate Ann Arbor coffeehouse was rare for him. He now wants to try some new musical directions and get a permanent backup group together.

"I want to put together a regular touring band this summer, emphasizing a different kind of writing," Prine said. "I want to use music to build moods as well as lyrics."

During his Ann Arbor show, he stopped in the middle of a song and chuckled, "Ain't that amazing? All done with three guitar chords."

Bicycle sales in 1973 totaled 15.4 million bikes, according to the Bank of America.

'Father's Day' set at Hartford theater

HOLLYWOOD — Oliver Hailey's comedy, "Father's Day," starring Carole Cook and Barbara Rush, will open a four-week engagement at the Huntington Hartford Theater July 10.

Winner of a 1973 Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle award for distinguished achievement, the Hartford presentation will be co-produced by James A. Doolittle for the Greek Theater Association and Miss Rush.

"Father's Day" is a cuastic comedy about the effects of divorce on three women who live in the same New York apartment building and have the common bond of being divorcees. The dialogue is laced with hilarious barbs as Hailey reveals these three losers as mostly having only themselves to blame.

The cast includes Gwynne Gilford, Paul Kent, Jordan Rhodes and Tom Troup, who will also direct the production.

Performance schedule is Tuesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. Matinees will be on Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 p.m. There will be one low-priced preview performance on July 9. The production will remain at the Hartford through Aug. 4.

Tickets are available at all agencies and the Hartford box office.

★ ★ ★

One of the CBS "Kojak" episodes for the new season will be the first two-hour segment for this normally one-hour program. Title is "Another Fine Mess," with Michael Constantine, Tige Andrews and Sheree North backing up star Telly Savalas.

★ ★ ★

A new member of the cast of ABC's daytime serial, "One Life to Live," is Lisa Richards, who plays a nurse and who is a veteran of other video serials.

★ ★ ★

Henry Fonda's one-man stage vehicle, "Clarence Darrow," in which he portrays the late noted attorney, using material from the many cases in which Darrow was involved, will turn up in a television adaptation on NBC Sept. 4 as a 90-minute program.

★ ★ ★

Group W, the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., has a series of 12 children's specials, "Call It Macaroni," coming up for 1974-75. Prime outlet will be the five Group W stations, but the half-hour programs dealing with American history and culture will be in syndication to stations everywhere.

★ ★ ★

NBC will be back with the National Hockey League for a third season during 1974-75. The network will telecast 14 regular season games, 13 on Sundays and one on Saturday, all in the afternoon. Also, there will be telecasts of Stanley Cup playoff games, which could run to seven.

Diana Gould, who wrote the script for ABC's "I Love You...Goodbye," a "Tuesday Movie of the Week" presentation this season, received a $10,000 cash award in the Second Annual Television Population Script Awards competition. The top prize was not awarded in the first year of the award.

★ ★ ★

Dropped by NBC on a daily network basis, Dinah Shore next season will work for CBS as host of a daily 90-minute program for the network's five owned stations. It is likely that her show will be syndicated to other stations around the country.

★ ★ ★

The Hughes Television Network will be deep in pro football during the coming season. From NLF Films, a subsidiary of the National Football League, it has acquired rights to 28 programs. During the summer, it will be telecasting 13 half-hour films called "NFL in Action," depicting past activities as a warmup for the new season. There will follow 15 one-hour programs, "This Week in Pro Football," beginning the weekend of Sept. 21-22, that will review play of the previous week.

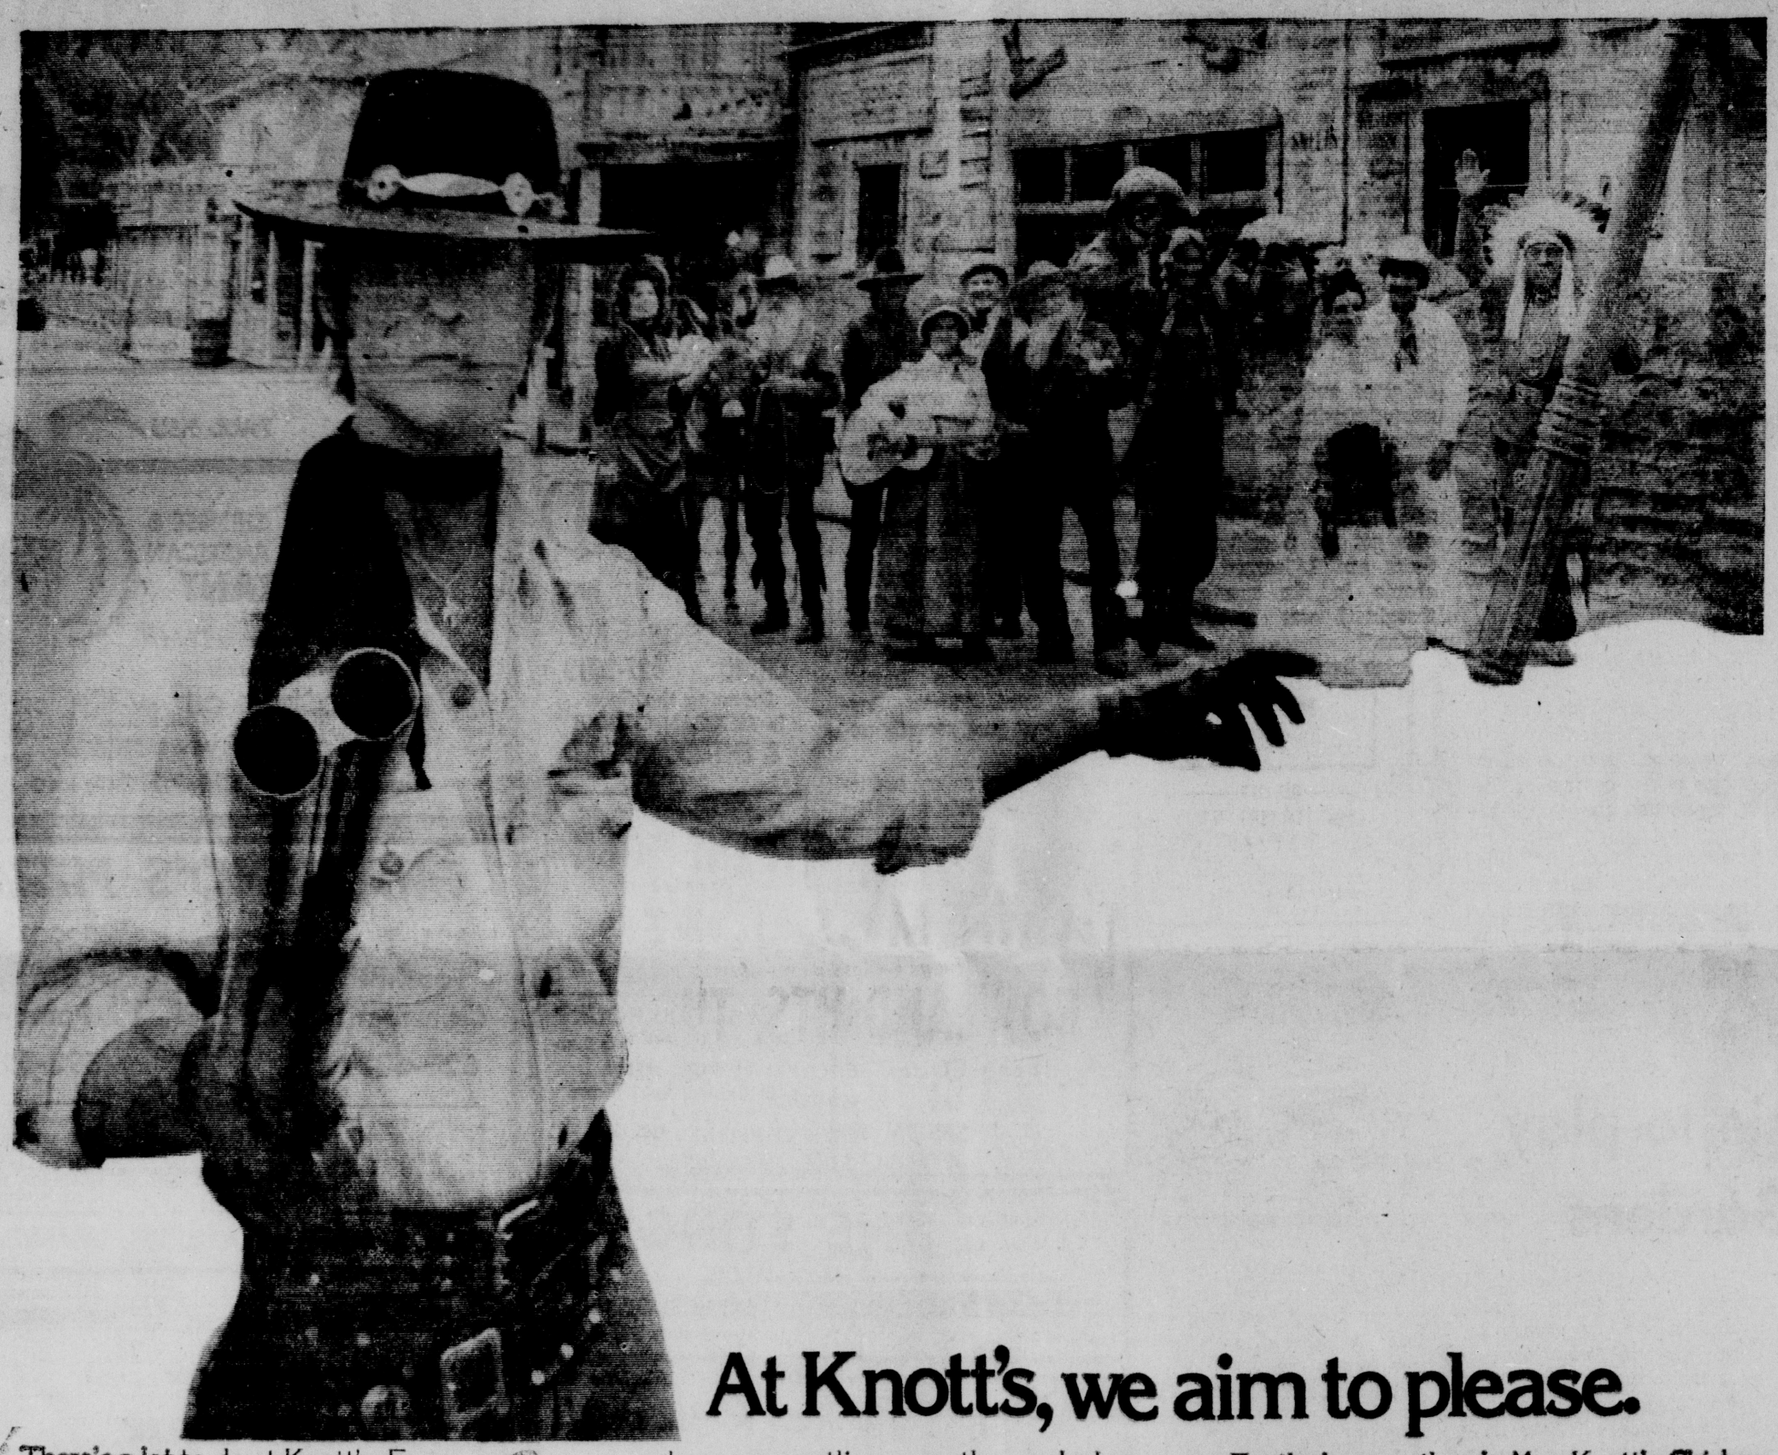
Pentagon says GIs must file for back pay

WAHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon says it owes back pay to tens of thousands of servicemen who served during October, November, and December, 1972-but they must file claims for it.

A spokesman said that the raises were based on a Court of Appeals decision ordering President Nixon to pay salary raises to civilian and military employes that he withheld. A typical E5, or Army sergeant with four years in the service in 1972 would be due about $86.

Fomer servicemen were asked to file claims including their name, social security number, rank, current mailing address, date of separation and duty station during October-December, 1972.



At Knott's, we aim to please.

There's a lot to do at Knott's. From panning for gold to a thrilling log ride down Timber Mountain. From shopping for turn-of-the-century toys to eating a genuine buffalo burger.

But you don't have to do anything to enjoy Knott's. Because... if you like...we'll entertain you all day long.

You're walking Ghost Town, enjoying the old west when gunshots ring out! It's a shoot-em-up showdown between a sheriff and two "funfighters".

You amble into the blacksmith shop, and watch horseshoes being forged in a shower of sparks.

Hiss the villain.

A barker hustles you into the Birdcage Theater for an old-fashioned melodrama. Hisssssss! Boooo! Yeeaayyhh!

Outside, a pretty girl gives a concert on an old steam calliope.

Fiddlin' Charlie plays a hoedown while you buy a hot dog and boysenberry juice at Sutters.

Aunt Hattie shows you how to spin outside an old log cabin.

In Fiesta Village mariachis play and Mexican dancers whirl and turn to the harps and guitars.

You amble over to the Knott's John Wayne Theater to take in the Wild Animal Follies... with wild animals live and uncaged on stage...

and a man wrestling a panther and a bear.

Back outside, you step into Gypsy Camp to see Zoltan's puppets.

Music, music, music.

Dusk. And it's time to relax around the fire in Wagon Camp, listening to country rock performers.

Back to the Knott's John Wayne Theater in time for the evening performance by a top name star. Like Rick Nelson. Kenny Rogers and the First Edition. Kay Starr. Or the Lennon Sisters.

Outside again and over to the lake to watch Knott's Incredible Fireworks Machine blaze into action.

Like we said, all you have to do is show up. Knott's will entertain you.

Thrilling rides.

Of course, for the action hungry, Knott's is a special thrill. You can ride the Butterfield Stagecoach or the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad...and get in on an old-fashioned hold-up.

You can take the Calico Mine train into the depths of a goldfield "glory hole" across shaky trestles and under raging waterfalls. You try your skills in the arcades of Gypsy Camp.

Or the archery range at Ghost Town.

For the hungry, there's Mrs. Knott's Chicken Dinner Restaurant. Or the steak house where you dine in view of famous Indian chiefs.

The thirsty can belly-up at the Calico Saloon or Judge Roy Bean's "Jersey Lilly" saloon. (Sorry, boys, sarsaparilla's the strongest thing we got.)

Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town. Buena Park. We aim to please.

Fiddlers and spinners entertain you.

See top name rock stars.

Buy an antique toy bank. Or savor Mrs. Knott's chicken.

Ride the Denver & Rio Grande.

BONING UP — Brian Shyer of Claremont, left, goes over his lines in the Citrus College production of "On a Clear Day" with director Fred Vaugeois. The musical comedy will be staged in the college auditorium July 5, 6 and 7.

Shyer to play lead in Citrus musical

AZUSA — Bryan Shyer of Claremont comes well-equipped for his lead role in the upcoming Citrus College production of the musical "On a Clear Day." He has worked with such stars as Robert Goulet, David Wayne and Gower Champion.

For one year Shyer was in "Happy Time" in both the Los Angeles and New York productions. From this he gained what he termed a "professional attitude of total commitment to the role."

A member of the boys' chorus in the David Merrick production, he learned dancing under Gower Champion, and found that working with professionals demands "complete concentration in every phase of the role from dissecting the character to learning motivation for singing a song to costume and make-up."

While at Claremont High School, he acted and directed. Shyer plans to go on to UCLA after his studies at Citrus.

He is a baritone, plays piano and composes music. A compsoition of his was heard as background music for a recent television production on college students studying abroad which appeared on station KCET. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Druce Shyer of Claremont.

Shyer's role in "On a Clear Day" will be Dr. Mark Bruckner, Other Claremont residents in the cast are John Biddles, Bev Scaria, Erik Thoreson and Carolyn Serveck.

The musical will be presented July 5, 6 and 7 in college auditorium. Fred Vaugeois will direct, with Ben Bollinger handling the music and Harriet Davidson Vaugeois in charge of choreography.

Fabian, Kay Starr to play Knott's Farm

BUENA PARK — Actor-singer Fabian will present a show in the John Wayne Theater of Knott's Berry Farm June 30-July 3, to be followed by singer Kay Starr July 4-7.

Fabian, winner of the American Bandstand popularity poll in 1958 (at the age of 15), has numerous gold records, including "The Fabulous Fabian," "Tiger" and "Turn Me Loose." He has appeared in 20 movies, including "North to Alaska," in which he co-starred with Wayne. He has also appeared on many television shows.

Miss Starr rose from a hillbilly singer in the South to vocalist with the big bands of Glenn Miller and Bob Crosby. Her hits include "Wheel of Fortune," "When My Dreamboa Comes In" and "Wabash Cannonball."

Other Berry Farm entertainment includes square dancing every Friday night to the music of Truman Adams and the Country Ramblers, the Wild Animal Follies daily at 1 and 3 p.m. and performances by Zoltan's Gypsy Puppets. Each evening concludes with dancing to rock music on the Terrazo Terrace and the Incredible Fireworks Machine in Fiesta Village.

Colson gets jail term, $5,000 fine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Charles W. Colson, President Nixon's former special counsel, was sentenced to a minimum of one year in prison and fined $5,000 today for obstruction of justice in the Ellsberg break-in case.

Colson told U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell that on the repeated urgings of the President, he had attempted to defame Daniel Ellsberg and destroy his credibility before Ellsberg's trial for making public the secret Pentagon Papers on origins and conduct of the Vietnam war.

Colson's counsel and law partner, David I. Shapiro, called a presentence probation report recommending a jail sentence for Colson "the most pernicious, deliberate leaks" by government bodies and officials.

"You're barking up the wrong tree, Mr. Shapiro," Gesell replied to Shapiro. "The public expectation has nothing to do with what I'm about to do. You're beating a dead horse."

Gesell turned down Shapiro's impassioned plea to spare the 42-year-old Colson from going to prison. Colson will surrender July 8 at a federal prison yet to be designated.

He will serve at least one year and not more than three years under Gesell's sentence.

Before the sentencing, Colson also made a long plea to the court, including this statement: "As to the specific charges, the President on numerous occasions urged me to disseminate damaging information about Daniel Ellsberg, including information about Ellsberg's attorney and others with whom Ellsberg had been in close contact."

In pleading guilty June 3, Colson admitted "devising and implementng a scheme to defame and destroy the public image and credibility" of Ellsberg. He could have received up to five years' imprisonment.

Colson had said he decided to plead guilty as a result of his conversion to Christianity.

Outside the courtroom after his sentencing today, Colson, sometimes known as White House poltical hatchet man during his days in the administration, was still wearing a presidential tie clasp with Nixon's signature attached to it.

He told newsmen he felt people did not understand why he had pleaded guilty and said:

"I did it because in my own heart I felt perhaps I could help protect other defendants against their individual rights being abused when they are defendants in trials. And what's going on in this country now in terms of interfering with a defendant's right to a fair trial has got to be stopped.

"If my plea and my sentence will serve as a symbol that will stop it and stop people's individual rights being abused, I hope it will have served a worthy cause."

He added: "I have committed my life to Jesus Christ. I can work for the Lord in prison or out of prison. That's how I want to spend my life. And what happened today is the Lord's will and the court's will, and I, of course, accept that fully."

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, and other members of Colson's prayer group sat in the front row of the courtroom with heads bowed as Colson read his pre-sentence statement saying:

"I had one rule: to get done what the President wanted done now. I never really questioned whether it was right or wrong."

In exchange for Colson's guilty plea and a pledge of cooperation in future trials, Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski agreed to drop conspiracy charges against him in the 1971 break-in of the office of the Ellsberg's psychiatrist as well as other charges in the Watergate cover-up case.

RECEIVES PRISON SENTENCE

Marked trail with rags

Crash survivor dazed but leads rescue party

DUBOIS, Wyo. (UPI) — An 18-year-old woman who survived an unreported airplane crash three days ago was found wandering along a river in western Wyoming Thursday.

The woman, Nancy Sheridan, told rescuers to return to the scene of the crash because a woman badly injured in the crash was still there, and still might be alive.

Miss Sheridan had marked her three-day trail through the rugged Wind River Mountains with rags from her clothing. The trail markings were used by a helicopter pilot and a ground crew who used them to find their way to the site of the crash.

Both survivors were hospitalized. Miss Sheridan was reported doing "exceptionally well" despite shock, cuts and bruises. Mrs. Lahlman was in fair condition despite several broken bones.

The two men killed in the crash were Mrs. Lahlman's husband, Francis Lahlman, 63, and their son, Ted Lahlman, 20, who was Miss Sheridan's boyfriend. Their flight had originated in Indianapolis, Ind.

The pilot of the rescue helicopter, Floyd Kierstad of Jackson, Wyo., praised Miss Sheridan's actions.

"It was a good thing she was able to mark the trail because the timber was so thick and high that it was tough to see anything from the air," Kjerstad said. "I was flying just about 200 feet over the wreckage and couldn't see it until the ground crew finally pointed it out. Even though she was in shock she used her head and was thinking survival all the time."

The light plane went down in the Wind River Range west of Dubois shortly after takeoff Tuesday. A flight plan had been filed on the flight from Indianapolis, but no plan was filed from Dubois and the crash was not known to officials until Thursday when Miss Sheridan was found.

The airplane had apparently stalled and nosedived, landing on its back. Kjerstad said Miss Sheridan first tried to use the plane's emergency signal beacon and radio, but the equipment was broken in the crash.

"The older lady was lying there near the wreckage as comfortable as she could be under the circumstances once we arrived," said Kjerstad, who had to land his helicopter in a canyon over a mile below the mangled wreckage and have the woman carried down.

Up 1.1% in May

Rising food prices hike living cost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With food prices turning up again, the cost of living to Americans rose by 1.1 per cent in May, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said food prices turned up 0.7 per cent in May after a decline of 0.3 per cent in April. In addition, price increases were recorded in a wide range of other consumer goods and services, including used cars, apparel, gasoline and housekeeping services.

Fresh fruits and vegetables led the upswing in food prices as the Consumer Price Index rose to 145.6. This meant that prices were 10.7 per cent higher in May than May, 1973, and that it cost $14.56 to buy the same goods and services that could be obtained for $10 about seven years ago.

Prices for commodities other than food increased 1.6 per cent in May compared to a 1.3 per cent rise in April.

Prices at grocery stores usually turn down in May but they rose last month for most items except meats, poultry and eggs. Those continued to decline. Some producers in all three categories have said that they face financial disaster if prices do not turn upward soon.

Fresh vegetable prices zoomed upward in May by 19 per cent, much more than normal.

Meat, poultry and fish prices declined 3.5 per cent from April.

But used cars increased 10.1 per cent, and new car prices also went up, whereas they usually decline in May. Clothing prices also increased more than usual for May. Gasoline and motor oil continued to rise but at a lesser rate than earlier this year.

Doctor fees and charges for other medical services such as eye examinations, laboratory tests and hospital rooms showed large increases in May. More rapid increases than in recent months also were recorded for services such as dry cleaning, shoe repairs, laundries, and barber and beauty shop services.

JULIA DeVRIES

Upland beauty named state dairy princess

UPLAND — Julia DeVries of Upland was named California Dairy Princess Thursday night in competition at the Hollywood Palladium.

Miss DeVries, 21, a 5-foot 10 blonde, was selected for the title from a field of 12 contestants by a three-judge panel.

The new dairy princess is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Case DeVries of 1765 N. Euclid Ave. Her father is the owner of a dairy in the Chino Valley where the family lived for many years before moving to Upland.

Julia, a 1970 graduate of Upland High School and a May graduate of Central College in Iowa, where she majored in home economics, was thrilled at her selection as princess, according to her mother. In her new position she will represent the California Milk Advisory Board for the next year.

Along with her title, Julia was awarded a $2,000 scholarship, $500 in cash and a course at a charm school. She will begin her reign by touring the state of Washington and Expo '74 in July.

House action opens door to sale of HUD homes for $1 each; over 1,000 in Valley

WASHINGTON, D.C. — If legislation which Thursday passed the House is approved by the Senate, there soon will be some 250,000 government-owned houses available for $1 nationwide, more than 1,000 in the valley area.

The Housing and Urban Development Act (HR 15361) passed the House 351-25. It now is in a conference committee where attempts will be made to resolve differences over provisions with the Senate.

One amendment to the act concerned with homesteading contains a provision whereby a citizen, 18 or older, who has an established household, but who has not previously owned property, can obtain for $1 a house owned by the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

This person, male or female, would be required to enter into a contract with HUD, occupy the property and maintain it for five years. If after five years the property had been kept up, the occupant would get the title to the property, if he or she agreed to maintain it.

In Pomona there are more than 800 HUD-owned houses. In Pomona, Chino, Claremont, La Verne, Montclair, Ontario, San Dimas, Upland and Walnut there are approximately 1,350.

Nationwide, HUD owns some 250,000 properties and taxpayers are paying about $2,950 to maintain each house annually. The cost is greater in the Pomona area. HUD officials say it costs $3,716 to maintain a house a year in Los Angeles County.

If the bill passes the Senate and is signed into law, HUD officials would draw up fairly standard regulations for a national program.

Another amendment to HR 15361 calls for the appropriation of $1.5 billion for the construction of 7,500 housing units for the elderly. This would reestablish a program halted in 1969 which provided low-interest direct loans for homes for the elderly.

The amendment contains provisions to delete clauses in legislation which withhold government housing from the elderly who receive increases in Social Security. Increases in Social Security would no longer be a factor in eligibility for low-cost housing.

Still another amendment to the bill stipulates that provisions of the legislation will apply equally to rural and urban housing.

Searchers find body of missing youth

MINIDOKA, Idaho (UPI) — The search is over for 11-year-old Jeff Hodgson of Pocatello.

The body of the youth, who has been missing in a southeastern Idaho desert for a week and a half, was found Thursday about 15 miles north of Minidoka.

Minidoka County sheriff's officers said Hodgson's body was located five miles from where he and a companion, Rocky Nielson of Pocatello, had separated June 10.

The two boys had been on a survival training course when they became separated from the main party.

Nixon tax returns spark controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N. J., emerged from a closed session of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment hearings and said today tax returns President Nixon signed for 1969 through 1972 were "a bunch of lies."

Rangel said the President should be subpoenaed to appear before the committee —or at least be sent written questions —to say whether he knew the tax returns were inaccurate.

"It is clear he signed a bunch of lies," Rangel told reporters. "If this committee does not question this taxpayer ... then we will not have done our work."

But Republican members of the impeachment inquiry insisted anew their examination of Nixon's returns produced no evidence of tax fraud. "There was absolutely no fraud," said Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio. "The whole thing is a tempest in a teapot," said Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif.

The committee took a second look today at the President's tax problems after being told that the Internal Revenue Service quietly imposed a penalty of about $13,000 on him for negligent preparation of his returns.

Fear children may be next

Killer animal sends chill through Virginia city

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — A "whining, screeching animal," possibly a bobcat, has killed more than 20 dogs, cats and small rodents in a two-week span. City officials are afraid a child may be the next victim.

Betty Felton, Arlington County's game warden, said Thursday the attacks have all occurred at night in the same vicinity, near Four Mile Run, a tributary of the Potomac River. She said, to date, the animal has killed "two dogs, five cats and 16 rabbits.

"We really don't know if it is a bobcat, or what it is," Mrs. Felton said. "It seems like it would be a bobcat, but bobcats aren't supposed to exist around here. We really have to find it, because it might get to little children."

Mrs. Felton said the animal emits a high-pitched whine or cackle when it assaults its prey, but never eats the slain victim.

"The thing never eats the other animals, just dismembers them," she said.

Residents of the area have spotted the creature, describing it as "about as big as a large dog, with a stubby, hairy tail.

"The neighbors hear the thing stomping through the bushes. Several of them say that whining and screeching makes the hair stand up on their neck," Mrs. Felton said.

She said the police canine unit had combed the wooded area believed to be the animal's lair, but there has been no sign of "the darn thing."

"We know its in there," said Mrs. Felton, "It ripped through one trap we had set up, and now we have a trap measuring five feet by five feet."

Mrs. Felton said she has checked with local zoos in the area, and they have reported no escaped bobcats or other animals that fit the description. She said tests on one of the cats the animal had dismembered revealed that the attacker was not rabid.

NEEDING HELP

Colleen Johnson of Upland casts a worried look at her disabled car as she uses one of the new emergency call boxes on the San Bernardino Freeway in seeking help of the California Highway Patrol. Twenty-eight of these call boxes were recently installed on both sides of the freeway within a two-mile area between Grand Avenue in West Covina and the Kellogg Hill interchange. Forty-four more emergency phones are being installed between the interchange and the San Bernardino County line. They should be in service next year. Disabled motorists using the phones have a direct line to the highway patrol's communication center in Los Angeles. Area officers are then assigned to give assistance.

Pacific State to build air-conditioning plant

POMONA — The first step to air condition buildings at Pacific State Hospital may begin within the next 45 days.

But getting the cool air piped into each of the structures may be delayed until additional funds are provided.

State officials this week opened bids to construct a chiller plant building and install central water cooling equipment.

The Kenneth Fraser Co of Pasadena submitted the apparent low bid of $624,600. This was well below the state estimate of $821,000.

Normally work starts within 45 days from the award date, said officials. The project will involve building a 4,600-square-foot structure, cooling tower and chiller pumps.

Meanwhile, state Sen George Moscone has asked the legislature's budget conference committee to augment funds for the air conditioning of state hospitals for the mentally retarded, including Pacific State Hospital.

"There are temperatures as high as 107 degrees in some wards where mentally retarded youngsters are patients," he said. "This situation will continue this summer and perhaps another two summers unless remedial action is taken at once—in this budget."

Gov. Regan had previously included $4.4 million in this year's budget for the air-condioning project at Pacific State Hospital. This incuded $3.9 million for installing air conditioning throughout the facility and an additional $500,000 to upgrade the electrical wiring system.

Moscone, however, asked the conference committee to add $6.1 million to the current appropriation of $14 million for projects at various state hospitals.

Of this added amount, $816,000 would go to Pacific State Hospital which would compensate for increased costs and for improper estimates of what was necessary at the hospital, he added.

Other added amounts include $770,000 to Fairview State Hospital, $374,000 to Agnews State Hospital and $1.2 million to Sonoma State Hospital.

"We have found that the State Department of Finance has no money left for preliminary planning and the job was done in a haphazard manner," charged Moscone. "And now the finance department reports it has exhausted its funds of special money set aside for cost increases.

"The department has suggested postponing full funding until next year—an entirely unsatisfactory solution."

The conference committee took the matter under submission for a later decision on whether to include the augmentation in the budget.

A staff member at Sen. Ruben Ayala's office reported that initial construction for the fist phase should begin early next month.

The remainder of the work, however, will have to wait until funds are available.

Local hospital officials had previously reported the air conditioning project on the 110-acre hospital grounds would be done on a progressive basis.

This would include upgrading the electrical system, installing the central refrigeration plant then laying lines to the 40 buildings.

At present, eight of the hospital's 40 wards are air conditioned. All are expected to have air conditioning by the spring of 1976, said officials.

In beating case

Six young Pomona men remain in jail

POMONA — Six young Pomona men remained in jail today as police investigated the beating early Thursday of three youths and the possibility that the six may be suspects also in a series of recent house burglaries.

The six were arrested in an apartment at 2436 Angela St. after one had been identified as having been involved in the beating of Frederick G. Chandler, 19, James O. Heaton, 19, and Elmer A. Omahundro, 18, in Chandler's residence, a small house at the rear at 753 E. San Francisco Ave. Stereo components and cash were stolen.

The three were beaten with tire irons while being held at the point of a sawed-off shotgun by several young men who invaded the house after asking to buy marijuana. Chandler said they forced their way inside after he told them he does not deal in drugs.

After being treated for injuries at Pomona valley Community Hospital, one victim told police he recognized one of the attackers as a former student at Ganesha High School. Officers traced him to the Angela Street address where the arrests were made shortly before 8 a.m.

Inside the apartment, police, who had a search warrant signed by Pomona Municipal Court Judge Robert C. Gustaveson, reported finding many items of stereo equipment, cameras, jewelry, household appliances, tape decks and tapes, a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun, a .22-caliber semiautomatic carbine and a quantity of marijuana and suspected drugs.

Those arrested were Myron Coleman, 18, of 2213 Concord St.; Carnell Eugene Mayberry, 18, of 2430 Angela St.; Herbie Douglas, 18, of 2598 Stanford St., Kenneth Wayne Harris, 18, of 2205 W. Orange Grove Ave.; and two 17-year-old juveniles. They were booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder, robbery, assault with a deadly weapon, burglary, receiving stolen property and possession of dangerous drugs.

Butz: it's good time to stock up on meats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says now is a good time for consumers to stock up on meat.

Citing the current price slump in the livestock market, Butz urged consumers Thursday to help the nation's beef producers by "stocking their freezers now . . . because I think meat is a better buy than its going to be next fall."

"We are assuring consumers that meat is plentiful and that it will continue to be plentiful," Butz said. "The events of the last year have been upsetting and disconcerting for consumers, as well as for livestock producers.

RTD to consider expanding lines to valley area

LOS ANGELES — Representatives from valley communities were promised Thursday that the Southern California Rapid Transit Board would give every consideration to pleas that the system be extended to serve the valley area.

Byron Cook, vice president of the board and hearing officer at public hearings held Thursday afternoon and evening at the Los Angeles Convention Center, told representatives from the City of Pomona, the Pomona Chamber of Commerce and other valley cities, that "even if the plan didn't include this area at the present time, the RTD board had heard them and will consider their suggestions."

The second and final of the two scheduled hearings before the board was attended by more than 300 persons. The board took no action Thursday but was scheduled to bring the matter up again at a meeting this afternoon.

However, Cook, indicated that he would ask the board to delay any action on the plan to give all members the opportunity to consider suggestions of representations from the valleys.

Pomona officials are concerned that the present RTD plans does not include this area and Ontario International Airport. Plans call for the system to begin at El Monte.

Good reason to doubt quality of education

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Brigham Young. University's 4,000 graduates may have some reason to doubt the quality of their education.

Some of the diplomas mailed to the graduates had the "R" missing from the word university in the school's name.

BYU officials said they didn't know how many of the misspelled diplomas were sent out but all graduates will eventually get a diploma with no mistakes in it.

Meat bribe admitted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — One of several meat packers indicted last March on charges of trying to bribe an agriculture department meat grader pleaded guilty Tuesday in federal court.

Authorities said the alleged bribe was given by Hugh Towle, 41, last February to influence USDA grades assigned beef at the Union Packing Compnay in Vernon where he worked. Sentencing was set for July 15.

The federal indictments involved meat pckaing companies in Vernon, Santa Ana and San Fernando.

Young cyclist injured in collision with truck

POMONA — A young bike rider was injured seriously Thursday when he ran broadside into a pickup truck at Mission Boulevard and the Corona Expressway.

Mark Allen Peplinski, 12, of 1912 Denison St., suffered head and shoulder injuries and was reported in serious condition this morning in the critical care unit of Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Fontana.

The driver of the pickup, Bradley W. Matthews, 21, Sierra Madre, said the boy was riding on the wrong side of the street, carrying groceries and had only one hand on the handlebars when Matthews first saw him. Matthews, who was towing a horse trailer, said he tried to slow and the boy slammed into the side of the vehicle.

Matthews was southbound in the expressway and Mark was westbound in Mission Boulevard when their vehicles collided late Thursday morning.

A La Verne motorist, Margarito Aguilar Lopez, 52, 2028 Arrow Highway, was arrested Thursday evening after his car overturned onto one side in White Avenue near Val Vista Avenue. Lopez, who wasn't hurt, was booked on a drunken driving charge.

Armed bandit holds up Holt Avenue liquor store

MONTCLAIR — An armed bandit escaped Thursday night after robbing a Holt Avenue liquor store of cash.

The bandit entered the Ace Liquor store at 4702 Holt Blvd. shortly after 11 p.m. and asked the attendant, John Murray, for a pack of cigarettes. As Murray rang up the sale on the cash register, the man produced a chrome-plated handgun and demanded that Murray take the cash drawer out.

Murray was forced to empty cash from the register into a paper bag. The bandit then took Murray's wallet and told him to lie on the floor.

Murray told police that the man wore a dark blue watch cap, a brown tanker jacket, blue Levis and dark glasses.

Coroner reports woman strangled on own blood

SAN BERNARDINO — The coroner's office has disclosed that Cynthia Ann Campbell, 26, whose partially clad body was found in Etiwanda June 12, died by strangling on her own blood.

James Z. Gaither, 56, of San Bernardino, has been arrested on suspicion of murder in connection with the woman's death.

The coroner's report stated that the victim was knocked unconscious by a blow to the head and that she strangled on blood which was in her mouth as the consequence of another blow.

A boyfriend of the victim told police that he and Miss Campbell had been living in Gaither's home in Twentynine Palms for several weeks.

Motorcycle hits car; rider hurt

CLAREMONT — Erdinc Akca, 23, of 335 W. Alpine St., Upland, was injured slightly Thursday morning when the motorcycle he was riding ran into a parked car on the parking lot of Griswold's Pavilion. THE WALL CAME TUMBLING DOWN

Power equipment operator George Andazola of the Claremont Unified School District uses a backhoe to rip out the old 8- to 14-foot-wide rubble wall that separates Cahuilla Park from the Claremont High School parking lot. City Parks and Recreation Director Fred Hawkins watches the demolition from his side of the wall. The debris is being trucked to the Con Rock quarry. A $16,309 contract has been awarded to Larry Jacoby, general contractor, to build a concrete block wall, topped with a 3-foot rail, to separate campus and park. An 18-inch-wide curb will protect the wall.

Most deliberately set

13 grass fires hit Pomona

POMONA — Firemen were kept busy Thursday putting out a series of 13 grass fires, most of which were deliberately set in vacant lots and backyards throughout the city.

The largest of the fires, this one believed to be accidentally started by a discarded cigarette, was at 1062 Hillcrest Drive.

Ray Delving told firemen he and two other men were clearing the vacant lot of grass and had left the area about 4 p.m. The fire was discovered a short time later. The fire burned about half an acre.

Three small boys age 7, 8 and 9 were questioned about a small grass fire at 1517 S. Garey Ave. The fire burned a small area in a vacant lot.

At 3:38 p.m., firemen put out a small fire at 1098 Vassar St. Willie Washington, the occupant, told firemen several teen-age girls were seen in the backyard of his property where the fire started.

At 3:40 p.m., a tree at 1605 W. Holt Ave., was set on fire.

The cause of a fire in the yard at 659 Medina Ave., at 3:57 p.m. is under investigation. The fire burned only a small area.

Children playing with matches are believed to have set a fire in an open field at 4:58 p.m. at the 1900 block of San Simeon Avenue. This also burned only a small area. Children playing with matches were also blamed for starting a small grass fire in a field behind a vacant lot at 2205 S. Powers St., a short time later. Three youngsters were questioned about the incident.

Neighbors living near a vacant field at 784 S. Currier St. put out a grass fire there at 9:22 p.m. When firemen arrived at the scene, another fire was reported at 1700 N. San Antonio Ave. A grassy area near the alley was burning. This is also believed to have been set by children.

A fire at 1172 S. Main St. in a vacant field burned a small area at 10:57 p.m. and at 11:06 p.m. another small grass fire burned in a vacant lot at 742 W. Grand Ave. At 11:10 p.m. another grass fire was reported in a vacant lot in the 300 block of W. 12th Street. This fire is also listed as a possible case of arson.

Firemen also put out a small grass fire in a vacant lot at 1435 S. Rebecca St. at 1:42 a.m., also believed to have been deliberately set.

Stores try to spur consumption

Beef prices going down across the nation

United Press International

Supermarkets across the country have launched an all-out campaign to offer once-scarce meats at bargain prices in an effort to clear out a glut of beef which has kept livestock prices below farmers' production costs.

"In our ads this week, we're going to offer special freezer bundles and urge our customers to load up on beef while the prices are low," said Ames Watson, president and chief executive officer of National Tea Co.

"We'll also have other specials. There is also a glut in the turkey market and prices have been falling, so we'll feature a lot of turkey too."

National Tea operates stores in Denver, Minneapolis, Minn., Milwaukee, Wis., Indianapolis, Ind., St. Louis, New Orleans and Chicago.

Los Angeles newspaper advertisements showed lower beef prices this week. Spokesmen for a number of Los Angeles food store chains said market conditions have allowed price cuts of 5-10 cents per pound on economy grades of meat such as ground beef, chuck and stew meat but conditions were flexible.

Bill Newby, a spokesman for Jewel Food Stores in Chicago, said the chain has been cutting back beef prices for the past two months in an effort to step up beef sales.

"Meat consumption has gone up in the last few weeks," Newby said. "However, even though consumption has gone up apparently it is not enough to reduce the inventories of livestock."

He said prices had gone down by as much as 34 cents per pound on some cuts of beef compared to Feb. 13 prices. For example, he said, chuck blade steak, which sold for $1.09 per pound Feb. 13, is now priced at 75 cents a pound.

But he noted that pork, poultry and cheese prices also dropped sharply since early February and "are in good competition with beef."

Newby said center cut pork chops were down to 88 cents per pound -compared to $1.69 per pound in February.

A spokesman for a New York City food chain said the store was not concerned with the livestock industry but was "out to help the New York City consumer."

"We have continuously been reflecting a reduced price of beef," said a spokesman for New York's Sloan Supermarkets. He said the chain planned sales on roast beef ($1.29), beef liver (59 cents), chopped chuck (99 cents), ground round ($1.39) and flank steaks (1.$79).

Neil Jackson, meat manager for the Colonial Store in Atlanta said the store has been pushing ground meat, with five pounds of hamburger selling for 79 cente a pound compared to $1.19 per pound late last year. He also said the store had its first steak sale in more than a year last week and plans another one next week with savings of up to 70 cents per pound over present prices.

Grocers in the Oklahoma City area noted that prices were down by 20 to 30 cents a pound on some cuts of beef and meat prices were down 20 to 30 cents a pound at 60 Fiser-Fazio supermarkets in northeastern Ohio.

Meat prices also were down in Des Moines, Iowa; Louisville,Ky., Lincoln, Neb., and Marion, Ill.

"I noticed prices were down about 20 cents a pound on ground beef mix so I bought more than usual," said Emma Jilek, a Cleveland housewife.

But some shoppers weren't opening their pocketbooks to buy up the cut-rate beef.

A Columbus, Ohio, supermarket manager said he knew of no oversupply of beef from his supplier but noted that customers were buying cautiously and no more than they needed.

"Just because the price of beef may drop doesn't mean you can sell it," he said.

Attorneys argue Jaworski seeks improper evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's attorneys argued to the Supreme Court today that Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski was developing impeachment evidence against Nixon. They said that responsibility rested solely with the House of Representatives.

The argument was put forth in a 149-page brief seeking to overturn a lower federal court decision requiring Nixon to produce 64 additional presidential tapes and documents sought by Jaworski for trial of former Nixon associates on Watergate coverup charges.

Both Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, and Jaworski filed briefs to meet today's deadline before the Supreme Court hears oral arguments July 8 on whether Nixon can withhold the materials.

St. Clair said that since the special prosecutor's office was turning over to Congress any information bearing on its impeachment inquiry, upholding Jaworski's subpoena would produce evidence for the House Judiciary Committee that Congress could not obtain by its own procedures.

"There ras been a fusion of two entirely different proceedings; one, the criminal proceedings involving various individual defendants and the other the impeachment proceeding involving the President," St. Clair said. "The first lies in the courts; the second lies in the Congress."

The brief said Jaworski's office had strengthened the fusion by "utilizing the unsubstantiated, unprecendented and clearly unconstitutional device of naming the President as an unindicted co-conspirator in the criminal cases."

The basic argument in the White House brief was that the Supreme Court lacked jurisdiction in the case and did "not have the power to substitute its judgment for that of the President" on the matter of disclosing confidential presidential communications.

In his brief, Jaworski said that giving Nixon "the absolute privilege" of determining what material should be released "would lead to intolerable abuse."

"The President cannot be a proper judge of whether the greater public interest lies in disclosing evidence subpoenaed for a trial, when that evidence may have a material bearing on whether he is impeached," Jawroski said.

Plea bargain reported in milk case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jake Jacobsen, a Texas lawyer who once represented milk cooperative interests, is negotiating with Watergate prosecutors for a reduced criminal charge in exchange for testimony, according to his lawyer.

Charles McNelis, a lawyer who represents Jacobsen, said the two sides had not agreed on an acceptable charge, but he acknowledged "there's movement along those lines, yes."

The Senate Watergate committee staff said last month it was investigating allegations that former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally received $15,000 in two payments in milk co-op funds for his assistance in obtaining the controversial 1971 increase in the price support for raw milk. The increase netted milk producers an estimated $400 million in additional income.

Connally has denied receiving any money from Jacobsen, but it is known their lawyers have conferred.

Ford strikers back to work

CHICAGO (UPI) — Striking United Auto Workers went back to work on the midnight shift today at a suburban Ford Motor Co. plant after voting 4 to 1 to accept a new contract. Nearly 30,000 idled workers at 12 other plants were to be called back to work next week.

Company and union spokesmen said the estimated 5,000 workers who struck the plant June 11 began returning to work after midnight Thursday. Balloting on the settlement reached Wednesday took place Thursday night.

Media wins Legal battle

HONOLULU (UPI) — Several news organizations won a major legal victory Thursday night when a preliminary injunction was issued against a new state law severely restricting access to police information.

State Circuit Court Judge Norito Kawakami signed the preliminary injunction during an unusual night session at which attorneys for the news organizations argued that Act 45, passed recently by the state legislature, was unconstitutional.

The act severely restricted the release of police information, and virtually ended news stories about arrests.

Judge Kawakami ruled that the law was "being unconstitutionally applied in such a manner as to violate plaintiff's rights to freedom of speech and press under the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution and the state constitution."

His ruling said the news organizations had "been unreasonably restricted in their ability to gather and disseminate newsworthy information to the public" since the law went into effect.

Assistant Police Chief Eugene Fletcher, who was in court when the judge signed the order, told reporters that officers immediately would be instructed to release all information to the news media that was available prior to passage of Act 45.

Act 45, signed into law on May 24 by acting Gov. George Ariyoshi, prohibited the release of arrest information to anyone other than law enforcement agencies.

Calley returned to army custody, stays in stockade

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — Former Army Lt. William Calley, ordered back into military custody Thursday by a federal judge, was issued nondescript fatigues and spent the night in the post stockade, marking only the fourth night he has been behind bars since his My Lai murder conviction in 1971.

U.S. Assistant Attorney Charles Erion said the former platoon leader would be treated "just like any other prisoner ... (and) put in a jail cell."

But Kenneth Henson, one of Calley's attorneys, said his client had, in effect, been put in solitary confinement.

"There's no one else in his cellblock," Henson said.

John Gause, army public information officer, said the 30-year-old Miami native would be allowed recreational periods and provided access to books and a television set.

Calley carried his briefcase solemnly into the stockade to prepare for another hearing Monday before U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott on the appeal of his conviction of murdering 22 civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet in 1968.

If Calley must be confined, his attorneys would rather see him sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

"As far as we're concerned, the quicker they (military authorities) take him and process him at Ft. Leavenworth, the better off he will be," Henson said. "We've been pleading for several years — longer than I've been on the case —for the military to give him a meaningful task to occupy his time, and they still haven't done it."

Calley surrendered two minutes before the 3 p.m. deadline and was ushered into the stockade 10 minutes later.

The masonry facility, ringed by a 10-foot high fence topped with barbed wire, was Calley's residence for three nights just after his 1971 court martial conviction. After a public outcry, President Nixon ordered Calley be held in his quarters under house arrest until the appeals process ended.

"I think he took it amazingly well," said Henson. "There was no bitterness nor was he overjoyed."

Calley had been freed under a $1,000 personal recognizance bond since January until a three-judge panel of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans revoked the bond and ordered Calley returned to prison.

The judge, although he never named him, chided Gen. Thomas Tarpley, the Ft. Benning commandant, for referring to Calley as a "nonperson." Elliott ordered that Calley be "treated as a person ... as distinguished from a nonperson."

BACK IN JAIL

Post confinement officer, Major Gordon Willy, right, shows former Army Lt. William L. Calley, Jr., into the post stockade at Ft. Benning, Ga., on Thursday. Calley's bail of four months was recently revoked and appeals by his attorneys failed to keep him free while other appeals are heard.

Enders, 43, has served in several overseas diplomatic posts. He is a native of Hartford, Conn.

Search for kidnapped Oregon couple still on

COEUR d'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — While killer Carl Bowles recovers from a bullet wound in the abdomen, the search intensifies for the Eugene, Ore., couple he admits abducting.

A helicopter this week joined the search for Earl Hunter, 63, and his wife, Viola, 61, or their 1971-model car.

Bowles, who insisted he left the Hunters unharmed in Yakima, Wash., after eluding a police dragnet in Eugene Friday, also told Oregon State Penitentiary Superintendent Hoyt Cupp that no one would ever find their car.

The search also includes a check of service stations, restaurants and other businesses open at night along routes leading from Eugene to Washington, including a check of receipts at those establishments and questioning of individuals at rest stops and elsewhere.

Capt. Eugene Dougherty, head of the Oregon State Police Criminal Investigation Division, said stops have been place don the Hunters' credit cards.

Dougherty said it might be possible to get from Eugene to Washington with a full tank of gasoline but it is doubtful the Hunters' gas tank was full when Bowles commandeered their car Friday after escaping dozens of officers tracking him in south Eugene.

Bowles, 33, was arrested near here Sunday after being shot while he was standing knee deep in the Spokane River.

Bowles escaped custody of the Oregon State Penitentiary May 17 while on a four-hour unsupervised social pass approved by Cupp. He was serving a life sence for murder in the slaying of a Lane County, Ore., deputy sheriff in 1965. He also was sentenced to a life term for kidnaping then California Dinance Director Hale Champion and his family during the same three-state crime spree.

Don Davis, executive assistant to Gov. Tom McCall, said Thursday in Salem, "Our concern and first priority must be to locate the Hunters." He asked public help.

McCall also said, when asked if Cupp would be fired if the Hunters are found dead or injured, he expected in that case to receive the warden's resignation, because he had offered it. He said he would have a terrible night of soul searching over whether to accept the resignation.

McCall said Thursday in Spokane, Wash., that the escape of Bowles could mean the return of the death penalty and the complete scrapping of the state's present progressive system.

"These are the possible consequences of Bowles' escape," McCall said. "Whatever happens, it will not be good."

SHOW MUST GO ON

Nine-year-old John Michael Connelly Jr., of Lake Havasu City, Ariz., fell out of his father's station wagon on the day he was scheduled to make his debut as a violinist with the Smoketree Elementary School orchestra. Black-eyed and bruised but undaunted, he attacked a Mozart sonata with style.

Hobby gets probation

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Lt. Gov. William P. Hobby is hoping his 30-day probated jail sentence for drunk driving will not have political repercussions. But Gov. Dolph Briscoe is positive it will.

Asked if Hobby's political opponents would use the incident to influence voters, Briscoe said, "you bet your life they will."

Hobby was arrested at 2:48 a.m. Thursday as he and a woman companion returned from a picnic. The officer who stopped Hobby said he followed the lieutenant governor's weaving vehicle for several blocks.

He pleaded no contest to a charge of driving while intoxicated. The judge sentenced him to 30 days in jail, but suspended the sentence for a nine-month probation period.

Karabian, Moretti, Walsh

Election losers get pension bonanza

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three California legislators who failed in their bids for statewide office —including Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti —will be in line for a pension bonanza on retirement from state government.

Moretti, Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, and Sen. Lawrence Walsh, D-Huntington Park, will receive early pension benefits totalling just over $400,000 because of legislation passed by lawmakers in 1965.

The $403,017 bonus only includes retirement benefits until the three reach 60 years of age. The legislation was designed to protect legislators voted out of office because of reapportionment.

Normally, the legislative pension plan allows lawmakers to begin drawing their annual pensions when they reach 60 or after 15 years of service.

Moretti, who was defeated June 4 for the Democratic nomination for governor, will earn $182,000 in retirement benefits by the time he is 60 — at a rate of $8,292 a year. The 38-year-old legislator served 10 years in the Assembly.

All three of the public officials gave up their reelection chances in the legislature to run for the statewide offices.

Karabian failed in his bid for his party's nomination for secretary of state and Walsh in his contest for lieutenant governor.

All three of the men will receive the early peensions as long as they are not elected to another state office. The amount of the pension is based on the last salary level paid to the legislators and his years of service.

Walsh will receive $73,498 by the time he is 60 as will Karabian get benefits totalling $146,995.

Emery Moore, director of benefit payments for the state public employes pension system, said the pensions are computed through a complex formula.

He said the original law which gave legislator early pensions was passed in 1965 and amended in 1969 stating that anyone elected after December 31 of that year would no longer be eligible for the early retirement provision. Moore said because of the amendment the law will eventually phase itself out.

Farmers are mechanical

Investogators checked out the military service records of 50 Kansas farmers who appear to be running successful operations. Maybe you know how all military men are given tests during basic training. Those tests showed the farmers only had one characteristic in common. And it wasn't an affecton for the soil, physical strength or even a high I.Q. Was mechanical aptitude.

A RENOWNED photograhper of gorgeous girls says he proposes to every model he photographs. Trick is to get them to look into the camera lense most romantically just the way they might look into the eyes of their gentlemen friends, says he. So as he squeezes off his shots, he whispers, "You're beautiful. Will you marry me?" He thinkg this does much suddenly to soften their faces.

Widowers

Q. "If all the widowers in this country lived in one place, how big a city would they make?"

A. It would be the sixth largest nationwide. With a population of 1,834,000.

NO SIR, you cannot legally shave off your whiskers while driving a car in Massachusetts.

EACH MILE you dig down into the earth raises the temperature by 80 degrees. One mile down, it's 132 degrees F., average. Two miles down, 212 degrees F., just boiling.

IF YOU are a teenage girl who never has had a baby, you have one chance in 200 of giving birth to twins. If you're an expectant mother in your late 30s with several children already, your chances of twinning go up to one in 50.

Pearls

Was the Japaneses, as you might expect, who taught the Northern Australians how to induce oysters to grow pearls. Now those Australian experts are turning out marble-sized pearls in half the time it takes the Japanese to do likewise. Whatever their secret is, they're not publishing.

YOU CAN housebreak an armadillo, you know. This comes up because a client asks. And asks, also, how frequently a pet armadillo should be fed. Once a day at 9 p.m. Dog food will do. But the little beast probably will like milk, eggs, berries, nuts and raw meat better.

IN THE PROVINCE of New Brunswick, the St. John River pours into the Bay of Fundy over a waterfall 200 yards wide. And four times daily, the Bay of Fundy pours back into the St. John River over that same waterfall. High tides do it, of course, Quite a sight, I'm told, this reversible waterfall.

Hearing problems call for specialist

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am very anxious to know something about hearing difficulties. Is it best to go to an ear specialist or just go and get a hearing aid? My hearing is such that public meetings are a total loss now. I can hear r o o m conversation among friends, but can't hear when someone whispers to me.

DEAR READER—I don't think anyone should just go get a hearing aid. There are several causes for deafness. Some cannot be benefited by a hearing aid at all. Others can be benefited by surgery. To tell what is needed, you will need a competent hearing test, and I would recommend seeing a hearing specialist. See your ear, nose and throat doctor, and do what is right for your prblem.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I hope you can help me with my problem. I take Coumadin daily after having a blood clot in each leg. I heave rheumatic heart disease. When my doctor put me on Coumadin he told me there were certain medications and food I should not take when on Coumadin. He took me off anything with aspirin in it and told me not to eat cabbage.

I was supposed to tolerate antihistamines but became v i o l e n t l y ill with severe cramps and nausea when I took two of these products for sinus problems. I ate red cabbage with no repercussions but got an upset stomach and vomited when I ate eggplant. I mentioned this to my doctor and he could not explain why I did not tolerate my antihistamine or my reaction to the eggplant.

Could you outline a more helpful schedule for me? I guess my doctor is just too busy to give me the help I need.

D E A R READER—Your doctor gave you good advice. The reason for avoiding aspirin is that it increases the anti-clotting action of the blood and since you are taking a regular balanced dose of Coumadin, aspirin would upset this and cause problems in relationship to controlling your blood clotting and bleeding mechanism. And, by the way, the same thing is true for certain medicines that are used as substitutes for aspirin and can be obtained without a prescription. So, be careful about even picking up medicines that you would use in place of aspirin. I have in mind Tylenol and similar medications.

There is no particular reason why taking Coumadin should make it impossible for you to use antihistamines. You've had an unusual reaction for which there's no probable immediate explanation. It could be that you would have reacted this way to the antihistamines even if you were not taking Coumadin. Many people have sensitivities to various forms of medicines. It may be the antihistamine you took was also combined with other ingredients as well. In any case, anyone who has a bad reaction to a medicine should certainly avoid that medicine in the future.

You can say almost the same thing about eggplant. There is no good reason why a person on Coumadin should not be able to tolerate eggplant. I can only conclude that you have an idiosyncrasy, that is, something that is unusual or special in your case. Often we find out what people's particular idiosyncrasies are by experience, and there's no way to predict ahead of time all the foods and medicines that an individual will not tolerate readily.

Homemakers sue state over aid

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Homemaker's Association has filed a lawsuit accusing the Reagan administration of engaging in the systematic destruction of programs for aged and handicapped persons.

Legal Aid Society attorney James F. Smith and CHA field director David Shapiro alleged in the suit Wednesday multiple violations of the law, including the federal minimum wage law.

The suit, which also names Sacramento County, alleges 13 violations of a state law as well as other federal laws.

It says these illegal acts have caused massive grant and wage cuts for both disabled recipients and the workers who care for them.

A CHA spokesman said the suit is one of the most comprehensive indictments of law violation and mis-management ever filed in California, affecting more than 100,000 recipiente and workers in the in-home program.

The suit focuses on an April 1 handbook of regulations, which Smith contends is being used by 190 high-paid county social workers to severely restrict payments to recipients and lowpaid attendant care workers.

Can't be coerced into revealing sources

Judge rules in favor of reporter

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court judge ruled today that there is "no substantial likelihood" that further jailing of newsman William Farr on contempt charges will make him disclose the sources of a story he wrote in 1970.

In his ruling, Judge William H. Levit also upheld Farr's right to keep his sources confidential, holding a reporter "has an ethical responsibility to his profession and to his source to honor his promise, even in the face of a valid court order to the contrary."

The ruling, however, did not free Farr from being jailed again.

Levit said that "any further incarceration of Farr will not be coercive, but rather punitive in nature."

He recommended that if Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older, who sentenced Farr to an open-end jail sentence for contempt, wants to pursue the case, he should set a specific time for the newsman to serve.

Older sentenced Farr to the open-end contempt sentence when the newsman refused to identify two attorneys who provided him with information during the Charles Manson murder trial while the attorneys' were under a court gag order. At the time Farr wrote the story, he was a reporter for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner.

Farr spent 46 days in jail but was released early last year pending federal appeals of his case. A decision is still pending.

Chimps in captivity

Chimpanzees in captivity seldom lives more than 15 years.

Boar goes hog wild, bites neighbor farmer; he sues

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Paul Marshall and John C. Ranne lived in Dallas and owned adjoining hog farms in Van Zandt County. They were good friends and neighbors until the day the hog went bad.

Ranne's hog had shown signs of being an ornery animal before that fateful day. Marshall had been out in front of his house at least a dozen times when the hog would lower his head, snort a couple of times and charge wildly sending Marshall scrambling for safety in the nearest possible place — his outhouse.

On Jan. 21, 1970, Marshall could take it no longer. He left Ranne the following note:

"John, your boar has gone bad. He is trying to chase me off the farm. He stalks us just like a cat stalks a mouse every time he catches us out of the house. We are going to have to get him out before he hurts someone."

Thinking easy at 2nd trick

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South wasted no time with the play of what he considered an elementary hand. That is he wasted no time at the start.

He ruffed the second spade and started after trumps. If trumps had broken 3-3 everything would have been fine, but when East showed out on the third lead South saw that his contract was in jeopardy. He thought a while; drew the last trump and tried a club finesse. It lost and East was able to lead a spade to give his partner three spade tricks and set South two.

"I guess I should have settled for down one," remarked South. "Every card is always wrong for me."

Every card was wrong. Trumps broke 4-2. East held the king of clubs and a third spade, but South should have made the hand. If he had stopped to think at trick two instead of ruffing the second spade, he should have discarded a club.

South would ruff the third spade and play the hand exactly the same way, but there would be a decided difference at the end. When East took his king of clubs he would not have a spade to lead to his partner and South would bring home the bacon.

Look at the facts

As schools and colleges close for the summer, and as graduating classes start the great trek on the breadwinning path of life, the perennial question of where the brightest opportunities lie arises. Perceptive young people this year should take a fresh look at one of the country's oldest industries—the railroads. The reason may be found in a well-written pamphlet entitled, "The Human Side of Railroading."

This brief booklet points out that railroads have always been the backbone of the American transportation system, but adds that more young persons are choosing to focus their talents on the industry now" . . . because the trends of the times point to a new and even greater eminence for railroads. Why railroads? Let's take a look at the facts. Conservation of energy is one of the top issues in today's America. Railroads can move about four times as much freight per gallon of fuel as large trucks and 125 times as much as cargo aircraft. A similar relationship exists between trucks and railroads with regard to pollutants released into the air—another item of current concern. Railroad emissions, on a per ton-mile basis, are about one fourth that of trucks."

This is but the beginning of the story. In the next decade, even moderate economic growth will mean nearly a 50 per cent increase in freight movement. The rails will likely be a growing factor in freight transportation. They enjoy the unique ability to increase their traffic load many times without the necessity for using more land—and land, like energy, is becoming a scarce commodity. As the rail pamphlet notes, "If you can eat it, wear it, build with it or burn it for fuel, there's a train somewhere in its past. It either rode the rails itself or was put together with something that did."

The railroad industry is a rare combination of the old and the new. It holds the romance of the past and the hopes of the future in the field of transportation. Behind it lies a century of experience in providing a vital service. Before it lies another century of growth as one of the great private enterprise of all time.

A balance of power

In a thoughtful article entitled "The Veto: Key To Effective Government," which appears in the June issue of The Reader's Digest, Melvin R. Laird, former Secretary of Defense and chief domestic adviser to President Nixon from June, 1973 to February, 1974, discusses the importance of the presidential power to veto legislation passed by the Congress. Mr. Laird speaks from his wealth of experience, both in the Executive Branch and as a Republican Congressman from Wisconsin for nine terms.

In Mr. Laird's view, the veto, . . . "the sole constitutional power a President has to prevent hasty or ill-considered laws." It is a positive tool of presidential leadership conducive to more reasonable and workable legislation. It can save tax money and curb the passage of unwise legislation which might otherwise become the law of the land during a rush of majority enthusiasm, untempered by judicious consideration. Congress always has the final legislative word, since it can pass a bill over a presidential veto by two thirds vote in both Houses of Congress. Some see the Watergate backlash as an opportunity to elect a "veto-proof" Congress in the November elections. Any such development which would, for a time ,cripple the President's leadership ability and disrupt the balance of power between the Executive and Legislative Branches would not be in the interest of good government.

Many of the institutions of government are under severe attack. As Mr. Laird observes, it is imperative at such a time that the American people " . . . remember the solid record of accomplishment that our form of government—including the veto power—has achieved." It is not a time to jump on some ill-conceived bandwagon aimed at undermining the constitutionally-granted and fundamental powers of the presidency.

Moon Walk Day

For centuries the moon hung tantalizingly just beyond man's grasp, challenging his imagination and ingenuity. Then, on July 20, 1969, two U. S. astronauts did the impossible—they landed the lunar module, "Eagle," upon the surface of the moon, and a new age dawned. Since that time, July 20 has come to be known as Moon Walk Day. The memorable moon exploration by Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin, Jr. lasted 21 hours, 36 minutes and 16 seconds, while the moon walk, initiated by Armstrong, took 2 hours, 15 minutes. Pilot Michael Collins orbited the moon in the command module, "Columbia."

Beyond the historical significance of the moon venture lies an even greater potential for technological advances surpassing even the wildest imaginings of Jules Verne. In the midst of unlocking the mysteries of the universe, man has found it possible to apply the knowledge and skills of the U.S. space program to solving problems here on Earth. Our opportunities to further the condition of mankind are as limitless as the starry heavens that surround us.

A tale of two old politicians

WASHINGTON — Chicago's embattled Mayor Richard Daley, his bossdom shaken, his power slipping, his health failing, summoned enough political strength last week for a "Last Hurrah."

From his cigar-polluted lair in city hall, he reached all the way to Washington and killed the land-use bill which would have brought order to the chaotic, wasteful development of the nation's dwindling land resources.

Daley sabotaged the bill for reasons that, quite naturally, riled the last of the big-city bosses. The bill left him no power to hand out lucrative land development contracts to his favorite contractors. Instead, most land decisions would have devolved upon the governor.

In Illinois, the governor happens to be an ambitious, anti-machine Democrat, Daniel Walker, who has dared to defy Daley.

Any legislation that would allow Walker to call the shots on land development was more than Daley could abide. So the old political war lord cracked the whip on Chicago's Democratic congressmen, all liberals, who normally would have voted with their fellow liberals for national standards to assure orderly land development.

Instead, they took their orders from Daley whose political machine turns out the voters for them on election day. The four Chicago votes against the land-use bill provided the margin which defeated the measure, 211-204.

We have spoken to the congressmen from Chicago who solemnly deny that Daley influenced their votes. As Rep. Morgan Murphy, D-Ill., explained it, the Chicago delegation felt their city was "so far ahead" of the rest of the nation in land-use planning that the bill would have had a harmful effect.

But sources close to the delegation say that Daley sent them their voting instructions. One messenger, apparently, was his own land development expert, Lou Hill, who pointedly reminded some members of the delegation of the contractors' political clout.

The Chicago mayor joined forces with President Nixon to defeat land-use standards. Both men are fighting for political survival, with aides under indictment and prosecutors pressing them at every turn.

The President withdrew his earlier support for the land-use bill under pressure from conservatives whose votes he is counting upon to save himself from impeachment. The conservatives fear the bill might trespass upon the rights of private property owners.

ERVIN'S GHOST WRITER: Senator Ervin, D-N.C., the hero of Watergate, has permitted a business lobbyist to help draft his views against the proposed Consumer Protection Agency.

Richard Leighton, a lobbyist for the Grocery Manufacturers of America, wrote part of the minority report on the legislation. In Ervin's name, Leighton warned that the bill would "create a Caesar within the federal bureaucracy."

The lobbyist embarrassingly misspelled Ervin's name which was listed as "Erwin" in the signature at the bottom of the minority report.

The proposed consumer agency would represent consumers inside the federal policy councils—at rate hearings, for example, before the Federal Power Commission or drug hearings before the Food and Drug Administration.

The legislation, sponsored by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., has already passed the House, but faces a filibuster in the Senate. Two of the Senate's most long-winded orators, the avuncular Ervin and Sen. James Allen, D-Ala., are expected to try to talk the bill to death.

The bill came out of the Senate Government Operations Committee, whose chief counsel, Bob Smith, admitted that lobbyist Leighton wrote part of the minority report. Speaking for Ervin, Smith claimed that the senator opposed the legislation not because he is anti-consumer but because he is against government intervention.

Smith suggested that we ask consumer crusader Ralph Nader whether he wrote part of the majority report in favor of the Consumer Protection Agency. Speaking for Nader, Joan Claybrook said she had reviewed the majority report before it went to press but that the Nader people wrote no part of it.

NUCLEAR THREAT: A grim, secret intelligence analysis warns that India's nuclear explosion and the American-Egyptian nuclear agreement will lead to uncontrolled nuclear arms development.

The report claims that several small nations have already taken the first, secret steps toward developing nuclear arms. The analysis predicts that Egypt, Iran, Israel, Japan, Rumania, Sweden and West Germany will wind up eventually with their own nuclear arsenals.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Reporters learn to live with leaks

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I forget what I was doing — bathing my wrists with rose water, mostly likely —when the stampede started.

Someone dashed into the House Press Gallery and shouted "The Judiciary Committee is leaking out of control!"

And all of us newsmen bolted for the doors in wild alarm.

Later, after things calmed down a bit, we realized we had overreacted. The situation didn't really call for hysteria.

Panic maybe, but not hysteria.

The mad flight was touched off by a White House aide who denounced leaks of confidential information from the impeachment inquiry as a sign the committee was "out of control."

An uncontrolled committee is not the same thing as the leaks themselves being out of control. Uncontrolled committees are, in fact, rather commonplace.

But, in the circumstances, our fright was understandable.

There is no doubt that the impeachment inquiry is one of the most porous investigations of all times. Some days the leaks are more like gushers.

Any reporter who ventures near the Judiciary Committee's headquarters on the first floor of the Rayburn office building runs the risk of having one or more confidential documents pressed upon him.

It has gotten to the point where we seldom venture into a first floor corridor alone. When we have business in that area, we generally use the buddy system.

Reporters regularly assigned to the impeachment inquiry can be philosophical about it. Leaks are something you learn to live with.

But when you are trying to cover another story, it can be sheer hell.

Like the other day I went to the Rayburn building for a news conference about a congressman's proposal to proclaim the week of July 7-13 as National Eat-More-Possum Week.

As I was passing the Judiciary Committee, two members grabbed my arms, pulled me into a vacant room and tried to leak a confidential staff memorandum relating to one of the Watergate tapes.

I finally convinced them that I was the mayor of Sump City, Iowa, in town to testify at a hearing on federal waterwing safety standards. But by the time I shook them loose, it was too late.

It turned out that the sponsor of National Eat-More-Possum Week had received $2.63 in campaign contributions from the powerful possum lobby. And I missed it.

Independent voter

I had an interesting experience on election day June 4 which I thought you might like to hear about.

My wife and I went to vote. A lady who preceded us at the polling place had registered as Independent. She couldn't even get a ballot. They wouldn't give her a non-partisan ballot. She wasn't even allowed to vote on the propositions.

I wasn't able to understand how the Democrats and Republicans had gotten such a stranglehold on the voting machinery. Is it that we are short on education? Or is it that the people who instruct the folks who run the polling places come up a little short? Or is it possible that a non-partisan just plain can't vote in a primary election?

Is there someone in the crowd who can ease my mind on this matter? I keep seeing that poor registered voter leaving the voting place being unable to vote at all! !—Walt Jackson, Pomona. mona.

Who's using who?

The "leakage" of confidential public documents leads to some very interesting questions.

Do Jack Anderson, The Washington Post, et al who appear to have such ready access to confidential information, pay for it? If not, can the purpose be purely political? If so, who's axe is being ground?

In spite of repeated assurances that national security is not at issue, we wonder. I understand Ellsberg delivered the purloined Pentagon Papers to the Russian Embassy before he did to the Washington Post.

Obviously, there is a conspiracy. Maybe an investigation of the Watergate type, i.e., no holds barred, would be in order. Involvement, real or imagined, could be so widespread that between the two investigations we might end up with no government.—Ray O. Swanson, Pomona.

Gossip for today

What's new in the Halls of Ivy? I'm glad you asked. It is always gratifying to learn that people still have a healthy respect for the accomplishments of our institutions of higher learning. And you will undoubtedly be delighted to learn that UCLA has announced that women will be allowed to play alongside men on any athletic team they can qualify for. Next thing you know our universities and colleges will be offering athletic scholarships for women. — You'd think that great educational advancements would be ample for one week but one should never underestimate the lengths to which our dedicated educators will go to make possible an enlightened world This was also the week a Nottingham University genetics lecturer announced that "snails have a fascinating sex life."

The real causes of church decline

The largest single dispute going on in the churches of North America for three or four years has been over social involvement. Mainline Christian churches stood early and strong with the Civil Rights movement and later became strong advocates of minority education, employment and housing. This irritated conservative believers no end, who urged religious leaders to get back to the Gospel and the Bible.

Liberal and mainline denominations pitched in with the Peace-Protest movement, lectured Congress and presidents on the immorality of Vietnam and observed that Black Power wasn't all bad. Conservatives and fundamentalists raged at this scenario and demanded that Christians stay inside the Church and outside of politics.

A couple of years ago a Presbyterian agency worried about Angela Davis getting a fair trial, sent a check for $10,000 and the whole ceiling fell in and social involvement cooled for a while. In fact, money and resources froze all over the place. Conservative churchmen gloated at the complaints and concern over cash-flow expressed by liberal, mainline churches.

At last the true world, or at least the true church, was sadder and wiser. The whole decade of Civil Rights, Peace Movements, Black Power, Angela somebody had backfired. The result: lower church attendance, much lower plate collections, and much higher gains for conservative, "Bible" churches.

That is a quick summary of contemporary religion in North America and David A. Smith, management consultant and economics specialist says it is untrue! That's right, and he makes a forceful minority report in Fund Raising Management (January 1974) to contradict the most popular religious cliche of our time (that conservative churches are growing and mainliners are caving in).

Smith did a long and careful study of some 10 Protestant bodies, carefully checking annual budgets, church attendance, per capita giving, inflation, discretionary income, cost of living index—all sorts of input to reach this conclusion:

1) Churches are "in the midst of a long-term economic crises that predates their involvement in civil rights."

2) The real cause of the churches' financial crises is "the economic environment with which the churches are ill-equipped to cope".

3) Parish churches are far from prospering. Churches were receiving "a diminishing share in the national income for more than 10 years. At no time did giving go up rapidly enough to meet rising costs".

David A. Smith has put this together in a report, "The Economic Life of the Churches" and ought to be read by every churchman who has blamed Angela Davis, the Berrigan Brothers, Jane Fonda and James Foreman for the unnerving slide in church attendance and plate collections.

And on the money angle, Smith publishes real live charts that indicate that "liberal" and "mainline" church members regularly contribute more cash to church causes than do their "conservative" brethren. (Mainline members gave $70 in 1960; Conservatives averaged $64. In 1969, mainliners were at $89, Conservatives at $79.)

Church attendance hit an all-time high in 1958, and then started a steady decline—at least four years BEFORE the Civil Rights protests and certainly six or eight years before the flexing of the Peace movement.

All this does not solve the economic crunch that has hit the churches in Canada and the United States. But it does take away some of the name-calling and much of the scolding that is so unseemly for the followers of Christ.

Death rate high for babies born of alcoholic mothers

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Babies born to alcoholic mothers may die of "fetal alcohol syndrome," says a University of Washington doctor.

Dr. Kenneth Jones, speaking at a birth defects conference sponsored by the UCLA school of medicine and the March of Dimes, said Wednesday this syndrome affects about 43 per cent of the babies of women who are severe alcoholics.

Besides death, characteristics of the syndrome are smallness at birth despite a full-term pregnancy, slow weight gain and disproportionately small heads for the baby's size.

Jones said women who are alcoholics should be advised of the sysdrome so that they can decide whether to get an abortion or cut down drinking. ing9

Jones said the syndrome was noticed while a team of doctors conducted a preliminary check of eight children born to alcoholic mothers at a county hospital in Seattle.

He said of the eight children first investigated, four showed severe effects of the syndrome.

"Their average length was 65 per cent that of the average, and their weight, at the end of a year of special medical and nutritional care, was only 35 per cent of normal," Jones said.

The findings led to a further study of babies of alcoholic mothers based on statistics provided by the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke.

He said after studying 55,000 women and their babies, doctors were able to positively identify 23 alcoholic mothers, mostly by the observations of attending physicians.

Jones said the investigating team was aware there were more alcoholic mothers among the 55,000, but there was no way to identify them.

Of the 23 mothers identified, 10 had a "serious" outcome of their pregnancies, he said.

"That is," he said, "four of the babies died before they were a week old, and of the 19 who survived, six had the typical physical marks of the fetal alcohol syndrome."

Driver booked in fatal crash

WEST COVINA (UPI) — The driver of a small sports car was booked on suspicion of felony drunk driving and manslaughter Wednesday after the auto slammed into a guard rail, killing one of his passengers and seriously injuring himself and another passenger.

Eric Hickman, 21, of La Puente was dead on arrival at Intercommunity Hospital in Covina.

The driver, Jack O. Nesbitt, 21, of Covina, was listed in fair condition at County-USC Medical Center with internal injuries. The other passenger, David G. McDonnell, also of La Puente, was also listed in fair condi'ion with possible broken ribs at County-USC.

2nd of two mass murder suspects found guilty

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI) — One of two men accused of killing 17 persons in a California-Arizona crime spree was convicted this week on nine counts of first-degree murder.

San Joaquin County Superior Court Judge Chris Papas rendered the verdict against Willie L. Steelman, 29, Lodi, Calif., after the defendant waived his right to trial by jury. Papas said the evidence was circumstantial but it was overwhelming.

Steelman's accomplice, Douglas Gretzler, 23, New York, previously pleaded guilty to nine murder counts.

Steelman and Gretzler were accused of killing two others in California and six others in Arizona.

The nine counts here were for the Nov. 6, 1973, slaying of four members of the Walter Parkin family and five neighbors in the Parkins' Victor home to coverup a grocery robbery.

Papas will sentence the two men July 8, and then they will be extradited to Arizona.

When Papas' decision was announced, a relative of one victims leaped to his feet and shouted at Steelman:

"Hey, punk, how tough do you feel now."

Poem about ghetto wins boy award

CHICAGO (UPI) — "Describe the ghetto as best you can" is the first line of Donald Franklin's award-winning poem. Even though he doesn't live in the ghetto, his insight is uncanny.

Donald, a 13-year-old seventh grader, was one of five seventh and eighth graders chosen as poet laureates by Illinois Poet Laureate Gwendolyn Brooks.

Miss Brooks said the poems were mostly about love and nature, but a number of black children, like Donald, wrote their poems with a harsher edge.

The poem, entitled "In the ghetto," goes this way:

Describe the ghetto as best you can,

The dirty streets, the drunken man,

The lifeless puppy found on the curb,

The crying baby that's never heard.

Broken windows, poverty-stricken homes,

Platform shoes, natural combs.

In the ghetto some encounter drugs,

And some are beaten by merciless thugs.

So terrible these things seem to be,

But still the ghetto is home to me.

Donald said he got the idea for the poem from movies, television and several of his friends "who live in the ghetto and tell me the kind of things that go on there."

His mother, Mrs. Donald Franklin, described him as a loner and a bookworm, who usually composes poems about weather, nature or spring.

"I wanted to do something different for this contest," he said. "It took me about two days to write this one. See, when I write a poem, it takes time. I write a couple of lines and sit back and think a little and then write a couple more lines."

In his last stanza Donald spoke about the ghetto —"So terrible these things seem to be, but still the ghetto is home to me.'

"I knew I wanted to top it off with something from the heart," he said. "After I wrote all those bad things about the ghetto, I thought I would put in something good."

Whale died of asphyxiation

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Mamuk, the 6,000-pound killer whale who performed at a marine world, died last week of asphyxiation, according to an autopsy report.

"We have not determined how the asphyxiation was caused, but we have been able to rule out some factors," Dr. Kenneth Gray of Texas A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine said recently. "It was not caused by drowning, vandalism, inadequacies in food or water quality or other extrensic factors causing unconsciousness."

Mamuk, between 13 and 16 years old, died Friday.

Reliance on acupuncture as disease cure a danger

CHICAGO (UPI) — Promiscuous use of acupuncture as a disease cure poses an important and potentially dangerous health problem, the director of the federal government's acupuncture study committee says.

In the current edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association, committee head Dr. John J. Bonica warned that unwarranted use of acupuncture in efforts to cure a variety of ailments is potentially dangerous.

Needles can break off in patients, vital internal organs can be punctured, spinal damage could occur and —most seriously —reliance on acupuncture therapy could delay initiation of proper medical treatment until it is too late for such treatment to succeed, he warned.

"Many unscrupulous persons are exploiting the public's interest by the way they operate their acupuncture 'centers' or 'institutes'. In addition to the fact that such facilities are usually run more like 'mills', where several hundred patients are treated daily and are charged what I consider exorbitant fees, they mislead the public and lure patients with their Madison Avenue techniques of advertising their 'miracle cures,' claims that often are based on short-term results in one or at most a few patients," Bonica said.

He said that, in order to establish acupuncture's efficacy during its temporary legalization, the technique should be considered experimental and should be used in laboratory studies, controlled clinical trials and clinical surveys.

There is sufficient evidence, he said, that acupuncture may find a place in accepted American medicine. But, he added, "I know of no incontrovertible scientific evidence that it is any more than placebo therapy or that it has high theraputic efficacy in the many disease states for which it is being used."

He said that, through his reviews of acupuncture on a three-week trip to China, communication with other American doctors and reviews of articles, the claims of high efficiency of acupuncture in China are not based upon well-controlled clinical trials.

"In fact," he wrote, "in many health stations (in China) and even some hospitals, no records are kept of either the patient's history or his response to therapy."

Bullet-proof vests due for L.A. police

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council Tuesday appropriated $350,000 to buy bullet-proof vests for the city's 7,000 policemen after such a vest saved the life of an officer who bought it on his own.

Motorcycle policeman Frank F. Goulard routinely wore the protective vest on duty, although he had to spend $50 of his own money on it and it was an unusual practice.

He halted a car for a routine traffic offense last month, and as he approached the auto, the driver fired a pistol into his chest at close range.

The impact knocked Goulart down and bruised his chest, but the vest halted the bullet and he was not seriously injured.

A similiar incident occurred last week in San Francisco.

The Police Protective League said that following two such vivid examples, many officers were spending their own money to buy the vests before the City Council decided to make them standard issue.

River closed to rafts over recent deaths

RIGGINS, Idaho (UPI) — The U. S. Forest Service has closed the swirling "River of No Return" to all raft-riders because it has claimed four lives in recent days.

A spokesman for the Sawtooth National Recration Area said recently that the main fork of the Salmon River got its ominous nickname because "it is treacherous at best." He added that the current flood stage has made it "an entirely different river."

A couple who were part of a 43-member raft party drowned Monday 60 miles east of here. The rest of the party were airlifted to Salmon, Idaho.

Two members of a 25-person rafting party drowned Friday near Challis, Idaho.

Salmon River Manager Jim Wiley said logs and debris in the rampaging water were increasing the hazards.

And, he said, Forest Service officials just last week warned river runners "they were crazy to go down."

Airmen in Thailand net 45,000 pennies

BANGKOK (UPI) — American airmen on a U.S. Air Force Base in Central Thailand have collected 45,000 pennies in a drive to recirculate the scarce coins, U.S. Military Authorities said recently.

The drive was held at Takhil Roual Thai Air Force Base, 100 miles north of Bangkok. U.S. currency is used on the six air bases maintained by the United States in Thailand.

Musical America needs ear plugs

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

I was dismayed but not really surprised to learn recently that 44 per cent of American homes contain a person or persons who play (plays) a musical instrument. I should have been an ear doctor.

From a million suburban homes at all hours of the day and night float the faltering squeals of little Sally playing "Humoresque" on the violin, or the piercing blasts of young Bill's trumpet in "March Militaire" or the thunder of a rock group (amplified) loosening the plaster with "Let the Sun Shine In." The music of the spheres.

The American Music Conference recently conducted a survey of 850 homes to find out who played what in musical America. The canvass of clarinets, the pool of percussion, the survey of strings was not great in scope, but it resulted in some unsettling statistics.

Over 50 per cent of the homes boasted (or confessed) a piano player, from runny-nosed Lucy plunking out "The Happy Farmer" to the graduate student in musicology who fancies himself the new Dave Brubeck and is saving up for a Moog Sunthesizer. In between are Mother, who used to play at the church, fingering out "Jesus Wants Me for a Sunbeam," and Father who knows two chords and, after a few drinks, sits down at the keyboard to hammer out "Cool Water" and "The Wabash Cannonball."

To the surprise of practically no one, the AMC survey revealed that 92 per cent of the houses sheltered a guitar player — and most of them need shelter. My astonishment was that the figure was so low. Guitars are inexpensive, easy to play and estheically satifying. Everyone plays guitars, from Grandma, who was born before bluegrass, to pimply little Freeddy who thinks the guitar was invented by Elvis Presley.

If you have in your home a novice on the piano or guitar, you may be tempted — nay, driven — to climb the walls from time to time, but pity the poor parents in homes where violins (7 per cent) and band instruments (10 per cent) hold sway.

A violin played by a master (Rubinstein, Segovia, et. al.) is bad enough, but in the hands of little Catharine, the shining yellow instrument becomes a device of torture that would have interested Torquemada. The correct notes sounds like fingernails scraping a blackboard) the sour notes can pierce an eardrum.

Add to the trauma of a pig-tailed daughter dedicated to two hours of daily practice the exuberance of young Willy on his new trumpet (or drums, horn, bassoon, trombone or saxophone). This is decible disaster, an exercise in lease-breaking. Willy sails into "The March of the Priests" from "Aida" like the Seventh Army entering Paris.

Musical instruments played in 44 per cent of our homes? Are there no zoning laws? Pianos, violins, drums, flutes — whatever happened to Little League?

Insect chews oak leaves

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — An insect pest, which appears in cycles, is chewing up the leaves of the California black oak trees in the Running Springs and Lake Gregory areas of the San Bernardino Mountains.

Deputy State Forester John Hastings reported Wednesday that the pest, known as the leaf roller, is a nuisance but does not usually destroy trees. trees.

The last time the leaf roller made its appearance was in 1951 and 1952, Hastings said.

Tragic finish to honeymoon: mass suicide

TAKASAKI, Japan (UPI) — Yoshito Furuta, 36, wanted his new bride and his two children by his late first wife to see their own country. They set out in the car to visit the most famous scenic spots of Japan, taking snapshots along the way. Then they headed home to Nagano Prefecture, 150 miles north of Tokyo.

Sunday the bodies of all four were found in their sedan. Police said they were victims of mass suicide by carbon monoxide fed into the car by a hose attached to the exhause pipe.

Police believe they killed themselves because of the opposition of the 22-year-old bride's parents to the marriage.

Ask Dr. Brothers

View of busing

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm a successful black businessman and the father of four. I'm trying to bring my children up with respect for themselves but also with respect for all their brothers and sisters, black and white. I don't want my children to be racists and to think all whites are evil and stupid.

My children, my wife and I are now in the midst of a busing battle with our predominantly white community. Tempers on both sides are running high and I find it difficult to keep my cool. I'm amazed at the stereotyped thinking of many seemingly intelligent whites. They don't seem to be aware that there are good, strong black families and that we care as much about our children as whites do about theirs. What most parents, black or white, want is the best education for their children. To me, busing guarantees a better education because it means that eventually all schools will be upgraded, have better teachers, better books and equipment. I'm trying to teach my children to share but it's hard when our community is so set against sharing.— V.J.

Dear V.J.: As I'm sure you know, there are many arguments pro and con but children have been traveling in little red or yellow school buses for many years so, clearly, the bus is not the problem.

The concept of busing children to maintain racial balance is rather new and any new idea is jarring and controversial. Basically, busing shakes people's sense of territory. Claiming personal territory is one way of expressing prejudice. For years, blacks were assigned separate restrooms, restaurants, bus space, and schools. Now, middle-income people are organizing around another special issue. We must learn to share space and this is one of the problems that is bound to dominate our future. We are going to have to stop putting people in boxes whether these boxes are spacial or intellectual, boxes that produce the stereotyped thinking you mention.

Opponents of busing often base their arguments more on emotion than on fact. There is much evidence that desegregated education improves life opportunities for both black and white children. We learn through diversity — too much sameness tends to deaden men's minds and is apt to lead to more stereotyped thinking.

There is little doubt that the great misunderstandings that exist between black and white come from too much separation. We cannot hope to understand people if we never see them, if we never get to know them. Sociologist Robert Hill stresses that it is time to destroy the many misconceptions that exist in people's minds. Hill found strength, stability and many positive characteristics in black family life. He complains that often sociologists study only the most negative examples of black family life.

Many middle-class white children today are, through communal living, trying to find the sense of the large, extended family known to most blacks. There is a general yearning for human contacts that approximate the richness of extended family life still familiar in some strong black families.

Blacks and whites have a great deal to share and to learn from each other if each is willing to open himself to new ideas. Prejudice springs from ignorance and familiarity breeds not contempt, but understanding.

Woman achiever interviews

P-B supplement slated

Valley Women, a supplement of the Progress-Bulletin highlighting activities of all women's clubs in the valley, will be published July 23.

Madame President, will your club be included?

Fact sheets, sent out May 24 to club presidents or publicity chairmen, are due this week if they are to be included in the special edition.

If any club has not received the form to be filled out, an officer of the organization should contact the Progress-Bulletin women's editor, Mrs. Mary Remillard, at the newspaper, 622-1201, this week.

The annual edition will carry interviews with the four Woman Achievers for the valley who were selected recently by a panel of judges, in addition to stories of almost 200 women's clubs.

ORDINANCE NO. 2696

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF POMONA, CALIFORNIA, AMENDING ORDINANCE NUMBER 1673 OF THE CITY OF POMONA, ALO KNOWN AS THE CODE OF THE CITY OF POMONA, BY ADDING THERETO SECTION 20-26.2 TO CHAPTER 20 TO PROVIDE FOR UNDERGROUNDING UTILITY LINES AS A CONDITION WHICH MAY BE IMPOSED IN CONNECTION WITH BUILDING PERMITS.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF POMONA, CALIFORNIA AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I. That Ordinance No. 1673 of the City of Pomona, California is hereby amended by adding thereto Section 20-26.2 to provide as follows:

(A) DEFINITIONS. For the purposes of this part, the following words and phrases shall have the meaning ascribed to them as hereinafter set forth, except where the context hereof clearly requires a contrary meaning:

(1) Undergrounding shall mean the location or relocation of utilities so that all of the utility facilities are located under the surface of the ground, except for appurtenances and associated equipment, including but not limited to, surface mounted transformers, pedestal mounted terminal boxes and meter cabinets and concealed ducts. All such undergrounding work, where required. shall be constructed and maintained in accordance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations, including but not limited to, rules, regulations and tariffs, applicable to the affected utility, adopted or approved by the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California;

(2) Utility or utility facilities shall mean wire, conduit and similar devices designed and-or utilized for supplying and-or distributing electrical energy and-or services, telephone, telegraph or cable television service to a consumer.

(B) UNDERGROUNDING OF UTILITIES. WHEN REQUIRED. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Code, the undergrounding of utility facilities shall be required in all of the following circumstances, except as hereinafter expressly provided:

(1) All utilities to serve any property upon which it is proposed to construct or reconstruct any building or structure, or combination thereof, for which a building permit is required, where the estimated cost of such construction is $3,000 or more; and

(2) Relocations. All structures to be relocated into or within the City of Pomona upon any parcel of land shall be required to install underground utilities where the usable floor area of such building or structure to be relocated is a total of 850 square feet or more.

(3) Responsibility for Compliance. The owner and person who occupies any property to which this section applies, shall be responsible for compliance therewith, including but not limited to, obtaining the installation of required facilities by the appropriate utility company or companies.

(C) EXEMPTION. The City Engineer shall grant an exemption from the provisions hereof:

(1) If he finds that the temporary nature of the development makes such installations unreasonable; or

(2) If he finds all of the following facts present.

(a) That all adjacent properties are served by overhead utility facilities; and

(b) That the compliance with the provisions of this section constitute an undue financial hardship which renders the proposed development economically unfeasible; and

(c) That the owner of the property involved agrees, in writing, to join and participate without protest in an undergrounding utility district should one be initiated pursuant to applicable law. Such agreement shall be recorded and shall bind all assignees and successors in interest to the then owner of said property.

(3) If he finds that the development comprises a single R-1 lot surrounded by improved developed property, all of which have aboveground utilities.

(D) APPEALS. Appeal may be made from the decision of the granting authority through procedures provided by Section 20-27 of this chapter.

SECTION II. The Clerk shall certify to the passage and adoption of this ordinance and shall cause it to be published as required by law, and it shall be in full force and effect 30 days from the time of its final approval.

BIG REUNION SUNDAY

Dodger pitcher Ralph Branca (L) and Bobby Thomson of the Giants will recreate that famous 1951 home run Sunday during the annual Oldtimers Game at Dodger Stadium.

Dodgers eager for Giants

By BILL LANGLEY
P- Sports Editor

LOS ANGLES — The Dodgers and Giants get together for one of their usually wild weekends in a three-game series at Dodger Stadium beginning tonight.

However, this weekend is a little special with former Dodger and Giant stars getting together Sunday afternoon at the annual Oldtimers Day gettogether.

The Dodgers will be happy to get back to Western oppositioon after a 2-4 road trip against the East. Los Angeles' lead has been cut to five games over the surprising second-place Atlanta Braves, who will be in town next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and six above the Cincinnati Reds.

This season is proving to be a big contrast from 1973 for the Dodgers.

Last year, the Dodgers blew apart the East in compiling a 48-24 record but the 47-42 mark against the West cost the pennant. This season, L.A. is a healthy 24-9 over its Western rivals but only 20-14 versus the East.

San Francisco comes to town in fifth place 12 games off the pace. It's obvious manager Charlie Fox's club must start to jell to remain much longer in the pennant race.

The Giants are one of the few clubs to hold a series edge over the Dodgers this season. San Francisco has enjoyed four wins in the previous seven meetings.

As expected, the Dodgers are planning for big crowds this weekend with more than 40,000 estimated both tonight (7:30 p.m.) and Saturday (7 p.m.). Sunday's Oldtimers Day attraction should attract a full house.

The Dodgers have announced tickets at all price levels are still available for tonight and Saturday. General admission tickets priced at $1.50 may still be purchased for Sunday's game on a reversed seat basis.

Andy Messersmith (7-2), who has allowed only one earned run in his last 36 innings, will take the mound tonight against the Giants' Tom Bradley (6-7). Saturday's probables are Don Sutton (6-6) vs. Jim Barr (4-3), who has hurled two consecutive shutouts. On Sunday, it is scheduled to be Tommy John (10-2) vs. Ron Bryant (2-8).

Obviously, the big attraction this weekend is Sunday's Oldtimers game. This year's theme features former Dodger and Giant stars.

Ex-Dodgers scheduled to play include Don Drysdale, Lou Johnson, Joe Medwick, Wally Moon, Andy Pafko, Pee Wee Reese, Pete Reiser, Phil Regan, Johnny Podres, John Roseboro, Roy Campanella, Joe Black, Sandy Amoros, Don Newcombe, Maury Wills, Ralph Branca and Ron Perranoski.

Willie Mays will head the Giants' delegation. Others are Johnny Mize, Dusty Rhodes, Hank Sauer, Eddie Stanky, Bill Rigney, Bobby Thompson, Monte Irvin, Sal Maglie, Casey Stengel, Wes Westrum, Len Gabrielson, Tom Haller, Sid Gordon and Herman Franks.

The Oldtimers festivities will begin at 1 p.m. with the regular Dodger-Giant game moved back to 2 p.m.

Baseball classic at Chino tonight

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — Only two days ago Jim Rawls of Chino was fit to be tied.

Two of his top players had supposedly signed pro baseball contracts leaving his South squad definite underdogs for tonight's Pomona Valley All-Star Baseball Game.

The 8 p.m. starting time at Chino High was, for the fourth year, to highlight the top 16 high school senior baseball players of the North opposing the top 16 of the South.

Two South stars did sign with major league teams and two others were reportedly to have inked contracts — three are pitchers — thus leaving the South's pitching plans a little weak.

Rawls must have put in a couple of words with the MAN upstairs because both Bob Salas and Dean Olson of Nogales suddenly, without warning to Rawls (the South coach), showed up to practice Wednesday night.

The result is that the pre-game underdogs are suddenly rated at least even because of their flame-throwing duo. Salas (9-1) is a righthanded fireballer while Olson (9-3) fires bullets from the port side.

Rawls said that Olson decided to hold off signing his pro contract so he could participate in tonight's game. In fact, he'll sign Saturday morning.

Salas because of legal reasons won't sign until the 28th of the month, thus making him eligible to play with the South.

Emotionally Rawls could begin to feel like a yo-yo. First he was down because of the expected signings. Then he was up when they showed up to practice. Then shortstop Scott Richartz signed with the Chicago White Sox.

The Chino coach added Cowboy Mark Milton and Rowland's Dave Bourque and tried to get the Raiders' Lew Johnson to fill the supposed vacated positions.

Then Rowland's Al Emeterio elected not to play while Bourque suffered two broken bones in his foot Thursday night in an American Legion game.

So now Rawls must come up with a third baseman.

Each team has practiced at the game site the past two days and both Rawls and North coach Herb Christian are elated with the workout sessions.

"We've really got a great bunch of guys," said Rawls. "I'm really impressed with those Nogales kids. Salas and Olson are super and that Mario Rojas (catcher) just goes and goes.

"Our outfield is our weak spot. Not defensively but at the plate. (Pat) Proulx is looking real good at shortstop and (Mike) Pittman has made a great shift to second base. We have Rod Weigand, Mark Canavan and Olson to play first. Rojas, (George) Bjorkman, and (Tracy) Cowger are three really good receivers."

"I've been impressed with the hitting. Everybody has just been wrenching the ball. Pittman hit three out of the park and Bourque blasted one the other day," concluded Rawls.

"I'm quite pleased with the practices," said Christian. "And they've had great attitudes. It's kind of strange in that they know of each other, but being basically from two different leagues (San Antonio and Hacienda) it's a nice experience having them playing together."

"Wednesday we went through the usual practices with hitting and defensive situations. But Thursday we practiced hitting and fielding in game-type situations. They've cooperated well, coming with the attitude of getting together as a team."

Both coaches agree that pitching will be the deciding factor.

"This game has to feature the best pitching staffs for both teams of any of the previous all star games." said Rawls.

And both strategists feel the game will be low scoring.

AAU finals begin today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The 86th annual National AAU track and field championships, featuring nine-flat sprinter Ivory Crockett and half-mile sensation Rick Wohlhuter, begins today on a track that could produce a cluster of world records.

The two-day, 19-event competition is scheduled on UCLA's lightning-fast Tartan surface.

Unlike last year's AAU meet at Bakersfield, Calif., the athletes will be competing in meters and not yards.

Crockett, an IBM marketing representative from Peoria, Ill., set his 9.0 100-yard dash world record at Knoxville, Tenn., May 11.

The 24-year-old former Southern Illinois University student will be matched at 100-meters against lanky Steve Williams, winner of both sprints at last year's AAU meet.

At 100-meters, the slow-starting San Diego State athlete may have the edge because the distance is longer. Also entered is NCAA 100 champion Reggie Jones, a freshman from Tennessee.

At 200-meters, the meet has drawn Jamaica's Don Quarrie, who is a coholder of the world record at that distance.

Wohlhunter was the No. 1 half-miler in the world in 1973 and set a world 880-yard run record of 1:44.6, breaking Jim Ryun's old mark of 1:44.9 set in 1966.

This month the 24-year-old Chicago insurance adjuster bettered his 880 record with a 1:44.1 clocking at Eugene, Ore., and won the U.S. Track and Field Federation mile in 3:55.1.

In addition to Crockett, Quarrie and Wohlhuter, the meet has attracted world high jump record holder Dwight Stones and world shot put record holder Al Feuerbach. Stones (7-6 5/8) and Feuerbach (7-1-7) set their marks last year.

Notable absentees include North Carolina's Tony Waldrop, who was the nation's mile sensation earlier this year; Olympic long jump champion Randy Williams and the state of Oregon's brilliant long distance duo of Steve Prefontaine and Paul Geis.

Waldrop, who ran a disappointing third in the NCAA mile, wired meet director Glenn Davis that he had hurt himself in training.

Williams was disgusted after finishing second to UCLA freshman Jerry Herndon in the NCAA long jump and said he was hanging up his spikes for the year. He has been hampered by injuries this year.

And Prefontaine, last year's AAU three-mile winner, and Geis, who won the NCAA three-mile for the University of Oregon this year, are in Europe.

New Zealand has a quartet of athletes on hand, including somersault long jumper John Delamere, who attends Washington State. Other New Zealanders are John Walker, silver medalist in the British Commonwealth 1,500-meters; Rod Dixon, bronze medalist in the Olympic 1,500-meters, and Dick Quax, the world's No. 2-ranking 5,000-meter runner last year.

Dixon is entered at 1,500, Walker at 800 and Quax at 5,000.

The top two American finishers in each event will qualify for the U.S. team scheduled to face Russia at Durham, N. C., July 5-6, but the Pacific Coast Club athletes, headed by Stones and Feuerbach, plan to boycott the July competition because the AAU has placed restrictions on their summer European travel permits.

The permits prohibit the PCC athletes from competing in Europe June 30-July 7. But, according to Coast Club coach Tom Jennings, his group will leave for Europe Saturday night and compete at Stockholm July 1-2.

The AAU competition gets under way today at 3 p.m. PDT and Saturday at 1 p.m. Six finals will be held today: the high jump, long jump, discus, high hurdles, 100 and 5,000.

NBA expands into Canada

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Basketball Association today voted to expand to Toronto for the 1975-76 season, but did not award the franchise to a specific group.

The move into Canada, which increases the league to 19 teams, backs up Commissioner Walter Kennedy's contention that the NBA "is going international and someday may have franchises in Europe."

Billy Martin's right moves defeat Angels

Grieve's blast came in the bottom of the eighth Thursday night, clearing loaded bases and leading the Texas Rangers to a 7-4 victory over the California Angels.

"Would you believe the success Billy's been having with moves he's been making lately," asked Grieve, a defensive leftfielder and spot starter. "Last night he passed me up to let (Mike) Hargrove face a lefthanded pitcher and Hargrove ties the game with a single. Tonight he brings me in in exactly the same kind of situation and I get the winning hit.

"I think our manager is hot, but that is what it takes to win pennants. Even if those are just hunches Billy has, they are paying off."

Pennant fever is slowly rising in Texas where the Rangers are just one game behind American League West leader Oakland. At two games above .500, the Rangers are hitting consistently but the pitching, particularly where it concerns starter Ferguson Jenkins, has been erratic of late.

Thursday night it was young David Clyde, disturbed in recent games by bad breaks, who went 6 1-3 innings and put down the Angels who kept threatening to break open the game. Reliever Steve Foucault came on in the seventh to snuff a rally and take the win, his third against two losses.

The Angels took a 2-0 lead against Clyde after three innings but Texas had tied it at 2-2 by the sixth. California went to 3-2 in the seventh and Texas tied it again.

In the eighth, California again went out in front with a run, but Texas opened its half of that inning with singles by Jeff Burroughs and former Angel Jim Spencer.

Len Randle failed to bunt as Burroughs charged for home on the squeeze play but umpire Bill Deegan ruled third baseman Paul Schall missed the tag and Burroughs made it back to third.

Dick Selma, a 30-year-old righthander who has been with five clubs in a 10-year major league career, was removed from the California Angels' roster pending assignment Thursday.

At the same time, the Angels announced they have recalled another righthander, Eduardo Figueroa, 25, from their Salt Lake City farm club.

Heavy purses for Hollypark stakes races

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The $50,000-added Wilshire Handicap at Hollywood Park Saturday has a field of 11 top fillies and mares for the mile and one-eighth grass test, but the weekend's highlight is Sunday's $150,000 Hollywood Gold Cup.

Entries will be taken today for the 35th running of the invitational Gold Cup, a mile and one-quarter event that will pay $90,000 to the winner.

Two of racing's big guns— Quack and Ancient Title—are expected to go against each other Sunday.

Trainer Charlie Whittingham has two entries in the Wilshire —Aaron Jones' La Zanzara and Mrs. Howard B. Keck's Tallahot. Each will carry high weight of 121 pounds.

Laffit Pincay, who rode his 103rd winner of the meeting Thursday, will be aboard Tallahot, while Howard Grant is scheduled to be ride La Zanzara.

Little Leagues get 'hot potato'

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

All is not peaches and pigtails with the recent National Little League decision to allow girls to do diamond battle with the boys in Little Leagues across the country.

According to Dick McCormick of Diamond Bar, the District 20 Little League administrator, the national L.L. organization has tossed a "hot potato" into the laps of the local leagues.

McCormick, whose district covers the valley area, has no qualms about letting the girls play. He is afraid, however, of some undesirable side-effects the whole movement might bring about.

He is quick to point out that the ruling can have little effect in the local area this season. Little League team rosters are "frozen" at this point and a squad could not legally add a girl even if it wanted to. But McCormick does foresee a flock of the fairer sex signing up to play L.L. ball next season. And that, as Shakespeare said, is the rub.

"The girls are happy about the decision, no questioning that," he explains. "But several things remained unsolved by the national Little League ruling.

"First off, local leagues have just about reached the saturation point as it is with the boys playing. Now you are going to throw in a sizable number of girls who want to play, and many kids as a result will not be able to play at all because there will simply be no room in the program to accommodate them."

Since, in theory, allowing the girls admittance to the world of Little League would approximately double the number of 9-12 year-olds eligible for the program, McCormick's concern over over-crowding seems justified.

"While a few girls will make the teams, the vast majority will not fair so well." McCormick realistically points out. "I hope that the girls' softball programs, sponsored by Little League, will not suffer because of this ruling. Unfortunately, it removes a lot of the pressure on the leagues to adopt a girls' softball program."

Added to the dilemma of where everybody (both boy and girl) will play, an even more serious headache seems inherent in the recent national L.L. ruling.

"Under the new ruling," explains McCormick, "any legal dificulties which might arise will have to be handled by the local leagues, and not by the national L.L. organization. Say, for instance, an irate mother sues the league for discrimination because her daughter did not make a team during tryouts. The legal burden rests on the individual league to either fight the suit or. . . ."

The inference from McCormick's remark seems obvious. The entry of the girls into the Little League ranks might become chaotic if a few overzealous parents decide to attempt to prove in court what their daughters could not prove on the diamond.

"It is my personal opinion that the national Little League headquarters adopted this new stance due to the tremendous legal costs which it was incurring," McCormick states. "Now the national headquarters has said to the local leagues 'the problem is yours', and in effect has dropped a hot potato in our laps."

McCormick is hoping for the best with the girls' entry next season, but as he says, the best thing to do for all concerned is to adopt a "wait and see" attitude.

Two German teams clash in World Cup

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — The world soccer cup turned personal today.

Divided Germany, as politely as a host can, turned its attention from the other 14 competing nations to the potentially bitter contest which brings Communist East Germany and non-communist West face-to-face in an international football match for the first time Saturday.

Police said security would be tough. Thousands of detectives and uniformed officers were ordered on duty for the match at the 60,000-capacity Volkspark Stadium, raised on ruins of World War II.

Special patrols stood by for political demonstrations and the possibility activists would choose the opportunity to cause the first violent disruption of the soccer contest.

The anarchist urban guerrilla Baader-Meinhof group has threatened rocket attacks on the Hamburg stadium and police were making special checks of surrounding areas.

Officials gave permission to 3,000 East German fans to travel to Hamburg for the game. The rest of the crowd were likely to be West German fans rooting for a team which is favorite to win the Cup, but which has not found favor with home fans for its performances to date.

Three crises have hit the West Germans in the last two days:

—Captain Franz Beckenbauer was called on the carpet for spitting and gesturing at spectators booing his side's 3-0 victory over Australia. He agreed it was wrong, but said he was provoked.

— The team complained security measures were excessive and "driving us crazy."

—There were also complaints that trainer Helmut Schoen's two sessions daily training routine was too strict.

West Germany is already through to the second final round and the main battle is for second place between East Germany and Chile.

East Germany played its cards close to its chest today. Team physician Hans Zipfel said three first-choice players, Bernd Bransch, Juergen Sparwasser and Eberhard Vogel, were injured and unlikely to play. But there was no official word on the line-up and unlikely to be until shortly before kick-off.

The Chileans were pinning their hopes on a massive victory against Australia.

Preparations continued Thursday for the other crucial Saturday matches —Scotland vs. Yugoslavia and Brazil vs. Zaire.

World Bowl site switched

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The World Football Association said Wednesday plans were switched for the league's first championship game and scheduled the contest for Jacksonville, Fla., Friday night, Nov. 29.

The "World Bowl" was scheduled originally for Hawaii, but the WFL said that construction delays on Honolulu's new Halawa Stadium precludes the field's being ready this year.

The WFL kicks off its regular season, Wednesday, July 10.

Gems rally from seven-run deficit to beat Rowland, 9-8

By MARK GRIP
P-B Correspondent

POMONA — Better late than never.

Pomona Post 30 overcame a seven run deficit for a 9-8 come-from-behind extra-inning victory over Rowland Heights Legion Thursday night at Ralph Welch Park.

Pomona, trailing 8-1, started their late rally in the seventh inning scoring three runs on five hits and a walk.

Dean Sickles and Gerard Piccioni singled to put runners at first and second where they advanced on a wild pitch. After a fly out, Dave Pedroza, batting for relief pitcher Vince Garcia, walked to load the bases. Mike Keegan singled to left to drive in a run, leaving the bases full. John Freeman, hitting for Dave Lahar, singled to center to drive in two more runs.

Sickles singled to open the eighth, and after a fly out, Larry Pekarcik singled. Mike Keegan walked to load the bases and Lahar's infield hit brought home a run.

Needing three runs to stay in the game, the Gems' Tracy Cowger opened the ninth inning with a triple to left. Roger Slayton grounded to third, then Sickles collected his third hit of the game to drive home Cowger. After a fly out, Pekarcik lined a home run to left to tie the score at 8-8.

To open the tenth, Keegan reached first on an error and went to second on Lahar's single to left. Will Lewallen sacrificed and runners up a base and Tracy Cowger was walked intentionally to fill the bases. Roger Slayton (1-0), the winning pitcher, helped his own cause by knocking in the winning run (Bill Karr who ran for Keegan) with a single to left.

Rowland looked as though they had the game put away early, scoring four in the second and twice in both the fourth and fifth innings.

Kirk Kennedy picked up an RBI in the second on a walk, and Don Pearce blasted home three with a double to center.

Ray Etchebarren and Pearce each picked up a ribbie on a triple and single, respectively, in the fourth.

The two fifth inning runs came as a result of Vyron Smith's triple and a Lewallen error.

The other Gem run came in the first on Mike Wooten's fielders choice in the first inning.

Rowland used four different pitchers in trying to thwart the Gem hitting attack. Smith, the losing pitcher, was used twice by Rowland coach Jack Hodges. Smith relieved starting pitcher Dave Bourque in the fourth inning and again in the tenth.

Walnut remained unbeaten in San Gabriel Valley Throbred League play Thurday by defeating host Charter Oak No. 2.

The Reds jumped out to a 5-0 lead and then had to hold off a Charter Oak rally to finally win, 7-3, and pick up its seventh straight league victory.

The win gives Walnut a 12-1-1 record for the season.

Red pitcher Jim Vallandingham went the distance, allowing only two hits, in picking up his sixth win of the season without a loss.

The two hits were in the fourth (a single) and the seventh (a bases loaded double).

Ken Czarnecki, who drove in a pair of runs with a single in the fifth inning, finished the day going four-for-four at the plate.

Mark Canavan, who singled home two runs in the seventh inning, finished the game going two-for-three and collecting three runs batted in.

The Reds will now face La Puente Saturday Saturday at 4:30 p.m. on the Mt. San Antonio College diamond.

Claremont's Post 78 American Legion team piled up six runs within two innings and ran away with an 8-2 victory over visiting Victor Valley.

The Cardinals plated two runs in the in the fourth inning to take a 3-0 lead on Lou Cudillo's run-scoring single and Carl Cervantes' one-run double.

Then the hosts exploded for four more runs in the fifth to grab a 7-1 lead on Tony Janusz' RBI single, Jim Ayers' two-run double and Paul Sokolowski's scoring fly ball.

Caudillo went two-for-three and drove in two runs to lead the Cards to their 11th victory against nine losses. Claremont now faces Arcadia Post 247 Saturday at 2 p.m. at Pomona College in District 18 play.

Owners nix option clause abolition

NEW YORK (UPI) — Try as they might, the National Basketball Association Board of Governors couldn't pick Commissioner Walter Kennedy's successor Thursday—but they did reject an abolition of the controversial option clause.

Kennedy, who has already resigned but will serve either until June 1, 1975 or until his successor is found, said that most of Thursday's meeting "was taken up with the discussion of a proposal negotiated between the NBA and the Players Association. The proposal would have eliminated the option clause, to be replaced by a form of right of first refusal for a team giving up a player at the time he finishes his contract."

But the owners rejected the proposal flatly.

"They didn't even have to take a vote," Kennedy said. The vote brought an abrupt halt to attempts to bring about a merger of the NBA and the American Basketball Association.

The NBA's top executive said that no compensation for a team losing a player was included in the proposed elimination of the reserve clause. The right of first refusal would give a team, whose player is playing out his option and negotiating with another team, the right to match a new and higher offer within 15 days before the player could jump teams.

"Because of this," Kennedy said, "no discussion of a possible accommodation with the ABA came up—by a merger, through legislation or through a court of law.

"The Players Association must also be satisfied because they are an interested party."

The Players Association has an injunction against the merger of the two leagues, filed in 1970, which was upheld by Justice Robert Carter of the Southern District of New York Federal Court.

Larry Fleischer, attorney for the Players Association, called the action "absurd, astonishing —this is not a proposal, this is a settlement.

"But I wasn't really shocked," Fleischer said. "After yesterday, I began to be really wary. I didn't believe anything the owners would produce from this meeting would be meaningful in any way. Nothing that was discussed leads me to believe the owners want the players to have any kind of freedom."

Fleischer said it was now up to the owners to determine if a merger with the ABA can be achieved.

After meeting more than nine hours Wednesday, the owners temporarily tabled further discussion of a successor for Kennedy and took up their television schedule and a report from legal counsel on the development of several lawsuits in which the league was involved.

Kennedy said that the Board of Governors did pick Milwaukee as the site for the 1977 All-Star Game and gave Atlanta the 1978 game. Previously, Phoenix was awarded the 1975 game and Philadelphia chosen for the 1976 classic.

Behm scores two victories

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Don Behm, an East Lansing, Mich., buzzsaw who was voted the outstanding wrestler in last year's tournament as a 125-pounder, stepped up to the 136.5 bracket Thursday night and collected two wins in the opening session of the National AAU Senior Freestyle Wrestling championships.

Behm, a 26-year-old athlete with quick, cat-like moves, pinned Robert Martinez of Lancaster, Calif., in 3:25 in his first round match and decisioned Howard Willey, Goleta, Calif., 15-0 to advance into Friday's third round.

Hunter a 'money' pitcher

By United Press International

Putting your money on Jim Hunter for a "big" game is like investing it in blue-chip stock.

Hunter is fast gaining a reputation as a "money" pitcher—the kind who performs best under pressure in an important game—and the 28-year-old righthander feels most comfortable in such a situation.

The Oakland A's ace pitched an important game against the red-hot Kansas City Royals Thursday night and came through with a five-hit shutout in leading his club to a 4-0 victory that preserved their lead in the American League West.

"I enjoy pitching in a game which calls for some bearing down. You like to throw in an important game and over a long season there just aren't that many of them," said Hunter.

Of course, winning a big game is nothing new to Hunter. Last season he pitched a shutout against Baltimore in the decisive fifth game of the AL playoffs, then won the crucial sixth game of the World Series against the New York Mets. And the year before, he won two games in the World Series, including the decisive seventh game when he worked in relief after starting the second and fifth games.

The A's, who had been in a slump of late and had seen their lead in the West Division dwindle to one-half game over Kansas City, increased their lead to one and a half games after Thursday night's victory. Kansas City had entered the game with six victories in their last eight outings, while Oakland had lost eight of its last 11.

"You can't ask for a better guy to be out there on the mound when you need a big win in the opener of an important series," said A's Manager Alvin Dark.

"He's the best money pitcher in the league," added Oakland third baseman Sal Bando.

Hunter, who picked up his first victory in nearly a week, struck out four and walked none in boosting his record to 98. Only one runner got as far as third base.

Dick Green provided a two-run homer and Bert Campaneris, back in the lineup after missing seven games because of a hand injury, collected three hits as the A's pinned the loss on Al Fitzmorris, now 6-3.

In the only other scheduled AL games, Minnesota beat Chicago 3-2, Milwaukee blanked Baltimore 6-0 and Texas defeated California 7-4.

New York beat Philadelphia 2-1 and Chicago shutout Pittsburgh 3-0 in the only National League action.

Twins 3, White Sox 2

Tony Oliva's three-run homer in the eighth inning lifted the Twins to victory over the White Sox and prevented Wilbur Wood from winning his 12th game. Wood, who had allowed only four hits over the first seven innings, was touched for two singles in the eighth before Oliva unloaded his fourth homer of the year. Bill Sharp homered for the White Sox.

Brewers 6, Orioles 0

John Briggs' grand-slam homer in the first inning and combined six-hit pitching of Ed Sprague and Tom Murphy enabled the Brewers to defeat the Orioles. The victory, which came less than 24 hours after the Brewers were no-hitted by Kansas City's Steve Busby, was only Milwaukee's second in its last 10 games.

Mets 2, Phillies 1

Rusty Staub doubled home two runs in the fifth inning and Jerry Koosman survived numerous jams to pitch the Mets to victory over the Phillies. Koosman allowed 11 hits but pitched out of a bases-loaded situation in the third and a two-on jam in fourth, fifth and ninth innings to win his seventh game.

Cubs 3, Pirates 0

Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams hit homers to support Rick Reuschel's first shutout of the season as the Cubs snapped the Pirates' six-game winning streak. Reuschel, who scattered 12 hits, allowed at least one hit in every inning, but was pulled out of jams twice by double plays and also struck out seven.

Top draft pick signs with S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants have signed top draft pick Terry Lee, an 18-year-old second baseman from San Luis Obispo High School, who will report to the Great Falls, Mont., team in the Pioneer League.

Lee hit .323 in 21 games this spring. His brother, Mike, signed with the Giants last March and is with Decatur of the Midwest League.

Floyd overcomes laziness, leads

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Did success spoil Ray Floyd?

"Yes," said the first round leader of the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Floyd, who shot a five-underpar 65 in Thursday's first round, with a record-setting 29 on the front side, is having his best season since 1969 when he won three tournaments, including the PGA championship.

During that year he also won the Jacksonville Open and this same American Golf Classic, setting a Firestone course record in the process with a 12-under-par 268 for 72 holes.

"I think it made me lazy," Floyd said of his earlier successes. "I got to thinking I was so good I didn't have to practice."

But now he works on his game and credits that, along with his marriage last December, with turning his game around.

"It was the best round I've played in quite a time," said Floyd, who carried a one-shot lead over Brian Allin and a two-stroke edge over Jerry McGee into today's second round.

Floyd blistered the 7,180-yard Firestone course with five birdies in his first six holes, including putts of 25, 35 and 70 feet.

"I just can't remember having a better putting round," he said.

He said he also had several putts on the back side which could have dropped, but didn't. He got his only bogey in his 29-36 round on the 17th hole when he bunkered his second shot.

Allin, a Vietnam veteran and graduate of Brigham Young University, said he played "good" but "not super."

"I played a lot of safety shots," said Allin. "On this golf course, you have to try to make par."

Allin made the turn in one under 34, getting a lone birdie on the 230-yard fifth hole with a 25-foot putt. He birdied the 11th when he hit a nine iron to within 18 inches and finished with birdies on the 16th and 18th with 10 and seven foot putts.

McGee, from New Lexington, failed to qualify for the tournament but got a sponsor's exemption.

Jim Ferriell came in with a two-under 68 to hold fourth place all alone and there were six players, including host pro Bobby Nichols at one under 69. The others included Jim Simons, Gay Brewer, Ed Sneed, Larry Ziegler and Forrest Fezler.

The Extraordinary Choice From Peugeot

Diesel

It's now in America. The Peugeot 504 Diesel, from one of the world's oldest and largest manufacturers of Diesel passenger cars. Clearly this is a car whose time has come.

This is the automobile for you if you drive often and over long distances. The 504 Diesel is for you if you're concerned with getting maximum economy and efficiency in fuel usage. Or, if you're seriously concerned about the future effects of the energy shortage.

While actual mileage varies depending on road conditions, car maintenance and individual driving habits, in a typical mixture of urban, suburban and highway driving, the 504 Diesel should average around 30 M.P.G. —providing a range of well over 400 miles per tank full. Think about it!

And it has a deserved reputation for remarkable engine life. Fuel economy and durability, certainly nothing new to Peugeot, are enhanced in the Diesel because of its unique characteristics.

With no carburetor, no spark plugs, no distributor and no points or condenser, about half the normal tune-up costs are eliminated.

The Peugeot Diesel has a fuel injection system which is virtually maintenance free. Important too, the Diesel engine is so inherently clean, ecologically, it requires no emissions control devices.

With all this the Peugeot Diesel Sedan and Station Wagon offer the same comfort and handling qualities as the gasoline-powered Peugeot. As well as the same standard features. If you really drive a car long and hard, the 504 Diesel should be your car.

Gasoline

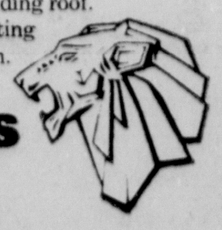
With all the conflicting claims from economy cars, we're tempted to call the 504 the True Economy Car. Because the 504's economy isn't just based on miles per gallon, but, on Peugeot's engine which enables the 504 to deliver maximum engine efficiency consistent with maximum engine life.

That's true economy and Peugeot has it without sacrificing performance (acceleration is 0-50 M.P.H. in 12.1 seconds as reported in a Popular Science road test—November 1973).

The mid-size 504 also gives you the inside roominess of many larger cars and provides a surprising amount of clean, usable luggage space. (Along with a separate easy-access tire compartment.) And it gives you 4-door convenience along with a special child safety lock.

The Peugeot 504 Sedan also delivers these uncommon features as standard: Michelin steel-belted radial tires, sports-car handling ease from 4-wheel independent suspension, rack and pinion steering, 4-wheel power-assisted disc brakes, fully reclining seats, and a steel-sliding roof.

We invite you to make this the year to start appreciating the Peugeot Sedan and Station Wagon. Outside. And in.



The choice is yours

Both models available in Station Wagon.

EASY DOES IT — Adolf Weil of West Germany leads Ake Jonsson of Sweden and current world champion Roger DeCoster of Belgium in a European Grand Prix race. All three will compete in the Hang Ten U.S. Motorcross Grand Prix at Carlsbad.

Americans will see a few new faces in Hang Ten event

CARLSBAD — Adolf Weil, Willi Bauer and Gerrit Wolsink may not be household names to American motorcycle racing fans. But to thousands of motocross zealots across the European continent, these three dashing men are super-stars.

This trio, along with battling Heikki Mikkola of Finland and Roger DeCoster of Belgium — who were recently at each others throats again in Czechoslovakia, are standout entries in the Hang Ten U.S. Motocross Grand Prix, the eighth round in the 500cc motocross world championship which takes place at Carlsbad on July 14.

Theyare part of an invasion of motocross racing talent from fourteen nations scheduled to begin arriving at the San Diego area track following the British Grand Prix on July 7.

In order to remain in world championship contention, these men must be prepared to go all-out at this most demanding of America motocross tracks. Weil, Bauer and Wolsink have no reasons for relaxing the pace now. They are presently seeded third, fourth and fifth in the 500cc point standings behind Mikkola and DeCoster.

Only 22 points separate them, and West Germany's Weil, after a heroic ride in the recent Czech championship round, actually closed to within six points of three times world champion DeCoster who is currently lying second.

Adolf Weil, at 34 is an old hand at motocross but is still able to give the youngsters a hard time at this toughest form of motorcycle racing. A perenial German champion in both the 250cc and 500cc engine classes, Weil has been the Maico team's first string riden for a decade. Willi Bauer, another West Germany, and a Maico teamate of Weil's, will arrive at Carlsbad July 14 with the best possible credentials for victory.

He won last year's first ever world championship round there quite convincingly and will no doubt be after a double this year. At 24, Bauer is ten years younger than his teamate Weil, but he has been runnerup to him in German championships for many years.

Wolsink, of Holland, is a dentist during the non-racing season and this year he is a teamate to DeCoster riding a factory Suzuki. So far he has done an outstanding job of providing support for his hard riding teammate and at the same time he has gathered an impressive amount of world championship points for himself.

However, at the rate point-leader Mikkola and runner-up DeCoster are going it is possible that nobody will overtake them. Incredibly, after five world championship rounds in two months in Austria, France, Italy, Denmark and Czechoslovakia rht two have won every single race between them! They continued their all-out fight in Czechoslovakia on June 9 when Mikkola rode his Husqvarna to a victory in the opening 45-minute heat over DeCoster.

Rain poured down at the start of the second heat, but Mikkola again jumped into the lead. Trying too hard, the furious-riding Finn spilled on a corner, and DeCoster swept past to win as he pleased.

Following the race, DeCoster trailed Mikkola by 46 points but is closing the gap quite consistently. And if the results are indicative, these two could practically be on level footing by the Hang Ten United States Motocross Grand Prix. The same situation existed last year between DeCoster and Bauer and this helps to make the United States Grand Prix one of the most important and exciting events on the championship trail.

American Brad Lackey moved into the top ten in the championship with 24 points following the Czech round. Meanwhile youthful Tony DiStefano from Pennsylvania astounded everyone by blazing to a 12th place finish in his first European start. DiStefano, who is only 17 years old, will also compete in the Hang Ten United States Grand Prix.

1. Heikki Mikkola, Finland	129
2. Roger DeCoster, Belgium	83
3. Adolph Weil, W. Germany	77
4. Willi Bauer, W. Germany	56
5. Gerrit Wolsink, Holland	55
6. Ake Jonsson, Sweden	50

8. Bengt Aberg, Sweden	33

Walnut's Eropkin wins three straight in 125cc

IRWINDALE — Last Friday night's CMC Motocross class winners here at Irwindale Raceway returned this week and successfully defended their triumphs before a crowd of nearly 2,000 fans.

Dave Eropkin of Walnut brought his total to three in a row in the 125cc Pros, this week polishing off Don Bongiorno of La Puente and Mike Bell of Lakewood. If he can win this class this coming Friday, he'll tie the Irwindale record of four straight.

The same is true for South Pasadena's Jim West, although on a larger scale. He hasn't failed to win at least one class here in the last seven meetings, including tonight's sweep of the 500cc Pros, and that effort has tied the Irwindale mark established at the end of last season by then factory Honda ace Dave Pessy. A victory this coming week has even more significance: he's currently tied on the all-time CMC win list with Jeff Wright at 41 firsts apiece. His next success would break that tie.

After a rough stuggle, Jeff Vidic of Glendale was able to do something few riders could this season: beat Fontana's Rex Staten in the 250cc Pros. Staten tried to move in for the kill on the final lap of the final race but couldn't complete the drive and came up empty-handed. It was Vidic's second win in a row in the class and his seventh of the year at Irwindale, more than any other 250cc Pro. West came up with a third in this class on a machine down on power.

CMC-style Motocross occurs every Friday night at Irwindale Raceway with a complete Junior and Intermediate field to fill out the racing program. Racing begins at 7:30 with adult admission only $3, youths 12-16 only $2 and kids over 7 only $1. Those younger get in free.

Drivers fare well in L.B.

LONG BEACH — Nine local drivers won their categories at the recent BMW Auto Club Association Slalom held at Veterans Memorial Stadium here.

Approximately 350 participants competed in 14 different classes in the slalom.

Bill and Barbara Foster each won firsts in their Sprites in times of 65.76 and 67.03, respectively.

Other top performers from the area in the stock class included Jim Whalen (63.63), Terri Bennett (73.81), Mark Walker (65.32), and Lecu-Boles (70.66).

Top area drivers in the modified stock class included Paul Alkeny (57.19), Rick McDermid (60.55) and Paul Volmer (50.26).

Ebeling wins at SGV track

IRWINDALE — Ontario claimer stock car driver, Gary Ebeling, scored his second main event victory of the 1974 season at San Gabriel Valley Speedway in Irwindale last weekend.

Herman Karn claimed second in the 25 lap race with former winner, Ken Smith, third ahead of Les Cooper.

Winnirg the 20 lap "B" feature was John Frechette who downed Buck Collins and Dave Wormley for the victory.

Herman Karn and Richard Maza won the trophy dashes.

Harry Fourdyce claimed victory in the figure eight grand finale chased to the final flag by Jose Tanasi and Bob Mastroleo.

Southland motor racing

CORONA — The United States Racing Club Midgets, one of the top developers in young racing talent in the nation, will be returning to Corona Raceway tonight, beginning at 8 p.m. competing on the big half-mile dirt oval.

USRC has developed some of Southern California finest open cockpit drivers, such as Bobby Olivero, Danny McKnight, Tony Simon, and Chris Cumberworth. In Addition, many USAC drivers have also come from USRC like Jimmy Caruthers, Danny Caruthers, and 1974 Indianapolis Rookie of the Year, Duane "Pancho" Carter.

CORONA — The Third Annual Riverside County Juvenile Hall Auxiliary Benefit T.T. Steeplechase motorcycle program will held this Saturday night, as riders from all over the West Coast and even Texas will be competing beginning at 5:30 p.m. with the Mini Cycles.

GARDENA — It may be Bob Sanders of Whittier, another rookie, who finally catches up with rookie expert Rob Morrison of Granada Hills in the American Motorcycle Association $55,000 summer championship series at Ascot tonight.

Morrison, the protege of his rider-tar-glord, Terry Dorsch, added the trophy dash to his second straight main-event victory last Friday, but Sanders also demonstrated that he is beginning to unravel Ascot's mysteries, too.

GARDENA — The first in a series of three events in the annual "Destruction Derby Nationals" will follow the weekly Figure 8 and oval stock car races at Ascot next Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Featuring drivers from both inside and outside California, the demolition extravaganza will have its own point fund in addition to weekly cash awards.

The finale on July 4 will be part of a "Four Star" program including the Figure 8's "Firecracker Open," a gigantic fireworks display, and an air show, with Lindy Lindenberg in the starring role.

IRWINDALE — A new name has emerged among the stars of NSACAR sportsman racing in competition at San Gabriel Valley Speedway in Irwindale on Friday nights.

Driving out of Yucaipa John Weible, at the wheel of his 1964 Chevelle, moved into third place in points toward the track championship on June 1.

At that time four-time champion, Ivan Baldwin again held the lead with 314 points followed by Jack Roberts with 222 while Weible was only six points back of Roberts with 216.

IRWINDALE — Ken Smith of El Monte seems to have found the winning combination in claimer stock car racing at San Gabriel Valley Speedway and will be back trying for another main event victory this Saturday night.

Smith had scored four trophy dash wins in the first 11 races of 1974, but victory in the longer main events continued to elude him.

SAN BERNARDINO — Alan Brown of San Bernardino has suddenly become a threat to the superstars of NASCAR sportsman stock car racing at his home-town Orange Show Speedway.

The young driver will wheel his 1964 Chevelle into competition this Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. against leading competitors, Ivan Baldwin and Jack Roberts.

The official NASCAR point standings on June 1 showed Baldwin leading in points toward the championship with 362 followed by Roberts with 320.

NCAA tennis finals a wide-open affair

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — With Stanford's Alex Mayer gone, the NCAA tennis title figured to be a wide-open affair this year and that's exactly the way it's turned out.

Top-seeded Brian Teacher of UCLA was beaten Thursday as was second-seeded Victor Amaya of Michigan, No. 3 seeded John Andrews of the University of Southern California and No. 4-seeded George Hardie of Southern Methodist.

Two seeded players — Stanford's John Whitlinger (No. 5) and USC's Sashi Menon (No. 7) —and two unseeded ones — Chico Hagey of Stanford and Steve Wedderburn of Oklahoma City, that's who

The semifinals will be held at UCS's David X. Marks Tennis Stadium at 10 a.m. (PDT) today with Whitlinger and Menon pitted in a best-of-five set match that could decide the team championship.

The finals are Saturday at 1 p.m.

After Thursday's fourth day of competition, the defending champion Cardinals, despite Mayer's decision not to be here, had moved ahead of the Trojans into first place in the team totals.

Stanford had 24 points to 23 for USC and had advanced two singles players as well as the fifth-seeded doubles team of Jim Delaney and Whitlinger.

The Trojans, the only team left with a chance of dethroning Stanford, had Menon left in the singles, plus the top-seeded doubles duo of Andrews and Meron remaining.

The Stanford and USC doubles teams are at opposite ends of the doubles bracket. Two doubles rounds are scheduled today following the WhitlingerMenon and Hagey-Wedderburn matches.

Teacher, a 6-4 sophomore from San Diego, was knocked off by Terry Moor of Northeast Louisiana 2-6, 6-2, 7-6 in Thursday morning's fifth round.

Whitlinger disposed of Hardie 6-4, 6-3 in the quarterfinals, while Hagey upset Amaya 7-6, 7-6 in another quarterfinal match.

Andrews bowed to Freddie de Jesus of Michigan 4-6, 7-6, 7-5 in the fifth round.

In the team scoring after four days, Michigan and Miami (Fla.) were tied for third place with 18 points apiece followed by UCLA and SMU with 17 each. North Carolina with 13, Houston with 12 and Trinity (Tex.), California and Arizona with 11 each.

Orioles sign Trojan star

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — All-America third baseman Rich Dauer of NCAA champion University of Southern California became a member of the Baltimore Orioles Thursday, signing a contract for a "substantial bonus."

Dave Ritterpusch, director of scouting for the Orioles, announced that the 21-year-old Colton, Calif., product will report to Baltimore's Southern League farm club at Asheville, N.C., Monday.

"This is the biggest thrill of my life," said Dauer, who set three NCAA single season records this year. "It's a great organization.

"Baltimore always seems to be fighting for the pennant and they seem to be rebuilding now, too."

Dauer, a 6-foot, 180-pounder, helped USC win its fifth straight NCAA title last week at Omaha, Neb., and was the No. 1 choice of the Orioles in the regular phase of the June free agent draft.

Although Baltimore drafted 24th, Dauer was eighth on the Orioles' draft list, according to Ritterpusch.

Keep hedges in trim shape

Take pride in your hedge. A clipped row of green is a marvelous contribution to the landscape.

On the matter of clipping, the important thing with a formally clipped hedge is to clip it to a pyramidal shape so that the base is wider than the top. This permits the lower reaches of the hedge to absorb the maximum amount of sunlight and stay healthy and dense, rather than thinly foliaged and rangy. You can either round the top or shear it flat. It really doesn't make much difference.

If you seek the strictly formal look of traditional gardens, you have to insure that the top is evenly trimmed and level from one end of the hedge to the other. It's a simple matter to do this if you stretch a string tightly between two stakes at the height you want your hedge. Then clip to that height all the way. This is most important with low to medium hedges since slight variations show more.

According to the California Association of Nurserymen, the other matters of importance to happy hedges are water and food. Few gardeners seem to realize that most hedges like plenty of water and at least two annual feedings. This is no problem where the hedge is next to lawn or flower beds, but many hedges that border a drive or mark a boundry see no water from one rain to the next. A long soaker hose stretched out at the roots insures thorough soaking. As for food, use a complete fertilizer in spring and early summer.

Hedge materials vary widely with the Privet family leading the way.

YARD 'N GARDEN

By Bill Meachem

Former Editor of Home Garden Magazine

SOD, THE INSTANT LAWN

A lawn is essential for a good appearance of the grounds. When you have a good lawn it shows off the rest of the garden at its very best.

Every turf or lawn expert will say that the best time to start a new lawn, especially from seed, is in the fall. But here we are in the spring and you need a lawn—immediately. There is one simple solution. Put down sod. When given proper care, sod can be put down at any time, spring or fall.

Bill Meachem

Sod, as we all know, consists of the actual grass plants in a sheet or roll, like carpet. The green is seen immediately. But if you look at sod closely you will see that it has only a fraction of the roots that a normal grass plant will have. Most of the roots were left in the field where the sod was removed. This is an important thing to remember.

There is also a feeling that sod can be put down on any soil—even that which looks and feels like concrete—and it will grow and flourish. Not so. If you are going to pay the high price one does for sod, give it some good soil to grow in. Prepare the soil just as you would if you were going to plant seed. Add plenty of peat moss and mix this into the upper few inches. Rent a tiller for a day and you will save a lot of digging.

Add some fertilizer. Use one of those made especially for lawns, one with a high nitrogen content. I like to rake the fertilizer into the upper inch when I am raking to smooth out the soil after tilling.

As for the sod: order it in advance. Ask for delivery—from the sod farm directly, if possible—on a day when you can lay it down immediately, which means you should have your soil prepared. Don't let your sod stand around for any length of time; it will start to decompose just like compost if given the opportunity. This is why we advise ordering the sod "from the farm" rather than taking a chance on some that may have been standing in the store for a week or so.

When putting down the sod, make sure that what roots are left make good contact with the soil. Any gap between soil and sod could result in the sod's drying out.

Roll the sod with a lawn roller after it has been laid. This is done to further insure contact between roots and soil. Of course, you should have raked the area pretty thoroughly so that it is nice and smooth. Sod goes on much easier over smooth soil.

Now comes the important part: Be sure to water the sod immediately, and keep it moist for most of the summer. Water it every day if necessary. The reason: Those roots that were removed must be replaced, and the only way they will grow well is by their having ample water. You also need more water than normal because the reduced number of roots have to work harder to get it.

Not all sod is 100 per cent free of weed. There may be a few popping up here and there. The most practical way to eliminate them is with one of the spot weed killers. The aerosol Raid Weed Killer works fine and has the added convenience of leaving a foam on the plant so you know which ones you have sprayed.

Your new sod will also need fertilizing during the growing season. Put on an application during the warm weather—making sure to water it in—and still another in the fall. Once the sod becomes established it will grow as fast as other grasses. For the first year, at least, set the mower so that it will cut at a height of 1½ inches, no shorter.

Send for my FREE garden planner that tells how you can achieve a continuous vegetable harvest and flower selection all summer long. Write to me at the address below.

Dear Bill:

What I would like to do is plant some bush fruits and have them double as landscape shrubs. Do you have any suggestions?

Ruth Willey
Compton, Calif.

Dear Ruth:

Yes, a good choice would be the blueberry. This is a handsome plant that is also useful as a hedge. In spring it will have pinkish-white flowers, in summer heavy crops of berries and in the fall the foliage turns reddish, making it ornamental as well as fruitful.

All about vegetables

Be sure soil's right

The best advice a gardener ever had was "Don't try to live with an unfavorable soil." Nothing dampens the enthusiasm for a garden more quickly than hard to manage soil.

What is favorable soil? Seed packets say "Plant in well drained, sandy loam." That is soil in which water moves quickly, never completely shutting off movement of air through the soil. When water replaces air in clay soil the roots suffocate.

A very sandy, light soil is well drained but frequent watering washes out nutrients.

The only quick way to change either clay or sandy soil to a substitute for a rich loam is with the addition of organic matter. Not just a little, but lots of it! The quanitity must be large enough to physically change the structure of the soil. About one-third of the final mix should be organic. This can be any one or a combination of compost, manure, sawdust or ground bark.

Spread a 2" thick layer of organic matter over the soil and in addition spread the recommended amount of a commercial fertilizer (4-5 pounds of 5-10-10 per 100 square ft.) and till both layers into the soil thoroughly.

In using raw sawdust, add one-half pound of actual nitrogen for 10 cubic feet of sawdust, i.e., using 18 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer for 100 square feet covered with a 2" layer of sawdust.

Peat moss alone needs to have ground limestone added at the rate of 5 pounds per 100 square feet.

If you would like more details on rate of application, there is a chapter on this subject in the book "All About Vegetables", published by Chevron Chemical Company, Ortho Division and sold locally.

For the small space, rooftop, pot-box-tub gardener, garden supply stores have soil substitutes which have many advantages over the out door vegetable plot and are almost foolproof as a growing medium.

Gardening up in Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — In Dallas gardening is up 200 per cent over what it was last year and people who never before planted anything except flowers now are going in for vegetables. High prices, satisfaction and physical fitness all figure as reasons.

People even are raising vegetables in the flower beds. Texans, as gardeners everywhere, wonder how much they can expect from their plots, or from tomato plants kept in pots and cans.

"How much they can save on grocery bills, I wouldn't even hazard a guess," says County Agricultural Agent Steve Wheless.

They're doing something better than guessing at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Dallas County. They're conducting tests, hoping to come up with good answers to the questions about crop yield.

Listen to Benny Simpson, farm manager and horticulturist with the experiment station:

"In one of the center's gardens, a typical 50 foot by 40 foot size, we've planted potatoes, beets, radishes, turnips, broccoli, cabbage, onions, lettuce and spinach.

"We are trying to see how big a family this little garden will take care of. Intensive vegetable production means keeping the ground occupied with vegetables year 'round."

Simpson is conducting another experiment. He has obtained "old timey" vegetable seeds, that is seeds saved from season to season, sometimes for generations, from 50 persons from Mississippi to California.

He is growing them to determine whether they taste better than modern, upgraded varieties.

Some old folks think old timey vegetables taste better than hybrid varieties. Simpson thinks this may be because people don't taste things as well when they are older as when they are young. The taste buds aren't as lively.

Seed sales boom in '73

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —In Sacramento where the skies are clear and unpolluted all the livelong day, the garden movement isn't just to keep the food bill down.

"They're energy gardens," according to Steven Keiter, dealer division manager for western states at the Burpee Seed Co., in Riverside.

Scott readying new products

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — I have 480 shares of Scott Paper (NYSE) bought between 1929 and 1932. Over the years, these shares have doubled and tripled but in the last few years the dividend was cut in half. As thousands of dollars have been lost in the last years, I would like your advice on whether to hold or sell.—O.N.

A — Although from your original purchase of 40 shares (3 splits increased the number of shares 12-fold) you still have a substantial gain, your investment has dropped a discouraging 62.5 per cent in the last decade. A combination of a year-to-year drop in the P-E and no real earnings progress has gradually eroded the value of the stock since 1965.

The reduction in the dividend rate in 1971 followed a sharp decline in earnings. In the last two years, earnings have recovered but only a small increment in the dividend rate has been forthcoming. The present 14 cents quarterly payment may be liberalized before the year is out, since it represents only a 34 per cent payout rate versus a 59 per cent average rate for the past five years.

Capital spending for this year may run in excess of $100 million, up 25 per cent over the 1973 level. This, as well as research spending — equal to 51 cents per share last year — is bullish over the long term. In fact, several new products now in the development and test marketing stages should begin contributing to profits next year. Higher earnings are indicated for the current year and shares are well worth retaining for recovery.

Q — We have two children entering college soon. We hold Putnam Growth and Putnam Investors Funds. We have been advised to switch Growth into Investors and to buy Putnam Income with over $10,000 savings.—S.S.

A — While Investors has had a somewhat better performance record, the yield from income dividends is slightly lower. The somewhat broader exposure afforded by holding both funds seems advisable. With two children to educate, I would strongly urge you to leave your $10,000 intact.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Last week as a whole was an obvious letdown after the record surge of the previous one but the pullback thus far has been well within normal technical bounds," says E.F. Hutton & Co. Reduced volume combined with lower prices shows that traders who bought stocks in the hope interest rates would ease are not in a rash to sell, the firm notes. "If volume continues to remain light, we would expect to see a firmer trend begin to develop within a session or two with better quality growth issues again leading the way," it adds.

"By now it should be apparent that the snap-back in economic activity expected by many forecasters following the end of the energy crunch has not appeared," according to Manufacturers Hanover Trust. The bank says a recovery in the second-half of the year seems unlikely. "Consumer spending remains sluggish in real terms, unemployment is climbing, factory output has not changed much in the past few months, and homebuilding is threatened with a renewed decline," it adds.

"Although the market is in excellent technical shape, the unprecedented spread between money rates and Treasury yields has made the government securities market reversals," says The Chase Manhattan Bank. It notes that this spread rarely exceeded 250 basis points from 1969 to 1973, but today the range has widened to 350 basis points. "Thus, the very same forces that created this yield differential — the relative shortage of supply and investors' enhanced preference for highest quality— also have saddled this market with added volatility," the bank says.

Corporate profits after taxes climbed 12 per cent in the first quarter of 1974 to a new high while the stock market floundered, says Continental Bank of Chicago. "In part, this may have reflected the fact that the major share of the profit gains was concentrated in a very few industries," the bank continues, "although the large majority of industries certainly showed a better performance than in the year-ago period." But the bank says the most important factor is the feeling corporate profits were based on rampant inflation.

Townsend-Greenspan & Co says it expects the seasonally adjusted Consumers Price Index for March to register about half the 1.3 per cent rise recorded for February. "Only a negligible increase is expected in food prices and oil price gains, while still large, should be less than in February," it continues. Pricetags on apparel, consumer durables and services should be higher in March, the firm predicts. It estimates a 0.7 per cent seasonally adjusted hike in the index for both March and April.

"From almost any viewpoint, except that of the 'super bear', the stock market's basic technical position seems to have progressively gained strength during the past five months," according to Abraham & Co. Any further setback below the 1974 market low will be only brief and marginal, the firm says. "The likelihood of a sustained advance into the Dow 900's has become dedidedly greater than the risk of a sustained decline into the 700's," it adds.

"It is relatively easy to frighten yourself out of stocks by worrying about a big market break, and apparently a lot of people have been doing just that," says the Predictor, a West Hartford, Conn., letter. But investors are distracted by demons that will not emerge to depress the market, according to the letter. It urges investors to "take advantage of any remaining downtime to add to positions in favored securities."

Within the near future, "the stock market will realize with a rush that most common stocks now represent truly outstanding and lasting investment values," according to the Wright Bankers Service. "We are, however, presently continuing to withhold new commitments until growing financial pressures force a reversal of adamantly restrictive Federal Reserve Board monetary policy."

Cronkite talks with Solzhenitsyn

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A number of American newsmen may have done a double take when Walter Cronkite suddenly disappeared in the midst of President Nixon's Middle East tour.

The CBS anchorman was not rushing back home for a Watergate exclusive or prostrate from the desert heat, but secretly interviewing exiled Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn in Switzerland.

"We had finally convinced him to sit down for an interview'" Cronkite said in a telephone interview from Rome. "We had been trying to do it since February and his schedule finally permitted it.

"I would have liked to have seen the faces of the other newsmen when I didn't show up on the tour."

Cronkite said CBS underwent a series of delicate negotiations to convince Solzhenitsyn to be interviewed. "There was a certain uneasiness in his mind about being interviewed," Cronkite said. "He was still shocked by what he felt was the aggressive and rude tactics of the press that covered him after his exile."

Solzhenitsyn was surrounded by a mammoth press corps after being stripped of his citizenship last February and exiled to the West for his anti-Soviet writings.

Since his exile he has decided to live in Switzerland and continue his writings, especially the "Gulag Archipelago," which details the horrors of Stalinism.

"When he lived in the Soviet Union, there was almost no press around him," Cronkite said. "But then when he emerged in the West, it was a great cultural shock for him to be pursued by the press.

A spokesman for CBS News in New York said the initial contacts for the interview began when Solzhenitsyn emerged from exile in Frankfort.

He said the first attempt to reach the author was made through friends of the writer there. Later Solzhenitsyn was provided with copies of CBS News interviews, including a broadcast in which three Russian intellectuals discussed the repression of dissent in their homeland.

Once he was convinced of the motives of CBS, the spokesman said, Solzhenitsyn agreed to the interview, and Cronkite arrived in Zurich Sunday, June 16.

The program will be aired Monday at 10 p.m. EDT.

BLACK LOVE STORY — Diahann Carroll and James Earl Jones star in the romantic film, "Claudine," now playing at the Hollywood Pacific. It is a black movie that is not black exploitation, and Miss Carroll feels it shows an increasing maturity in black pictures.

Seabag owner not likely to lodge claim

BARTLETT, Ill. (UPI) — Illinois State police today sought the owner of a Navy seabag but felt certain he or she would not come forward to claim it.

The bag was found along a road. It contained about $65,000 worth of processed marijuana, police said.

Belly dancer wants to show Sadat her art

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Habeba the belly dancer wants to perform her exotic gyrations in the White House when President Sadat of Egypt visits the United States.

"As a professional belly dancer, I feel that it would be a fine gesture for this country to demonstrate to President Sadat and all the peoples of the Middle East the United States' approval of this ancient art form by entertaining the President of Egypt with an American belly dancer," she wrote Nixon recently.

Habeba, who says she has taught 2,500 women and men to belly dance in her "Middle Eastern Belly Dance Studios," has performed with the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony.

Black films show new maturity

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "Claudine" is a black picture that is not a black exploitation picture. It stars James Earl Jones and Diahann Carroll and Miss Carroll thinks "Claudine" is a sign of the new maturity of black pictures. What's more, she says we have President Nixon to thank for the change.

"The era of black exploitation films is ending," she says. "And President Nixon has had a lot to do with that. He's brought everybody together. He's ripping everybody off, no matter what race. So the blacks don't feel they have to get Whitey any more — he's already been gotten and so has Greeny and Purpley and everybody."

Political considerations aside, "Claudine" should be a winner and should put some new zing in Diahann's career. There has been talk of turning it into a TV series, but she says she doubts she'll do it — "TV is too time-consuming."

The picture is another bit of happiness for Diahann, who is suddenly a happy person.

"It's a lovely world," she says. "For a long time, I was a success in my professional life and I was a success in raising my daughter but my personal life was pretty much ups and downs. But lately I've been giving more thought to my personal life, too, and it's working out."

She's come a long way and somehow she got on the subject of one of her early disappointments — when she was 15 and got a job selling hats at Macy's in New York.

She was underage and couldn't get working papers. She lied about her age but her bosses kept saying she had to produce working papers and she kept stalling them.

"They were good to me," she says, "because I was a very good saleslady — I could really sell hats."

One of the buyers took an interest in her and began edging her toward a career as a buyer. That would have been a coup, because the buying field has always been closed to blacks, and it had only been recently been opened up to Jews.

Eventually, Diahann could stall no longer and had to produce some documentation of her age. She was called into the office that night and told that she was being "terminated."

"Oh, that's good," Diahann said. "I thought maybe you'd fire me."

Then they explained to her that "terminated" was just a fancy way of saying "fired." She had thought it meant that they were moving her to another department.

There have been a lot of years since then, a lot of songs sung and roles acted and money earned and triumphs and disasters.

There were all those years on Broadway and then her ground-breaking series, Julia. And now, in "Claudine," she shows what a really first-rate actress she is. She plays a woman with six kids who finds a new love but it isn't an easy one. She's almost plain — as plain as she can be — in the film. That, in itself, takes some acting.

PORTRAIT OF COURAGE — Jill Kinmont, left, former Olympic skier who became a paraplegic after a skiing accident will have the story of her life filmed. Playing Miss Kinmont in the movie, will be Marilyn Hassett, shown with her. The movie will be entitled "The Other Side of the Mountain." Miss Kinmont is now a teacher.

'The Other Side of the Mountain'

Story of crippled skier to be made into movie

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Courage is a girl named Jill Kinmont, the Olympic skier who became a paraplegic after a skiing accident and whose life story is being filmed in "The Other Side of the Mountain."

Operating an electrically controlled wheelchair, Jill maneuvered a ramp (especially built for her) at the Hawthorne School in Beverly Hills and came to a stop in her office. She has been a teacher in remedial reading at the grammer school for seven years.

"I'm what they call a partial quadraplegic," Jill said cheerfully enough. "But I get around beautifully."

Jill Kinmont smiles a great deal. At 37 her face is youthfully beautiful, displaying no inkling of the physical pain and psychological torture she unmistakably has suffered in the 19 years since she broke her neck on the slopes in Alta, Utah.

With the help of braces Jill feeds herself with her left hand and writes with her right.

"This movie has had an emotional impact on me," she said. "It's strange to see someone else playing your own life. But I thought it would be more traumatic for me than it has been.

"I was on the set the day they did the accident up in Mammoth (Calif.). It was so incredibly done —in three or four separate stages —that it seemed unrelated to me.

"The way it was filmed isn't the way it really happened. It was all over in a matter of a split second, compared with the two days it took to film it with stunt girls and stunt men.

"For me the emotional impact was being up in the mountains and the snow. I had a tremendous urge to ski."

For a moment Jill's eyes held a faraway gleam. There is an esthetic quality to skiing, she said, that surpasses sport. At age 18, when the accident took place, skiing was practically Jill's whole life.

Jill, too, had to accustom herself to seeing actress Marilyn Hassett playing Jill Kinmont. It wasn't an easy adjustment.

"In scenes where she is working with children —as I do here —I was really pulling for Marilyn. The director pulled a lot of emotion out of her."

Jill and Marilyn have not become fast friends —purposely. Marilyn doesn't want to copy or imitate Jill. To avoid it, she relies on information given her by Jill's brother, Jerry, to give accuracy to her portrayal.

"I love it here at the school," Jill said. "There isn't time to look back or to indulge in regrets.

"You move on, even when you don't feel like it. I had a great deal of love and care when I was a child. I was secure. That has helped me tremendously in the time since the accident.

"When certain things are expected of you, you meet the challenge. My closest girl friend had polio two years before my accident. She was in a wheelchair and was an example of real courage.

"Not being able to use my hands and fingers bothers me most of all. But the first thing that flashed into my mind when I realized my condition was to deal with the situation —not remorse."

Jill Kinmont flashed her ever-ready grin and the wheelchair was forgotten.

Count Basie to play at Plaza Gardens

ANAHEIM — Jazz great Count Basie and his orchestra with soul artist The Main Ingredient will provide entertainment at Disneyland Sunday through June 29.

An array of daytime and evening pageantry, highlighted by the Main Street Electrical Parade and a new Fantasy in the Sky fireworks display, will also complement the more than 50 major attractions.

Heralded by man as "one of the great American jazz bandleaders," Basie and his orchestra will perform for guests at Main Street's Plaza Gardens from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Main Ingredient will bring "soul sounds" to Tomorrowland Stage each evening during the week. Featuring their current hit, "I Just Don't Want To Be Lonely," and favorites "Everybody Plays the Fool" and "You've Got To Take It," the group will perform at 10 p.m. and midnight.

Evening hours feature color by the Main Street Electrical Parade at 9 and 11:30 p.m.

The Oklahoma-born singer-pianist has been performing at college coffee houses and small night clubs, accompanied by her bass player, Steven Corser. She sings "message" songs with classicial styling. She is currently negotiating for her first record.

John Prine

Singer-songwriter combines imagination, wit and guitar

By GARY P. THOMAS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Take one 27-year-old ex-postman, stir in plenty of fertile imagination with a tinge of wit, add one weatherbeaten guitar and you have John Prine, singer-songwriter.

Prine, 27, with three albums under his musical belt, has established himself as one of the most talented "folkies" to come on the scene since a scruffy, scrawny kid named Bob Dylan unleashed himself on an unsuspecting musical world 13 years ago.

Prine has often been compared to Dylan. The scratchy, raunchy voice with a twang does evoke memories of a younger Dylan. But there the comparison ends.

Dylan remains distant and aloof, coming out of his seclusion only for a rare appearance. He does not talk to the press or public and only recently went on his first tour in years.

Prine, on the other hand, keeps up a fairly regular touring schedule. He exudes a warmth and humor that Dylan lacks, and is a friendly, affable man who is more than willing to sit down over a beer and talk.

Pre Is Fun

John Prine is, to put it simply, fun. His songs "Illegal Smile" and "Paradise" have delighted audiences since he started playing clubs and coffeehouses around his hometown of Chicago.

"I started playing 12 years ago," Prine said. "My parents got me a guitar from Sears and I learned seven chords in six months. I thought I was a musical genius."

Prine lived his early years in a town that no longer exists, Paradise, Ky., about which he wrote the song "Paradise" which was recorded on his first album.

"We left Paradise when I was young and moved to Chicago," Prine said. "We always meant to go back but we never did. The Peabody Coal Company bought up all the land, tore down the town and stripmined it away. The place looks like the moon now."

Prine did a stint in the Army, serving in Germany. After he got out in 1967, Prine got a job in Chicago as a postman but quit after he got "tired of dogs chasing me."

Best train song

It was then he met Steve Goodman, the author of the hit song "City of New Orleans," a song Prine calls the "best damn train song ever written."

"I met Steve when I was playing around Chicago, getting $20 a night gigs," Prine recalled. "I heard 'City of New Orleans' on the radio and thought the guy who was singing it had to be a tall, skinny guy with a beard. I finally met him and he was a clean-shaven, short, stout guy. But he was still singing the best damn train song I ever heard."

Prine's songs about unforgettable characters such as "Sam Stone", the Vietnam veteran drug addict who returns home with a "purple heart and a monkey on his back", gained him a large and enthusiastic following. But it was his buddy Steve Goodman who nudged him up to stardom.

Goodman was playing in Chicago as the second act to Kris Kristofferson, another songwriter who was already a success. Goodman urged Kristofferson to come hear his friend, who was playing at another club. He agreed, and the two went over after their last show to hear Prine.

The hour was late and crowd was already gone but Prine got up on the stage and ran through a couple of songs for his select after-hours audience.

Like Dylan

"We were floored," Kristofferson wrote in the liner notes for Prine's first album. "It was what it must have felt like hearing Dylan for the first time in the (Greenwich) Village back then."

Kristofferson got Prine a contract with Atlantic Records and Prine's musical stock rose quickly after that. His first album was entitled "John Prine," followed by "Diamonds in the Rough" and a third, "Sweet Revenge," was just recently released.

He now plays sellout auditoriums of thousands where he used to play clubs that could barely hold 100. He doesn't like playing clubs much anymore, and his recent appearance at a small, intimate Ann Arbor coffeehouse was rare for him. He now wants to try some new musical directions and get a permanent backup group together.

"I want to put together a regular touring band this summer, emphasizing a different kind of writing," Prine said. "I want to use music to build moods as well as lyrics."

During his Ann Arbor show, he stopped in the middle of a song and chuckled, "Ain't that amazing? All done with three guitar chords."

'Father's Day' set at Hartford theater

HOLLYWOOD — Oliver Hailey's comedy, "Father's Day," starring Carole Cook and Barbara Rush, will open a four-week engagement at the Huntington Hartford Theater July 10.

Winner of a 1973 Los Angeles Drama Critics Circle award for distinguished achievement, the Hartford presentation will be co-produced by James A. Doolittle for the Greek Theater Association and Miss Rush.

"Father's Day" is a cuastic comedy about the effects of divorce on three women who live in the same New York apartment building and have the common bond of being divorcees. The dialogue is laced with hilarious barbs as Hailey reveals these three losers as mostly having only themselves to blame.

The cast includes Gwynne Gilford, Paul Kent, Jordan Rhodes and Tom Troup, who will also direct the production.

Performance schedule is Tuesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. Matinees will be on Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 p.m. There will be one low-priced preview performance on July 9. The production will remain at the Hartford through Aug. 4.

Tickets are available at all agencies and the Hartford box office.

Television notes

NBC's Columbo to begin fourth season in fall

NEW YORK (UPI) — NBC's "Columbo" series, starring Peter Falk, begins its fourth season in the fall, and the producer for 1974-75 will be Everett Chambers, who handled it during its first season.

★ ★ ★

One of the CBS "Kojak" episodes for the new season will be the first two-hour segment for this normally one-hour program. Title is "Another Fine Mess," with Michael Constantine, Tige Andrews and Sheree North backing up star Telly Savalas.

★ ★ ★

A new member of the cast of ABC's daytime serial, "One Life to Live," is Lisa Richards, who plays a nurse and who is a veteran of other video serials.

★ ★ ★

Henry Fonda's one-man stage vehicle, "Clarence Darrow," in which he portrays the late noted attorney, using material from the many cases in which Darrow was involved, will turn up in a television adaptation on NBC Sept. 4 as a 90-minute program.

★ ★ ★

Group W, the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., has a series of 12 children's specials, "Call It Macaroni," coming up for 1974-75. Prime outlet will be the five Group W stations, but the half-hour programs dealing with American history and culture will be in syndication to stations everywhere.

★ ★ ★

NBC will be back with the National Hockey League for a third season during 1974-75. The network will telecast 14 regular season games, 13 on Sundays and one on Saturday, all in the afternoon. Also, there will be telecasts of Stanley Cup playoff games, which could run to seven.

Diana Gould, who wrote the script for ABC's "I Love You...Goodbye," a "Tuesday Movie of the Week" presentation this season, received a $10,000 cash award in the Second Annual Television Population Script Awards competition. The top prize was not awarded in the first year of the award.

★ ★ ★

Dropped by NBC on a daily network basis, Dinah Shore next season will work for CBS as host of a daily 90-minute program for the network's five owned stations. It is likely that her show will be syndicated to other stations around the country.

★ ★ ★

Who else but Roddy McDowall would you expect to see as a star of the television series "Planet of the Apes" on CBS next season? McDowall, of course, was outstanding in the series of theater "Apes" movies on which the video program is based.

★ ★ ★

The Hughes Television Network will be deep in pro football during the coming season. From NLF Films, a subsidiary of the National Football League, it has acquired rights to 28 programs. During the summer, it will be telecasting 13 half-hour films called "NFL in Action," depicting past activities as a warmup for the new season. There will follow 15 one-hour programs, "This Week in Pro Football," beginning the weekend of Sept. 21-22, that will review play of the previous week.

★ ★ ★

Jim Bishop's best-selling book of some years ago, "The Last Year of F. D. R.," has been acquired by Viacom for development as either a three-hour special or a mini-series.

★ ★ ★

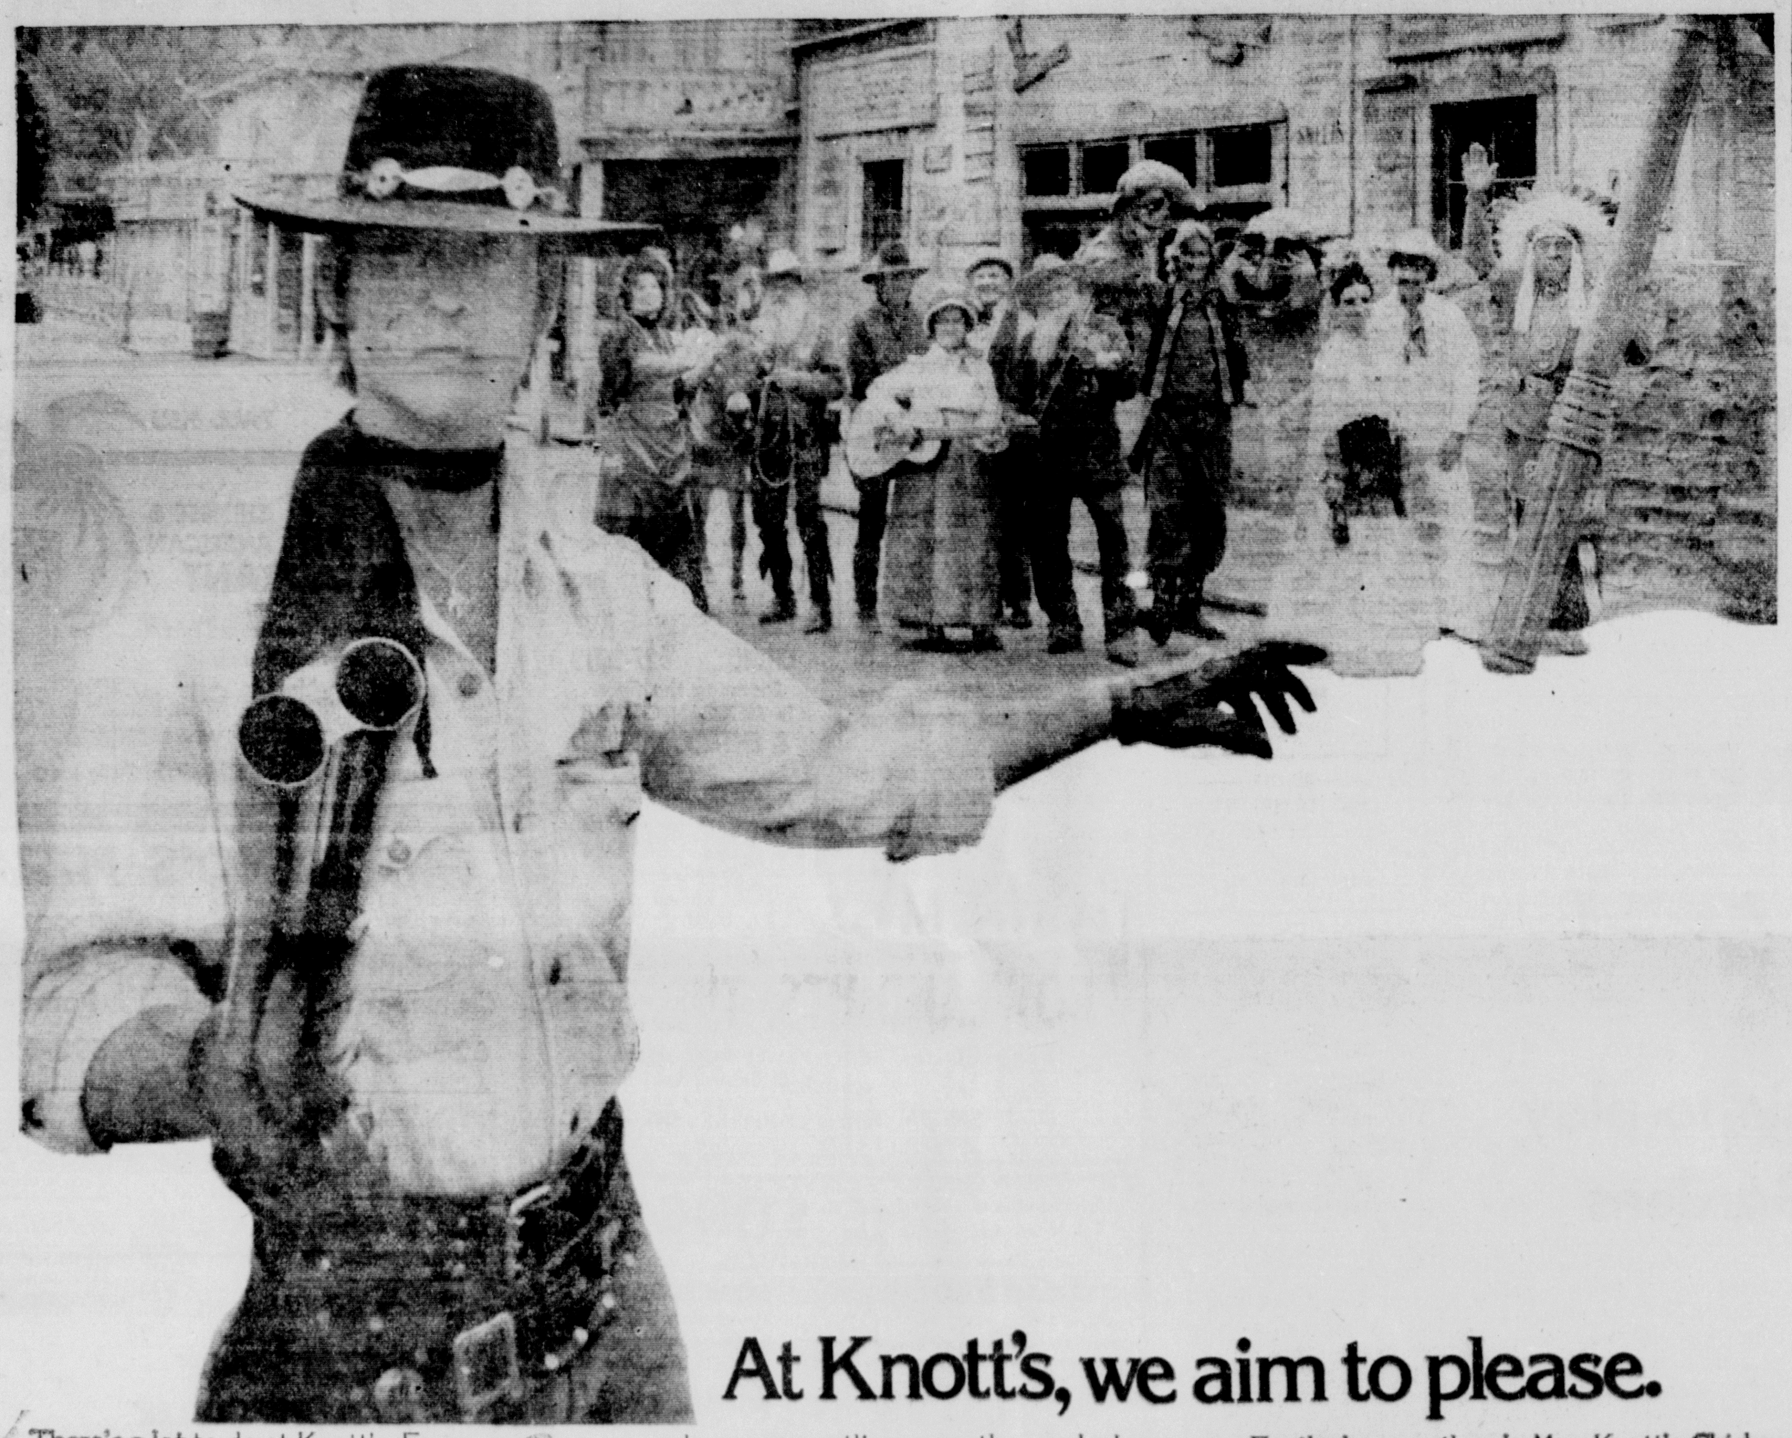
Herbert Brodkin, a real veteran television producer, has a deal with ABC to develop a special three hour program for 1974-75 based on the life of novelist Ernest Hemingway that will include elements of two of his short stories, "Hills Like White Elephants" and "The Capital of the World."

Pentagon says GIs must file for back pay

WAHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon says it owes back pay to tens of thousands of servicemen who served during October, November, and December, 1972-but they must file claims for it.

A spokesman said that the raises were based on a Court of Appeals decision ordering President Nixon to pay salary raises to civilian and military employes that he withheld. A typical E5, or Army sergeant with four years in the service in 1972 would be due about $86.

Former servicemen were asked to file claims including their name, social security number, rank, current mailing address, date of separation and duty station during October-December, 1972.



At Knott's, we aim to please.

There's a lot to do at Knott's. From panning for gold to a thrilling log ride down Timber Mountain. From shopping for turn-of-the-century toys to eating a genuine buffalo burger.

But you don't have to do anything to enjoy Knott's. Because... if you like...we'll entertain you all day long.

You're walking Ghost Town, enjoying the old west when gunshots ring out! It's a shoot-em-up showdown between a sheriff and two "funfighters".

You amble into the blacksmith shop, and watch horseshoes being forged in a shower of sparks.

Hiss the villain.

A barker hustles you into the Birdcage Theater for an old-fashioned melodrama. Hisssssss! Boooo! Yeeaayyhh!

Outside, a pretty girl gives a concert on an old steam calliope.

Fiddlin' Charlie plays a hoedown while you buy a hot dog and boysenberry juice at Sutters.

Aunt Hattie shows you how to spin outside an old log cabin.

In Fiesta Village mariachis play and Mexican dancers whirl and turn to the harps and guitars.

You amble over to the Knott's John Wayne Theater to take in the Wild Animal Follies... with wild animals live and uncaged on stage...

and a man wrestling a panther and a bear.

Back outside, you step into Gypsy Camp to see Zoltan's puppets.

Music, music, music.

Dusk. And it's time to relax around the fire in Wagon Camp, listening to country rock performers.

Back to the Knott's John Wayne Theater in time for the evening performance by a top name star. Like Rick Nelson. Kenny Rogers and the First Edition. Kay Starr. Or the Lennon Sisters.

Outside again and over to the lake to watch Knott's Incredible Fireworks Machine blaze into action.

Like we said, all you have to do is show up. Knott's will entertain you.

Thrilling rides.

Of course, for the action hungry, Knott's is a special thrill. You can ride the Butterfield Stagecoach or the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad...and get in on an old-fashioned hold-up.

You can take the Calico Mine train into the depths of a goldfield "glory hole" across shaky trestles and under raging waterfalls. You try your skills in the arcades of Gypsy Camp.

Or the archery range at Ghost Town.

For the hungry, there's Mrs. Knott's Chicken Dinner Restaurant. Or the steak house where you dine in view of famous Indian chiefs.

The thirsty can belly-up at the Calico Saloon or Judge Roy Bean's "Jersey Lilly" saloon. (Sorry, boys, sarsaparilla's the strongest thing we got.)

Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town. Buena Park. We aim to please.

Fiddlers and spinners entertain you.

See top name rock stars.

Ride the Denver & Rio Grande.

BONING UP — Brian Shyer of Claremont, left, goes over his lines in the Citrus College production of "On a Clear Day" with director Fred Vaugeois. The musical comedy will be staged in the college auditorium July 5, 6 and 7.

Shyer to play lead in Citrus musical

AZUSA — Bryan Shyer of Claremont comes well-equipped for his lead role in the upcoming Citrus College production of the musical "On a Clear Day." He has worked with such stars as Robert Goulet, David Wayne and Gower Champion.

For one year Shyer was in "Happy Time" in both the Los Angeles and New York productions. From this he gained what he termed a "professional attitude of total commitment to the role."

A member of the boys' chorus in the David Merrick production, he learned dancing under Gower Champion, and found that working with professionals demands "complete concentration in every phase of the role from dissecting the character to learning motivation for singing a song to costume and make-up."

While at Claremont High School, he acted and directed. Shyer plans to go on to UCLA after his studies at Citrus.

He is a baritone, plays piano and composes music. A compsoition of his was heard as background music for a recent television production on college students studying abroad which appeared on station KCET. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Druce Shyer of Claremont.

Shyer's role in "On a Clear Day" will be Dr. Mark Bruckner, Other Claremont residents in the cast are John Biddles, Bev Scaria, Erik Thoreson and Carolyn Serveck.

The musical will be presented July 5, 6 and 7 in college auditorium. Fred Vaugeois will direct, with Ben Bollinger handling the music and Harriet Davidson Vaugeois in charge of choreography.

Fabian, Kay Starr to play Knott's Farm

BUENA PARK — Actor-singer Fabian will present a show in the John Wayne Theater of Knott's Berry Farm June 30-July 3, to be followed by singer Kay Starr July 4-7.

Fabian, winner of the American Bandstand popularity poll in 1958 (at the age of 15), has numerous gold records, including "The Fabulous Fabian," "Tiger" and "Turn Me Loose." He has appeared in 20 movies, including "North to Alaska," in which he co-starred with Wayne. He has also appeared on many television shows.

Miss Starr rose from a hillbilly singer in the South to vocalist with the big bands of Glenn Miller and Bob Crosby. Her hits include "Wheel of Fortune," "When My Dreamboa Comes In" and "Wabash Cannonball."

Other Berry Farm entertainment includes square dancing every Friday night to the music of Truman Adams and the Country Ramblers, the Wild Animal Follies daily at 1 and 3 p.m. and performances by Zoltan's Gypsy Puppets. Each evening concludes with dancing to rock music on the Terrazo Terrace and the Incredible Fireworks Machine in Fiesta Village.
